COMMENT ON THE SITUATION. The French and German forces fighting to the northwest of Verdun apparently are deadlocked, the Germans being unable to advance farther and French attempts to expel the invaders from captured positions being unavailing. To the east and northeast of Verdun, where, respectively, violent infantry attacks and bombardments have characterized the recent fighting, only intermittent cannonading is going on. The shelling by the Germans of the Russians at the Ikskull bridgehead on the eastern battle line continues. There has been artillery activity on various other sectors of the Russian front, but no important infantry maneuvers have been reported. The Russians in Armenia, however, have put down with heavy casualties a stubborn Turkish attack. The Gorizia bridgehead and the region around San Martino in the Austro-Italian theater have been heavily bombarded.
At last the National Guard is to be employed in the border campaign. Only the militia of three States are now under orders, but if necessary troops from other States, or all the States, will be used. This much is made clear in the Washington dispatches. The object: to make the Mexican border safe.

WIFE TO AVENGE HUSBAND'S DEATH.

GOES ON TRAIL OF MEXICAN SHE BELIEVES GUILTY.

Mrs. Jessie Deemer of San Diego Leaves for Boquillas in High-powered Automobile with Intention of Starting Posse to Bring Back Vengeful Outlaw.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN DIEGO, May 9.—Voicing her determination to avenge the murder of her husband, Mrs. Jessie Deemer, wife of John Deemer, who was killed by Mexican bandits in the recent raid on Glenn Springs and Boquillas, Tex., left here today in a high-powered automobile for the scene of the bandits' outrage. She was accompanied by her son, Dixon of Los Angeles.

"I received a telegram from the War Department last night saying my husband had been killed by Mexican outlaws," said Mrs. Deemer today, "and I determined to leave immediately for Boquillas to investigate as well as look after our property there. My husband was a resident of Boquillas for twenty years and was well known among the Mexicans in that district. About two years ago a Mexican named Pantelon Variol was arrested at Boquillas on a charge of murder and my husband, who was justice of the peace, tried the case. A certain lawless element refused to testify against Variol and he was given his freedom. Despite this, he told my husband that some day he would kill him, and I believe he is one of the bandits who raided the two towns.

"As soon as I and my son get to Boquillas, I intend to hire a number of rangers and guides and get this Mexican. I have many friends on the Mexican side who will assist me."

The Deemers, who are well to do, own a large ranch near Boquillas. A son, R. B. Deemer, is a professor at Purdue University. A daughter, Phyllis, who has been staying with her mother at La Jolla, near here, since conditions became unsettled along the border, will remain here for the time being.

HOW THE BRITISH VIEW WILSON'S NOTE.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, May 9.—All the London evening newspapers today publish prominently the American reply to Germany's note on submarine warfare, but only the Westminster Gazette comments on the document.

The Gazette remarks that the German concession, agreeing to adapt methods of submarine warfare to the interests of neutrals, is not in conformity with President Wilson's demand, which it says required the abandonment of submarine warfare against passenger and freight carrying vessels of all nationalities. It also points out that although President Wilson refers to the submarine policy of Germany having been "happily abandoned," the Cymric has been sunk and attacks have been reported on the Clan Lindsey and the French passenger steamer Doukala.

It has been seen again and again, continues the Gazette, how Germany, when called to account, marked time and proceeded as before as soon as the storm had blown over.

CRITICAL SITUATION DEVELOPS AT VERDUN.

Terrific Battle Under Way, with Both Sides Claiming the Advantage.

Three Separate Assaults by the Germans Against the Battered but Still Unbroken Lines by Which the French Held Hill No. 304 — Many Days may Elapse Before the Issue of the Fray Can Become Known.

BY ARTHUR S. DRAPER.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, May 9.—The intensity of the fighting at Hill 304 has not diminished. Both the French and the Germans tonight claim the advantage. As in the critical days at Douaumont and La Mort Homme, the Paris and Berlin reports concerning the battle have now reached a flat contradiction in terms. It may be several days before the real situation is established.

Rivalling even the intensity of the last assault west of the Meuse when the Germans attacked for more than a hundred hours without cessation, has been this newest thrust at Hill 304. Last Friday it began and in the opinion of French observers, it has not yet reached its crest.

THREE ASSAULTS.

Three separate assaults were launched last night against the battered but still unbroken lines by which the French held the hill. Paris asserts that all three were repulsed with heavy losses to the Germans. Berlin claims that fresh trenches were captured south of Haucourt and that those taken yesterday are still firmly held.

Observers are inclined to be skeptical concerning German possession of the crest of Hill 304. Berlin for days made similar claims with regard to Le Mort Homme, when their only justification was the capture of trenches on the northern slope. The possession of Hartmannsvellerkopf in the Vosges was also the subject of dispute until the French settled the question by inviting neutral correspondents to verify their claims.

POSSESSION OF THE HILL.

Titular possession of the hill really little matters now. It is a no-man's land, seared of every living thing and hammered into a shapeless mass through the incessant bombardment of the past two months.

Against it the Germans have brought to bear the weight of hundreds of their heaviest guns. They have abandoned the method of shelling the entire Verdun front used in the last assault before launching the infantry, and gone back to the earlier plan of concentration on a particular objective without attempting to disguise it.

But the French have met the attacks with new dispositions also. Trenches, especially first line trenches, could not stand for a moment against the avalanche of shell that has been poured upon Hill 304. The French, therefore no longer depend upon them. Instead the chief reliance now is upon machine guns served from separately constructed underground shelters and upon the new automatic French rifle. Two of these in the hands of ordinary soldiers are now the equal of a mitrailleuse.

NEW WEAPONS.

In the assaults last night these new weapons showed up with especial deadliness. As the German columns debouched from the ravines by which they sought to gain the crest they were met not merely with a hail of bullets but with a perfect sheet of steel. Many of the regiments, Paris asserts, lost as high as 50 per cent. of their effectives in one charge alone.

East of the Meuse fighting of the same desperate character is going on. Berlin claims that French attempts to capture the ground taken at the Thiaumont farm have been repulsed with the loss of 375 men and nine machine guns. Paris on the other hand asserts that much of the territory lost in this sector has been regained.

Forecast.

BRANDEIS'S CONFIRMATION SEEMS DESTINED TO FAIL

Senate Judiciary Committee, Forced to Action by President Wilson, will Report Unfavorably on the Nomination and the Battle will be Fought Out on the Floor. Opponents of Nominee are Gaining in Strength.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, May 9.—The appointment of Louis D. Brandeis to the United States Supreme Court will meet with an unfavorable report from the Senate Judiciary Committee should the vote come tomorrow, as ordered by the committee Monday.

Senator O'Gorman of New York, who has been wavering in regard to his vote, is now in opposition to the confirmation of Mr. Brandeis. He is reported to have joined with Senators Hoke Smith of Georgia and Shields of Tennessee in opposition to Mr. Brandeis. The committee vote, therefore, will be 11 against, to 7 in favor of a favorable report.

The eight Republicans are opposed to Mr. Brandeis. Two of these Republican Senators are absent, Senators Cummins of Iowa and Clark of Wyoming, but by unanimous consent of the committee they will be permitted to cast their votes in committee and they will be recorded against the confirmation of Mr. Brandeis.

WILSON FORCES ACTION.

President Wilson's letter to Senator Culberson, chairman of the committee, brought the matter to a head in the committee and forced action by that body. The committee will be glad to shift responsibility to the Senate. There the real fight in the confirmation of Mr. Brandeis is to be made. The result is uncertain. The unfavorable report from the committee will not improve the chances for confirmation that Mr. Brandeis may have had. Senator Culberson sought to hold the nomination up in his committee until he had time to win sufficient support in the Senate to insure confirmation of Mr. Brandeis. But his hand was forced by the President's request for action and the nomination is now forced to take its chances with many Senators uncommitted.

There is a possibility tonight that friends of Mr. Brandeis may block tomorrow's action by the Senate Judiciary Committee and hold the nomination there until further pressure can be brought to bear on the three or four Democratic Senators of that body who tonight are opposed to seating Mr. Brandeis on the Supreme bench. But the chances are against it and the committee is expected to take final action on the matter.

REPORTS SOCIALIST PLOT AGAINST KING OF SWEDEN.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

STOCKHOLM (via London) May 9.—The Aftonbladet today prints a rumor of an unsuccessful plot by Socialists and anarchists against the life of King Gustave, as follows:

"Sensational rumors are current of a plot by the young Socialist-Anarchistic party against the life of the King of Sweden in revenge for the conviction of three Socialist leaders of the anti-militaristic congress recently. The attempt on the King's life was planned to be made at the horse show, but the conspirators were foiled by the mobilization of the entire detective force and the placing of a cordon of detectives in plain clothes around the King."

Three leading Swedish Socialist editors, Messrs. Hoeglund, Oljelund and Hedon were sentenced May 3, respectively, to three years, eighteen months and one year imprisonment on conviction of having advised soldiers to strike if Sweden became involved in the war. Mr. Hoeglund was a leading member of the Swedish Parliament.

TWENTY DROWN AS SHIP SINKS.

ORE BOAT S. R. KIRBY GOES DOWN IN LAKE SUPERIOR.

Vessel Runs into Terrific Gale and Breaks in Two off Eagle River, Michigan—Only Two Survivors of the Crew of Twenty-two are Picked Up.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAULT ST. MARIE (Mich.) May 9.—All save two of the twenty-two persons aboard were drowned when the steamer S. R. Kirby of the Northwestern Transportation Company of Detroit and Cleveland broke in two during a storm on Lake Superior yesterday and sank. The disaster occurred four miles off Eagle River, Mich. The ship was valued at $100,000.

Otto Lindquist, a stoker, was picked up from floating wreckage yesterday by sailors on the steamer Joseph Block. When brought here today Lindquist declared he saw the Kirby sink. The officers and crew totaled twenty-two persons. Joseph Mudra, second mate, of Chicago, was rescued by the steamer Harry Berwind, bound for Duluth.

The Kirby left Ashland Sunday evening, ore-laden for Cleveland. She ran into a terrific gale on Lake Superior early yesterday and at about 10.45 a.m. broke in two. Lindquist was thrown into the water and clambered onto floating debris.

"I saw Capt. David Girardin swimming 100 feet away," said Lindquist. "I saw no other persons. The captain raised his hands, waved, and sank. The ship's mascot, a dog named Tige, which was swimming near the captain, sank a moment later."

The Kirby was of wood and steel and was built in 1890. She was 294 feet long, with a beam of forty-two feet, and had a gross tonnage of 2230.

A graphic story of the loss of the steamer S. R. Kirby, which broke in two in a Lake Superior gale yesterday and sank with twenty of her crew, was told here today.

There was not a moment's warning, according to Second Mate Joseph Mudra, one of the two men rescued. Capt. David Gerardin sank with his ship.

"The ship went down with such rapidity that I could scarcely believe my eyes," said Mudra. "In less than three minutes cabins had broken loose and rafts were afloat. The water became red from contact with the ore in the boat as the ore leaked through the sides of the vessel. I did not see any of the men come up out of the forecastle. They must have been caught there. The doors of the forecastle must have been bent out of shape by the buckling of the steamer, and the crew was caught."

In local marine circles today an investigation of the loss of the Kirby is expected. One leading marine authority declared that the Kirby was built to load to fourteen feet, but that she was loaded to nineteen feet.

FAY SENTENCED TO EIGHT YEARS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 9.—Robert Fay, former lieutenant in the German army, convicted in the Federal Court yesterday of conspiring to destroy munitions ships of the allies through bomb contrivances, was today sentenced to serve eight years in the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta.

Walter Scholz, his brother-in-law, and Paul Daeche, also convicted, were sentenced to serve four years and two years, respectively. Judge Howe holding that they did not originate the conspiracy and deserved less severe punishment than Fay. The three were also fined $2 each.

BELIEVE VILLA IS NEAR URBINA.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

TORREON (Mex.) May 9.—The presence of Nicolas Hernandez, chief of Villa's escort, in the River Florida district, is believed here to indicate that Villa is still alive and probably near the Urbina ranch.

Several bandit bands have become so reduced, it is reported, that they are not regarded as military menaces. Jose Chavez has eighty men at Pascualena, near Camargo, but is short of ammunition. Carrasco has a small band at Los Moras. Carrillo lost nearly all his horses when driven away from Sierra Mojada.

WE'LL STAY IN MEXICO UNTIL MEXICO IS SAFE.

Whole Strength of Our National Guard to be Employed if Necessary.

Our Country Must be Made Exempt from the Danger of Bandit Incursions and Every Time the Outlaws Cross the Line America Means to Dash After Them into Their Native Heath.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 9.—With 8000 additional troops under orders for the Mexican border, including 4000 National Guardsmen from Arizona, New Mexico and Texas, administration officials felt topight that necessary steps had been taken to prevent further raiding of American border towns by bandits.

President Wilson and his Cabinet discussed the Mexican situation today, but the President had issued the new troop orders before his advisers gathered. Gen. Scott and Gen. Funston recommended earlier in the day that additional troops be sent to the border. After an exchange of telegrams Gen. Funston suggested that the National Guard from the three States named be called out in addition to the sending of all the remaining regular infantry to join his command. His suggestion was promptly approved and orders dispatched.

THE BORDER CONFERENCE.

Cabinet members were pessimistic after the meeting over the delay of Gen. Obregon in ratifying the agreement he negotiated with Gen. Scott covering co-operative border operations, including those of Gen. Pershing's expedition. Reports from Mexico City indicated that the agreement had been approved by Gen. Carranza and officials here were at a loss to understand Obregon's action.

Most of the President's advisers believed the agreement finally would be ratified and that the border situation would clear itself quickly thereafter. It was clearly intimated in all quarters, however, that there would be no change in the policy of the Washington government; that the troops would stay in Mexico until the border was safe from incursions; that raiders would be pursued across the line every time they became active, and that the whole strength of the National Guard would be used if necessary.

Secretary Baker said the question of calling Guardsmen from other States into the service was not under immediate consideration.

FUNSTON'S DEMANDS.

Mr. Baker refused to discuss reports that Gen. Funston had urged that he be given a total of 150,000 men to maintain the border guard. The Secretary said Gen. Pershing's force in Mexico was able to take care of itself in any emergency.

Including the troops ordered out today, there will be nearly 45,000 soldiers, perhaps 50,000, along the border or in Mexico, according to the best available figures here. The War Department has declined to publish actual numbers, but with the entire mobile army except five troops of cavalry under Gen. Funston's command, in addition to the 4000 or more Guardsmen and the several thousand recruits who are being forwarded to the regular regiments as fast as they are mustered in, the United States has a considerable army strung out along the 1800 miles of the international line.

USE OF THE MILITIA.

Calling out the National Guard for the first time under the present military law brings up the fact that, as written, the act authorizes the President to use the State soldiers either in or without United States territory. The provision authorizing the use of the Guardsmen as such beyond the border was held to be unconstitutional by former Atty.-Gen. Wickersham. It never has been passed upon by the Supreme Court, however, and President Wilson has full legal authority to employ the State forces beyond the border if he so desires. Only an injunction against the War Department could prevent it.

By the terms of the law the guardsmen must be mustered into the service of the United States before they come under complete control of the Federal government. Their oaths of enlistment to the various States make the acceptance of this Federal status obligatory, how-

CARRANZA ISSUES MESSAGE TO THE AMERICAN PEOPLE

First Chief Declares Political Enemies of Mexico Instigated the Raids Along the Border and that Solution of the Situation, if Approached in the Right Spirit, is Most Simple.

BY ROBERT H. MURRAY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MEXICO CITY, May 9.—Weeks ago I suggested to Gen. Carranza the desirability of giving to the American public an authoritative declaration from him concerning his government, its objects and his work as First Chief of the Constitutionalist army.

What follows is set down as nearly as possible in Carranza's own words and phrasing, with allowances for divergences due to translation. It is the first public utterance of consequence Carranza has intrusted to any correspondent since the Constitutionalist government was recognized. I do not know how Carranza may characterize it, but I should call it a "message to the American people." It was the situation in the relations between Mexico and the United States with which we began our talk.

CARRANZA'S STATEMENT.

"This situation so far as concerns questions pending between the Mexican and United States governments, arising from the outrages committed at Columbus by Villa and his bandits," said Carranza, "is capable of being adjusted with comparative ease. You know that now it is well advanced toward settlement. The solution is most simple.

"There will be noted a similarity of expression in the note of the Mexican Foreign Office to the United States government, setting forth the necessity of the American troops being withdrawn, to what I have just quoted to you from your War Department's instructions to Gen. Funston. In the concluding paragraph of the note of the Mexican Foreign Office, suggestion is made that this government is in a position to cope with the situation which afforded a reason for the advance of Gen. Pershing's expedition and also that Villa's bands have been dispersed and broken up.

"These facts—I mean that from a military standpoint, this government is in control of the situation so far as Villa is concerned in Chihuahua and that his forces are dispersed and scattered and incapable of further concerted serious action—cannot be disputed successfully, I believe. They are self-evident.

EXPECTS WITHDRAWAL.

"This being true, what is more reasonable that for us to expect that the terms of Gen. Funston's orders covering the conditions under which the American troops shall be withdrawn from Mexico shall be complied with. It should be noted also that these conditions are imposed, not by this government under a reciprocal agreement by which the pursuit of Villa was extended into Mexican territory in consideration that the forces of the Mexican government should have like privileges north of the frontier, but by the government of the United States.

"I want you to make clear to your people precisely what the situation on our northern frontiers means with respect to the recent raids on American territory and the sources which created them.

BLAMES ENEMIES.

"It results from conditions deliberately produced by Mexicans who represent lost causes, who have been defeated in political and civil strife, whose property is in peril and who despair of regaining their property and their position in this republic—from which their actions have alienated them—unless an intervention by the United States is provoked. Their hope is that the United States will do for them what they are unable to for themselves. And to serve their own selfishness they are toiling traitorously to embroil their own country in war with a government and a people who, I believe, are determined to avoid war.

"Cannot your people see and understand this question? It is sufficiently plain to us here. What took place at Columbus and other places on the American side of the border is indicative of a change of tactics on the part of the opponents of the Constitutionalist government. It is a new form of revolution. It is a

West Coast Said to be Menaced as Greatly as the East and Report is Still Going the Rounds that Thousands of Japanese Soldiers in the Guise of Laborers are Working in California and Elsewhere.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, May 9.—Leaving out the piffling pacifists, the skimmed-milk, peace-at-any-price weaklings, certain pork-barrel statesmen who cannot see anything beyond the immediate dollar, and the frothy-mouthed agitators employed by enemies outside or inside the United States, everybody realizes the need of immediate and continuous preparedness.

All the army and navy officers, members of the United States Senate, President Wilson, all the bankers of the country and every individual who can read and think realize the absolute necessity of preparing the United States, not alone for possible war, but for the fierce economic struggle that will follow the declaration of peace in Europe.

Administration officials, who some months ago were too proud to fight or even to look facts in the face, now know that the United States must defend itself against aggrandisement, or at least arm itself so strongly in men, guns and ships that prospective aggressors will be discouraged. At the present time the United States is in the position of a blind, intoxicated person, his pockets bulging with money and his clothing ablaze with jewels, drifting through a dark alley, with no police in sight or hearing, the prey to any marauder.

MENACE TO THE WEST.

The public generally has been figuring principally upon the possibility or probability of an attack upon the eastern coast by the central powers, but closer observation discloses quite as great a menace on the western coast. Statements have been made in public speeches and in the press that Japan has a fully-equipped army of not fewer than 60,000 men working as laborers on railroad and construction work in the Western States. It is said that in the last four years thousands of Japanese laborers have been withdrawn and trained soldiers substituted. It is further charged that every principal transcontinental railroad and mountain pass is mined and that plans of all coast defenses and copies of naval code books are in the hands of not only the Japanese, but the German government. Men who are not afraid to look facts squarely in the face admit that Japan could land an army of 200,000 men in the United States within sixty days and dictate terms absolutely.

What is true of the western and southwestern coast with regard to Japan is almost equally true of the eastern coast if the central powers should decide to take over some of the billions this country has taken in from the sale of war munitions and supplies. The presence off the Atlantic seaboard within striking distance of the coast of two of the newest German submarines and two armed cruisers affords some idea of what could be done. Furthermore, both Germany and England have naval guns that outrange American equipment by four miles. The answer is simple.

PLEA OF GEN. WOOD.

Gen. Leonard Wood, an unquestioned authority, in his latest review of the military needs of the United States, has made the same plea for national preparation which George Washington, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson and James Madison each made in their own times. It is an impressive story. Washington's pathetic pleas to the Continental Congress for a little thought concerning national preparation make strange reading today. The Fourth of July glories of the American Revolution fade away when the testimony of the actual participants is heard.

Even Jefferson, the high priest of Democracy, is an iconoclast to those who oppose preparedness. Gen. Wood quotes Jefferson's annual message delivered on October 27, 1807. The words have a familiar sound today.

VIEWS OF JEFFERSON.

In part they are as follows:

"Circumstances, fellow-citizens, which seriously threatened the peace of our country, have made it a duty to convene you at an earlier period than usual. The love of peace so much cherished in the bosoms of our citizens, which has so long guided the proceedings of their public councils and induced forbearance under so many wrongs, may not insure our continuance in the quiet pursuits of industry.

"The many injuries and depredations committed on our commerce and navigation on the high seas for years past, the successive innovations on those principles and usages of nations as the rules of their rights and peace, and all the circumstances which induced the extraordinary mission to London are already known to you."

Gen. Wood's list of quotations is particularly happy. From Jefferson to Confucius, who is credited with the statement "To lead an uninstructed people into war is to throw them away," his argument is built high upon the authority of the past. But it is the present experience of other democratic nations which give Gen. Wood's plea the greatest force.

The American people would endure willingly the probable excessive losses of the first months of a war rather than prepare for it if preparation meant militarism. But it need not. A democratic people may have a democratic army just as a chauvinistic people may have a bloodthirsty force of bullies. Armies are like the people which create them.

So it is that Gen. Wood's final chapters on the Australian and Swiss systems and on his idea of the kind of army the United States needs are peculiarly in season. The Australian system of defense is vitally interesting. No other English-speaking country is more democratic—in truth, Australia exceeds the world in its social legislation.

COMPULSION IN AUSTRALIA.

Yet Australia has passed by the slipshod American habit of military preparation and evolved a new form of compulsion and evolved a new form of compulsory training which does not seem to have introduced an era of militarism, nor even to have struck a blow at the liberties of a free people.

The Swiss experiment is no less appropriate, although we could not take over that system without being embarrassed by the size of the army which would be formed. The Swiss plan in the United States, according to an estimate of Walter L. Fisher, would create an army of something like 10,000,000 men.

Gen. Wood urges that these two plans be modified to suit American necessities. About 500,000 available young men reach the age of 18 each year. They should be trained, he advocates. If they were given military instruction while in school three months' training would suffice to prepare them for the duties of enlisted men, it is estimated.

After this preliminary training the drills would be no more rigorous than those now practiced by the National Guard.

Americans and other residents of the United States who wish to see this country continue to exist as a republic might as well begin now to look conditions squarely in the face. Practically the entire military force of the United States is now across the Mexican border or on its way to the border and it is not making a deep impression.

CONDITIONS OF NAVY.

With the possible exception of Secretary Daniels, former member of the North Carolina Canoe Club, it is admitted that the United States navy is in deplorable condition. The public can ascertain for itself regarding the army, but it must accept the statement of officials as to the condition of the navy.

In the face of all these things, William Jennings Bryan, Henry Ford and certain members of the House of Representatives who reside in remote districts of the south and central west are fighting preparedness—combating national life and fire insurance, burying their heads in the sand and assuring the country that no evil can befall the United States.

Compromise.

BIG DEFENSE MEASURE SOON TO GO TO WILSON.

Agreement on Army Reorganization Bill is in Sight, Although Senate will Probably Have to Surrender the Volunteer Army Reserve Plan—Standing Force may Consist of 180,000 Men in Time of Peace.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Agreement on the army reorganization bill was in sight tonight. Conferees of the Senate and the House, who will renew deliberations tomorrow, expect to be able to reach a compromise so that the first of the big defense measures may be on the President's desk next week.

That the Senate conferees would have to surrender the volunteer army reserve of 261,000 men, which the House so strongly repudiated yesterday, was admitted tonight by Senate leaders, but they hope to strengthen the provision of the House bill authorizing citizen instruction camps so that military training for thousands of citizens may be afforded and a nucleus of a volunteer army thus be built up. The Senate conferees believe it would be useless to hold out longer for the volunteer army in view of the House insistence that the National Guard should constitute the main reserve military defense force.

Under the House bill as it stands thousands of civilian training camps might be instituted under direction of the Secretary of War.

It was predicted tonight that the conferees would agree on a regular standing army with a peace strength of 175,000 or 180,000 men, with the Senate expansive organization system which would make possible recruiting to a strength of 220,000 in time of need. The House bill provides for a peace strength of 140,000 and the Senate bill for a peace strength of 250,000. The conferees also are expected to agree to the main features of the House bill regarding the reorganization and Federalization of the National Guard, thus providing for a defense reserve of approximately 400,000 men.

The House amendment for a nitrate plant probably will be accepted. Under it, $20,000,000 would be appropriated for a plant to be operated exclusively by the government.

MORE CAVALRY GOES TO BOQUILLAS; AMERICANS ELUDE MEXICAN GUARD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MARATHON (Tex.) May 9.—The two troops of the Eighth Cavalry now moing toward Boquillas on the Rio Grande are camped tonight at Miller's ranch, seventy miles from here, while the two troops of the Fourteenth Cavalry and a machine-gun troop that left the Marathon base this morning pitched camp thirty miles south at Henderson's ranch.

These troops probably will concentrate at Boquillas, where Col. F. W. Sibley, in command, will, after a conference with Maj. Langhorne, determine their disposition. Capt. Casper Cole of the Fourteenth Cavalry, who has been making observations along the Rio Grande to determine the whereabouts of Villista bandits, came in tonight from Boquillas and made a report of his scouting work to Col. Sibley.

A long-range fight across the Rio Grande between a detachment of American soldiers and bandits took place near Boquillas yesterday afternoon, Capt. Cole, reporting the fight, said he did not think there were any killed or injured. Capt. Fox of the Texas Rangers believes several Mexicans were hit.

SEVERAL BODIES OPERATING.

Capt. Cole informed Col. Sibley that there were several large bodies of bandits, about 500 in all, operating along the south side of the Rio Grande. He said he was convinced that many Mexican sympathizers were co-operating with the bandits on the American side.

Capt. Cole said:

"I went to Glenn Springs Sunday and with a detachment of men scouted the Rio Grande carefully between Boquillas and San Vicente. I am convinced that there are no organized bodies on the American side of the river.

"There are organized bodies of bandits on the Mexican side operating in several large bodies. At Tajitas there is a body of 200 Mexicans, while another body of 200 or so Villistas is making south for Boquillas.

"The bodies of only two dead Mexicans have been found, but there were undoubtedly other Mexican dead in the Glenn Springs raid. There is a detachment of one cavalry troop at Glenn Springs and another at Terlingua."

There is every reason to believe that Texas possemen have forded the Rio Grande in search of bandits.

Col. Sibley goes forward tomorrow to Boquillas, where he will join Col. M. O. Macombe and Maj. Langhorne. He said he did not know where he would make his headquarters.

AMERICANS ESCAPE.

Overpowering their guards, the eight Americans, seven of whom were employees of the Porto Rico de Boquillas mines, captured by a body of Villistas last Saturday, made their escape and are today on American soil. Dr. Homer Powers of San Angelo, Tex., was among those who made their escape.

News of the escape was brought here today by Carl Halter, the mine superintendent, who also said that J. Deemer, the Boquillas storekeeper, and Monroe Payne, a negro, were prisoners of the Mexicans. Halter did not believe either had been killed.

The party of Americans who made their escape were:

Carl Halter, mine superintendent; R. Hasbrouck, assayer; Dr. Homer Powers, W. T. Butler, Nick Pastorlous, N. R. McKnight, George Scott, Austan Swayze.

"A body of a dozen Mexicans," said Halter, "came to the mine Saturday morning bringing with them two of our truck drivers. They robbed me of my watch and sacked the house and then ordered us into a truck which they loaded with oil and gasoline. The bandits, led by Col. Natividad Alvarez, who was a Villista, treated us courteously, saying they were going to take us to Torreon, but would send us back in a month.

"We started towards Ocampo but returned to Deemer's store to take on supplies. We then moved on to a water hole and stayed there until Sunday morning. I reckon we made about eighteen miles that day but the truck got into trouble and we worked on it Sunday night when we went to sleep under the truck.

"A Mexican was sent forward to get some mules from a wagon which had been seized. Monday morning other Mexicans went forward, leaving only three men to guard us.

"We then determined to escape and while the bandits were pushing on the truck we jumped on them from behind, seized their guns and made the Mexicans prisoners. We then walked twelve miles across country to save distance and turned the prisoners over to Sheriff Walton at Boquillas. One man will be brought here soon."

DEEMER HELD FOR RANSOM.

Halter said that Deemer was undoubtedly being held for ransom. A cowboy brought word that the Mexican prisoners would be held as a ransom for Deemer's life. It was planned to set one of the three prisoners free with a note to the bandits offering to exchange the remaining two prisoners if the bandits would set Deemer free.

A troop train from San Antonio bearing twenty-five Signal Corps men of Company H, under the command of Capt. Herbert Evans, reached here this afternoon and detrained. The train also carried two Signal Corps wagons, four motor trucks, horses and a large quantity of quartermaster stores.

The Signal Corps will build a telegraph line from here to the border.

BORDER CONFERENCES TO CONTINUE; TROOPS ON QUI VIVE AT EL PASO.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

EL PASO, May 9.—Fear of a break between the United States and Mexico over American troop dispositions in Mexico was temporarily allayed tonight when, after a three and a half hours' discussion, the American and Mexican conferees agreed to hold another conference probably tomorrow.

Tonight's conference, the fifth held, began shortly after 5 o'clock, with Gens. Scott and Funston for the United States, and Gen. Obregon and Juan Amador, Mexican Subsecretary of Foreign Affairs, taking part. A. J. McQuatters, mining man who has participated in three other conferences, was presented at the beginning, but withdrew on complaint of the Mexican representatives that his business connections rendered his presence undesirable.

OBREGON'S PROPOSITION.

It is understood that Gen. Obregon again brought up the subject of a definite date for American troop withdrawal from Mexico. He again was informed, it is said, that the American government is firm in its refusal to make this concession.

It was suggested to him that in view of the Big Bend raid, under the nose of Carranista troops, the United States could scarcely consider the de facto government as fully capable yet of coping with the bandits. In the face of this statement, Gen. Obregon is understood to have asked for more time to consult with the first chief, Venustiano Carranza.

Gen. Frederick Funston had planned to leave here tonight for San Antonio, where, at his headquarters in Fort Sam Houston, he was to take charge of the new troop dispositions that will come with the dispatch of 8000 militia and regular army men to the border. After the conference, however, it was announced that he had postponed his departure.

ATMOSPHERE IS TENSE.

All day today the atmosphere at El Paso was tense. Prior to the conference word went out that only one thing could prevent a break between the United States and Mexico—complete reversal by Gen. Obregon of the attitude he took at yesterday's meeting with Gens. Scott and Funston, when he declined to sign the tentative agreement for Mexican and American troop co-operation until it was modified to set a date for American withdrawal from Mexico.

There were few optimists to point out in the end the Mexican Minister of War must concede the point of the United States. A vast majority concluded that he was more likely to withdraw from the negotiations.

Activities of the American military men here added to the apprehension. It was learned that messages had been sent to Gen. Pershing at the front warning him to prepare for any contingency. All along the border the word had gone out to the scattered detachments of the American army patrol to be on guard.

Late in the afternoon the excitement grew when Gen. George Beil, Jr., sent a detachment of troops into the city, where he placed them as "a precaution" against any trouble that might arise among the large Mexican population. He explained that he had acted merely because of the tensity of the situation.

A machine gun company was sheltered inside the old El Paso Courthouse not far from the heart of the city, and near the Union Depot a company of infantry was stationed.

Three other companies of infantry, placed within easy distance of the Mexican quarter, which they commanded, was camped in the neighborhood of the stock yards.

Gen. Obregon went into the conference this evening announcing that he had a new proposal to make to the American representatives. He intended to ask, he said, that a common border patrol should be stretched along the border, American troops guarding the Mexican side, and Mexican troops patrolling the American side.

OBREGON'S STATEMENT.

On his return to his private car in Juarez, after the conference, Gen. Obregon made the following statement to the press:

"On the instructions of the First Chief, I have proposed a plan for the patrol of the frontier by troops of both countries. Each country under this arrangement would patrol its own side and co-operate with the other in running down and breaking up the outlaw bands. We are proceeding amicably in the conference. I should like to say for the benefit of the yellow press that I delivered no ultimatum tonight."

Gen. Scott is understood to have said he would be glad to present the proposal to the Washington government.

Gen. Bell's troop dispositions were taken, he said, merely for precautionary purposes. In view of the tense situation it was deemed best to leave no step unturned that might avert trouble at this end of the international bridge. The troops moved into the city from Fort Bliss consisted of five companies of the Twentieth Infantry under the command of Col. Alfred Hasbrouck. One of these was a machine gun company.

Three companies were stationed at the stock yards, dominating the Mexican section of El Paso. The machine gun outfit was placed at the Courthouse, where Col. Hasbrouck established his headquarters. The fourth was placed at the Union station, a short distance across the river from Juarez.

FUNSTON DISAPPOINTED.

It is known that Gen. Funston had asked the War Department for a much larger number of troops than was allowed him, and some disappointment was expressed at the temporary headquarters of the Southern Department when word came that no more than 8000 additional troops would be sent.

Mobilization points for the militia were chosen at San Antonio in Texas; Columbus in New Mexico, and Douglas in Arizona. The regular army men probably will be divided between El Paso and San Antonio.

Making allowances for delays, it was expected, all of the reinforcements would reach the border within a week.

In preparation for the feeding of the additional troops, the quartermasters here and at San Antonio and Columbus are working overtime. Immense stores for rations are on hand here and at the other points and these will be utilized until new requisitions arrive.

The withdrawal of A. J. McQuatters from the fifth conference was one of the interesting developments of the day. Mr. McQuatters arranged the second conference, at which Gen. Scott and Gen. Obregon drew up their tentative agreement, and had been present at each meeting until today.

About noon Subsecretary Amador called on Gen. Scott and informed him that the Mexican conferees objected to the presence of Mr. McQuatters at another conference. He

EXECUTIONS IN DUBLIN CALLED AN ATROCITY

Manchester Guardian Demands End of Shooting Rebels.

Effect of Irish Revolt will be to Bring About a Compromise on Home Rule, is the Belief in Parliament, as Redmond and Carson Show Symptoms of Disposition to Get Together.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, May 9.—"The Dublin military executions are becoming an atrocity," says the Manchester Guardian in an editorial supporting the appeal which John Redmond, the Irish leader, made in the House of Commons yesterday for clemency for the Irish rebels.

"Four more men were shot yesterday and there is no sign that this is about to stop.

"We can understand that it may have been desired in the first instance that swift punishment should be seen to follow the offense and that an appeal should be set and a stern warning given, but this purpose has long since been served."

The Guardian appeals for public trials for the remaining offenders, asking why this should be granted to Sir Roger Casement and denied the Dublin rebels.

ISSUE IN COMMONS.

Executions and arrests in Ireland were again discussed in the House of Commons this afternoon in the form of questions to Premier Asquith.

William O'Brien, Nationalist member for the city of Cork, asked whether the Premier was aware that hundreds of citizens from Cork and Tipperary had been arrested without any charge being stated and were confined in the Cork jail, where they were treated with the utmost harshness. He also asked whether steps would be taken to allay the universal public indignation at the reign of terror which had been established and whether the police and military had just raided the offices of the Cork Free Press, which had advocated recruiting since the outbreak of the war.

A veritable volley of questions was then directed at the Premier from all sides of the House. Philip Edward Morrell, Liberal member for Burnley, inquired whether F. Sheehy Skeffington, editor of the Irish Citizen, had been shot in the barrack square in Dublin before martial law was proclaimed, and Timothy Healy asked whether the Premier knew whether the editors of the newspapers opposed to the revolt had been shot without trial at Portobello Barracks without time being given them to say their prayers.

The Premier promised to make careful inquiry into all the incidents mentioned.

IRISH POLITICS.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, May 9.—Irish politics again are in the foreground as a result of the recent rising and the consequent convergence of sentiment between John Redmond, the Nationalist leader, and Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster leader.

The conference of these leaders yesterday on the disarmament question, and today's significant debate in the House of Commons on the possibility of bringing Ireland within the purview of the conscription bill, have given this matter still greater importance and it looks as though Ireland's unfortunate experience might become the indirect means of adjusting in a manner satisfactory to all parties the difficult home rule problem, which has been hung up during the war.

It is understood that a manifesto to the Irish people has been agreed upon, but the contents of the manifesto have been withheld until Thursday so as to enable the simultaneous publication throughout the land.

RUMORS ARE CURRENT.

Various rumors were current in the lobbies of Parliament today concerning negotiations between the government and the Irish leaders, but nothing is likely to be decided upon by the latter until after Premier Asquith's pronouncement on the Irish situation, which is due tomorrow.

During the committee stage of the military service bill in the House of Commons today Sir John Lonsdale Lonsdale, whip of the Unionist party, moved that Ireland should be included in the scheme of compulsion. Premier Asquith in reply that the question of compulsion was not a matter of agreement with Ireland, and that the motion was persisted in there would be protracted discussion.

The Premier asked what could be worse than that the recruiting of Ireland should be forced into conflict at this moment. The government, he added, was occupied with the utmost care the details arrangements in Ireland as a matter of hearing arms, and hoped a common agreement would be reached.

EXCLUSION OF IRELAND.

Deprecating the exclusion of Ireland from compulsion, Sir Edward Carson blamed the government for failing to suppress the recruiting campaign in Ireland, which he believed had largely led to the recent disastrous events.

John Redmond, the Nationalist leader, challenged Sir Edward Carson's assertion that in the recent settlement of Ireland the Nationalists had the power, but not the responsibility. "Certainly, since the constitutional government was instituted," said Redmond, "I had no power. The government of Ireland, as my suggestions have been overborne and my suggestions rejected. It is a matter of profound conviction that if we had had the power and responsibility during the few years the recent constitution of Ireland never would have arisen."

REDMOND'S INTENTION.

Mr. Redmond declared that he did not leave the impression that he had had not done well in recruiting. He had more than 150,000 men under the colors, men who had fought with bravery and covered themselves with glory, said the Nationalist leader. He opposed conscription for Ireland because he believed conscription the worst possible way to get recruits for Ireland, and after recent events the overwhelming opinion was that it would be not only wrong, but would be insane to attempt to enforce conscription, and it would be a terrible responsibility if, in the face of this deliberate opinion, the government should persist in the attempt to enforce conscription upon Ireland.

Mr. Redmond besought the House not only for the sake of Ireland, but for the sake of the empire, not to proceed with this course.

RESPOND TO ULSTER.

Whisper of Great Intrigue Pervades All Circles.

Japanese Crushed in End, Says Chinese Expert.

BY HARRY CARR.
[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, May 5.—When you see the diplomats whispering in a corner in Washington these days, you can be pretty sure they are talking about the new Japanese-Russian treaty.

It is the first act of a great drama that will be played in the Orient after the European war is over. To me every whisper of this great intrigue has a thrill. It is wonderful to be alive at such a time as to catch a glimpse from time to time of this great conspiracy.

Washington is full of journalists, government agents, soldiers, naval officers, diplomats who recently have watched this story at the edges and I have talked to all I could get hold of.

This is a fair composite picture of their conclusions:

"Japan," said a shrewd little Japanese diplomat to me the other night over a dinner table, "Japan has embarked upon a tremendous adventure. I can't make up my mind whether she intends to be the England of the Orient and build up a great empire with China under her control, or whether she is dreaming of duplicating the exploits of Ghengis Khan.

"You remember how the great Mongol started from a little Mongol tribe of cattle herdsman and swept through the civilized world like a conflagration, conquering everything in his path until he paused, exhausted, on the other side of the world. I am sometimes led to believe that Japan dreams of an enormous army of Chinese—millions upon millions of Chinese—under the command of skilled Japanese officers pouring out over the world.

"I may say, in passing, that she is never likely to fulfill her dream. Japan can neither become a Ghengis Khan or an England.

"The great Mongol horseman burst into the world at a time when the world was steeped in fat luxury and when its riches had accomplished its degeneration.

"Japan can't become the England of the Orient either. England built up her huge empire at a time when the distant seas were deserts, picking up a piece of land here and another piece of land there. The land is all claimed now by great powers. Japan would have to conquer the world to become the England of the Orient. She came too late.

"But, anyhow, let us recognize that the Mikado has embarked upon a great adventure. This treaty with Russia is equivalent to throwing down the gauntlet to all the Western nations. Let us examine the elements of the case.

"From the earliest times, British India has been recognized as the pearl of great price among the treasures of the earth. When Columbus set out on his voyage of discovery, he was not looking for America; he was trying to find the route to India. A like ambition spurred the nearly every one of the early explorers.

"Early in the days of great navigators, England snatched up the world with her acquisition of India and began England's great struggle with Russia. Her brightest days have always been disturbed by this cloud looming over her horizon.

"No diplomats in the world equal England's for brilliancy and clarity of vision. They may seem to blunder sometimes as they go on, but it is the stumbling of a man who is looking a long way ahead. England always has a great world plan toward which she is working.

"Ten years ago her Russian problem was a very serious one because it was easy for Russia to send troops into India but a long way off for England to get troops into Russia. And against Russia, England's sea power would count for almost nothing. Russia being self-contained country. The problem of British diplomacy was to induce some other power to fight Russia away from India. Japan became the willing candidate for this job.

"The defeat of Russia by Japan has apparently removed from England her Cossack peril. The Japanese-British alliance had done the work. But Japan had tasted blood. Her defeat of Russia, which was magnified over its real merits, made the Japanese people drunk with the lust for power. When the war in Europe began Japan was casting her eyes over the Orient like a hungry tiger seeking whom it may devour.

"Her investments in Manchuria have not panned out. Instead of exploiting Manchuria with a resultant profit to herself, Japan found she could not compete with the Chinese merchants in Manchuria. She decided that she must have something richer and more productive of what the Americans call quick money.

"The first turned her eyes upon

RISE IN COAL PRI STIRS TRADE C

WASHINGTON, May 9.—The Federal Trade Commission announced today that if there was any further raise in price of anthracite coal the commission would take up with the Department of Justice the question of an investigation of the anthracite industry. The department had suggested the commission if prices were raised following the wage advance just given to the Pennsylvania workers.

The commission made public in connection with its announcement a letter replying to the department's suggestion for an investigation. This letter, signed by Atty.-Gen. Gregory, called attention to price

Every time she looked in the direction of China it made her mouth water—rich, peaceful, inert old China with her mines, her electric power, her great markets.

"But Japan had to look over several great obstacles when she looked at China. For one thing, America's open-door policy was in the way; for another thing, England had imbedded herself in the best part of Central China. England was eating the heart out of the melon. Also, there were Germany, Russia and France.

"Then the great war burst. The first guns that were fired in Belgium said to Japan, 'Now is the time for you to do or die.'

"She easily got rid of Germany by throwing her bodily out of Tsing Tau. England worried her somewhat. Also the United States.

"She entered into China boldly, disregarding all her promises and pledges and prepared to take possession. She presented the list of infamous demands upon China and then waited to see what would happen.

"Japan expected sharp resistance from the United States and concentrated a fleet at Turtle Bay on the coast of Lower California in readiness to strike if need be. But America seemed to be overawed by the great war. Open doors in China didn't interest her people. All the Americans called for was peace. To the dismay of China, the Americans stood and looked on in silence.

"Japan, then cast about for some weapon to help her in the next move. When she got it she would strike. She stood poised like an athlete waiting for fortune to shake some favorable circumstance down into her lap. This circumstance has just come.

"The Russian victory at Erzerum in Armenia opened the way for Japan.

"In order to appreciate this, we must take another look at the world picture.

"Russia is now down on the south shores of the Black Sea. Her troops are at the back door of India.

"On one side of British India is this great Russian army. On the other side of India is a great Japanese army.

"You have only to look at the map and see why it is that Japan can afford to throw off the mask and virtually announce her intention to squeeze the British out of China. England is threatened in India as she has never been threatened before in the history of her empire.

"In these circumstances, the Japanese diplomats hastened to conclude this treaty with Russia. No one outside the charmed circle knows its real terms. But it certainly is not what has been stated. Nobody can doubt that Russia and the Japanese have decided to partition China between them.

"In China we think that Japan, in the end, intends to give Russia what you call the double cross and go on alone with millions upon millions of Chinese soldiers at her command. For the present, she needs Russia and Russia needs her. She needs Russian power on the other flank of India to silence the British protests. Russia, just at the moment, needs Japanese supplies and ammunition in his war, and, in the future, she could use the Japanese fleet to great advantage.

"That is the present situation as it strikes us Chinese.

"As to the future? It fascinates me to consider what the future may bring forth.

"We are expecting that this war will end in a dreadfully-mixed up diplomatic mess and that the world powers will choose ne alliances.

"England will be watched with intense interest. Don't ever get the idea that England has passed the zenith of her power. She hasn't come to the dawn of her real greatness. She will be in a tight place diplomatically after this war, but I will venture to say that English doplimats are already working on some definate clear plan.

"In one way, this possible rupture of world partnerships will work immeasurable good. As it seems now England and Germany have started out on a career of mutual hatred that might not fade out for many centuries to come. But this new oriental situation makes it more than probable that they will be forced into each other's arms in a new alliance—not right away, of course, but in due time as the conspiracy in the Orient developes in intensity.

"Japan would no doubt like to have Germany in an alliance, but I do not believe this to be probable. Germany would demand the return of too much power in China.

"For the moment, Germany seems to stand apart. I think, it will not be long after this war that America and England and France will find it convenient to enter into an alliance as a protection of their oriental interests.

"Among other results I reserve for the last the one that lies nearest my heart. I believe that the real regeneration of China will come about under the influence of this conspiracy.

"China is a country that is constitutionally opposed to war, but we have seen that this world is apparently entered upon an era of wars and we must organize great armies like the other countries. When China goes to war it will be for herself and not for Japan.

"There is something that thrills the imagination in this great dream of the Japanese people, but I look to see the day when Japan will be crushed like a worm, if not by China, by an alliance of the powers. She has been too impatient. Hers is a swashbuvklers dream and she will die by the sword."

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 9.—Circulars announcing advances in the wholesale price of anthracite coal have been approved by anthracite operators, it was learned here today, and the plan tonight was to send the circulars to retail dealers tomorrow.

The increases, which, according to one circular, range from 15 cents a ton for egg to 50 cents a ton for pea coal, follow upon the announcement by the operators that they would advance the price of coal to meet the additional cost of wage increases and other adjustments recently allowed by the miners.

OFFICIAL NEWS OF THE BATTLES

Another Advance Upon Egypt Planned by the Sultan.

Building of Road Through the Desert is Advanced.

Aeroplanes Drop Eight Bombs Upon Port Said.

[BY WIRELESS AND A. P.]

BERLIN, May 9 (via Sayville.)—Preparations for another advance on Egypt are being made by the Turks, the Overseas News Agency reports.

"The construction of a railroad through the desert is being advanced rapidly, according to Constantinople dispatches," the news agency says. "In view of their defeat at Quatia and the possibility of another surprise attack, the British are conducting aeroplane raids constantly along the front east of the canal, with the intention of destroying the railroad. The native tribes have been deeply impressed by the recent British failure."

The official Turkish report of May 8 says that three British generals, in addition to Gen. Townshend, the commanding officer, were captured at Kut-el-Amara. The statement also gives a delayed report of a defeat of the British in Southern Arabia near Aden.

The statement says:

"Artillery duels occurred in the region of Felahie (on the Tigris.)

"We have found up to the present time forty cannon, twenty machine guns and nearly 5000 rifles. We also took a large amount of ammunition, one large ship, one small ship, four automobiles and three aeroplanes. Arms and ammunition which were dropped into the Tigris are being recovered by us.

"During the last engagement near Quatia and Divar (in Egypt east of the Suez Canal) we captured 240 black mules, 120 camels, sixty-seven tents, two machine guns, 100 rifles and ammunition and food supplies.

"On March 10 a detachment of the enemy attempted an attack on our position north of Sheikh Osman (near Aden) and was repulsed. On March 15 and 16 a Turkish detachment made a surprise attack on the position of the enemy near Amad, northeast of Shiekh Osman. The enemy retired after a battle of two hours. The losses of the enemy were seven officers and more than 200 men killed or wounded. The Turkish losses were 130.

"In addition to Gen. Townshend we captured at Kut-el-Amara Gen. Povna, commander of the Sixth Infantry division; Gen. Babmack, commander of the Sixteenth Brigade; Gen. Hamilton, commander of the Seventeenth Brigade; Col. Evans, commander of the Eighteenth Brigade, and an officer named Smith, commander of artillery. The number of officers made prisoner is 551, of which half are Europeans and half Hindus. Of the soldiers captured 25 per cent. are Europeans and the remainder Hindus."

The Italians have lost 3000 officers since the beginning of the war, according to private statistics compiled in Germany. This includes killed, wounded or missing. Of these officers five were generals, sixty-two colonels, 104 majors and 544 captains.

FRENCH TRENCHES TAKEN.

The capture of several French trenches on the Verdun front south of Houcourt was announced by the War Office today.

Today's official statement follows:

"In connection with our success at Hill 304 we took, south of Termiten Hill, south of Haucourt, several trenches by storm. Attempts by the enemy to recapture with strong forces the terrain lost on Hill 304 failed. The enemy's losses were heavy.

"Other attacks by the French on the east bank of the Meuse in the district of Thiaumont farm were equally unsuccessful. The number of French taken prisoner there increased to three officers and 375 men besides sixteen wounded. Nine machine guns also were taken.

"On other parts of the western front there were only a few patrol enterprises which proved successful for the Germans."

IN ASIA AND AFRICA.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, May 9, 10:30 a.m.—A Reuter dispatch from Cairo says that two hostile aeroplanes dropped eight bombs on Port Said Monday morning. Three civilians were wounded and the attackers were driven off by fire from anti-aircraft guns. There was no property damage.

An official announcement made here today says the total number of sick and wounded evacuated from Kut-el-Amara has reached 1073, and that a hospital ship started May 8 to quarters of the Tigris corps.

"On May 7 one of our machines engaged a hostile monoplane," the statement says. "Our machine was forced to descend on account of a perforated petrol tank. It succeeded in reaching our lines. Both the pilot and the observer were unhurt."

FROM THE AUSTRIAN FRONT.

[BY WIRELESS AND A. P.]

BERLIN, May 9 (via Sayville.)—A statement issued by Austro-Hungarian headquarters at Vienna under date of May 8 says an enemy position in the district of San Martino was destroyed by powerful mine explosions, in consequence of which the Italians suffered heavy losses. Austro-Hungarian troops captured a small point of support on the northern slope of Montesan Michele.

AMERICANS ABLE TO LEAVE MEXICO.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 9.—The State Department was advised today that the steamship San Juan, due at Mazatlan May 12, will be able to accommodate all the Americans who want transportation to the United States. Thirty Americans, the dispatch said, have sailed on the steamer Newport from Manzanillo for California points.

Another report said a Villa band had attacked the town of Colima in the State of that name twice, and that a train in that vicinity had been attacked recently. The Nogales district, Mazatlan, Guaymas, Topolobampo, were reported quiet.

DOUBLE MYSTERY.

Los Angeles Man Shoots Himself on Steamer off Oregon Shore and About Same Time His Wife Disappears from House at Santa Ana.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ASTORIA (Or.) May 9.—A. Thodt, a wealthy Los Angeles man, was found dead in his stateroom on the steamer Bear yesterday, with a pistol bullet in his head. The Bear arrived here today from San Francisco. A revolver lay on the settee at Thodt's side.

A note was found in the stateroom asking that his wife, Mrs. Elsie Thodt of Santa Ana, Cal., be notified of his death. The Bear was off Rogue River reef, Oregon, when his body was found. The officers and passengers on the steamer were unable to give any motive for his suicide. The body was brought ashore here.

BOUGHT SANTA ANA HOME.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SANTA ANA, May 9.—Andrew Thodt, a retired rancher of Washington and Oregon, came here with his wife recently and bought a home, from which the occupants disappeared last night. Neighbors knew little of them. A young woman and her small son lived with the elderly couple. Recently Thodt suffered a slight stroke of paralysis.

HERE LAST YEAR.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Thodt registered at the O'Neil apartments, No. 350 South Figueroa street, January 15, 1915. They registered from Los Angeles. A few days later the couple left, but declined to leave a forwarding address.

ZAPATISTAS LOSE FIVE HUNDRED MEN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

JIMINEZ (Mex.) May 8 (via El Paso Junction, May 9.)—Further Carranza victories over the Zapatistas, following the capture of Cuernavaca, are reported by Gen. Pablo Gonzales in a telegram today to Gen. Trevino, who is on his way south to Torreon. In half a dozen engagements the Carranzistas killed over 500 men. Several cannon, bomb throwers, cartridge factories and one locomotive were taken.

The enemy was reported by Gen. Gonzales to have rallied at La Trinchera, making a desperate attack. The troopers were compelled to evacuate, but later returned with reinforcements and routed the Zapatistas.

Gen. Gonzales reports the inhabitants contented and conditions again approaching normal.

STRIKERS' RANKS GAIN THOUSANDS

Amalgamated Garment Workers Join Walkout.

International Harvester Men Return and Quit Again.

Better Shop Conditions are Promised to Cutters.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, May 9.—Thousands of men were added today to the list of those on strike.

Six hundred cutters of the Amalgamated Garment Workers quit, throwing the trade into confusion, and 3000 employees of local tanneries walked out. They demanded an increase of 45 per cent. in wages, having declined a compromise offer of 30 per cent.

Five hundred employees of the Chicago Screw Company walked out, demanding higher wages and shorter hours, and 300 employees of the Peter Schuettler Wagon Company quit for the same reason.

The strike of employees of the International Harvester Company continued. Five hundred employees returned to work, but walked out again when demands of their committee were refused. The demands included the closed shop, and this was promptly refused.

The strike of the cutters, it is said, will throw several thousand other garment workers out of employment even if they are not called out. Local union leaders received authorization to call out all garment workers in the city, said to number 30,000. The latter allege that promises of better shop conditions, shorter hours and other reforms alleged to have been made after the strike of last fall have not been kept. On the other hand the manufacturers assert that the strike is really for the closed shop.

WHAT YOUR NERVES NEED

Whatever medication, whatever renewed strength and vigor can be imparted to the nerves must reach them through the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a nervine tonic but they act on the nerves through the blood, enabling the blood to carry to the nerves the elements needed to build them up.

Neuralgia, sciatica, sick headache and a number of more severe nervous troubles are properly treated by building up the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and are often entirely corrected in this way.

If you are nervous you can help yourself by refusing to worry, by taking proper rest, sleep and vacations, by avoiding excesses and by taking out-of-door exercise. For medicine take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, the non-alcoholic tonic.

Sufferers from nervous disorders who have been taking treatment without benefit should investigate the tonic method. Write today to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for the booklet, "Diseases of the Nervous System." It will be sent free on request.

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50.

Dublin Executions.

circumstances of the moment, that we might come together. Aye, and before long I hope with all my heart that out of these miseries we may be able by taking a large, generous view, something like a statesmanlike and far-reaching view of the empire's highest interests, that out of this turmoil and tragedy we may evolve some means of putting an end to these difficulties and the government have both power and responsibility."

The Lonsdale motion was voted down without a division.

Winston Spencer Churchill considered that Mr. Redmond had rendered immense services to the empire and that Great Britain owed a deep debt to the Nationalist party for their exertions in the present struggle. He would feel the same reluctance, he declared, in pressing an Irish question against Mr. Redmond's opinion as he would feel against pressing a South African question against the opinion of Gen. Botha.

It is understood that Col. Churchill has decided to resume politics. His battalion at the front has ceased to exist, through being absorbed by another unit and he has obtained leave until further orders.

THE CASUALTIES.

The casualties in Dublin in the uprising were 124 killed, 388 wounded and nine missing—a total of 521, among His Majesty's troops and the Royal Irish constabulary, Premier Asquith announced.

The casualties were divided as follows:

Army officers 17 killed, 46 wounded; other ranks 86 killed, 311 wounded, 9 missing.

Royal Irish constabulary, 12 killed, 3 wounded.

Dublin metropolitan police, 3 killed, 3 wounded.

Royal Navy, 1 killed, 2 wounded.

Royal Volunteers, 5 killed, 3 wounded.

Repeating in the House of Lords the figures on casualties given by Premier Asquith in the House of Commons, Field Marshal Earl Kitchener, Secretary for War, indicated that they referred to the whole of Ireland.

THE CASEMENT TRIAL.

The trial of Sir Roger Casement for high treason in connection with the rebellion will be public. The first hearing will be in Bow-street police court tomorrow, when a formal charge will be made before a police magistrate. The real trial will be held later before a panel of the judges of the High Court of Justice and a jury.

It is understood that Sir Roger intends to conduct his own defense. The crown prosecutors have completed their case.

Lewis Harcourt has declined to succeed Augustin Birrell as chief secretary for Ireland, giving illhealth as his reason. The choice of Birrell's successor is now believed to rest among Harold Tennant, Parliamentary Under-secretaryof War; Col. Sir Mark Syckes, member of Parliament for Hull, and Brig.-Gen. John Edward Zeely, former Minister of War.

AMERICAN LUMBER FOR THE BRITISH.

PORTLAND (Or.) May 8.—After loading under rush orders, the British steamer Hazel Dollar and the American schooner Carrier Dove were afloat in the river today with nearly 5,000,000 feet of lumber for China and Australia. They will leave down for the sea early tomorrow. The Hazel Dollar arrived here just a week ago today, and since then has taken on a cargo of 4,000,000 feet of lumber. Her destination is Hankow. The Carrier Dove will deliver her cargo of 950,000 feet at Adelaide.

BOMB DISABLES BRITISH STEAMER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 9.—The explosion that disabled the Lamport & Holt liner Tennyson on February 18 last was due to a bomb, according to reports made by her officers when she arrived at Buenos Aires. Capt. Buller said the bomb was smuggled aboard by two Germans when his ship put into Bahia.

The explosion took place when the vessel was at sea 250 miles northeast of Maranhao, Brazil. The ship's stern was nearly blown away, and three members of the crew killed outright, while another died of injuries.

The ship was able to limp into Maranhao in a sinking condition. The Tennyson spent a month in drydock at Bahia before she was able to resume her voyags.

The election was preceded by the reading of the reports of the secretary and treasurer and the president's address. Following the election, short addresses were delivered by W. A. Barker, Martin Neuner, C. W. Couch and F. H. French.

Dancing followed the banquet, with music furnished by the orchestra of the Elks' Club. There were 200 members and their wives present.

JOHNSON SET ON REVENGE.

Will go to Any Lengths to Defeat the Republicans.

Forms Alliance with Gompers to Land Cabinet Job.

Deserts Friends to Bolster His Own Interests.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SACRAMENTO, May 8.—Gov. Johnson has spread consternation among his own political followers through his announcement that he will attend the National Progressive Convention in Chicago. They are asking each other what will become of them if he decides to lead another insurgent movement similar to that of 1912.

Revenge is the motive attributed to the Governor's change of attitude since his repudiation in the May primary. He seeks some method of retaliation on the Republican party for the swat it has given him; and he would be willing to lead any kind of movement that would make national Republican success in 1916 impossible. This is the opinion expressed by office holders here who have been with the Governor ever since he started in politics. They say he will demand that he be taken care of or he will bolt again.

It is generally understood here that the Governor will attempt so to manipulate the Progressive convention that he can get the promise of a Cabinet position in return for his indorsement of the Republican ticket. He has given up the idea of a Vice-Presidential nomination, but he is now caucusing with the labor-union bosses in the hopes of being able to capture the place as Attorney-General under the next Republican administration. The fact seems to have been overlooked that the labor-union bosses will actually control the Chicago Progressive Convention; word has come from the East that enough union delegates have been selected to give them a working majority.

GOMPERS BEHIND IT.

Some of the Gompers crowd are willing to get behind Johnson for a Cabinet position and they hope to be able to drive that bargain at Chicago. Their proposal is that the Governor shall indorse the Republican ticket and shall lead the Progressives into the Republican camp; that he shall take the stump through the mining and labor districts of the East for the Republican ticket and that his reward shall be the Attorney-Generalship. Next to the Presidency the office that the Gompers crowd prefers to control is that of Attorney-General of the United States.

DESERTS FRIENDS.

But these national aspirations of the Governor leave his followers stranded here in California. They have no stomach to attempt another theft like that which robbed the Republicans of a candidate in California in 1912. State Treasurer Richardson, State Controller Chambers and Atty.-Gen. Webb all registered Republican in February. Each has declared that he is back permanently in the Republican ranks, none of them cares to be tied longer to the Governor's car.

They had been hoping for some kind of coalition that would enable them to control the next Legislature, but they know that the recent actions of the Governor has made the Republicans in California wary of him and his methods. The Republican electors of California will be chosen this year in a State convention, similar to that held in 1912. The Republican nominees for Assembly and Senate, together with a delegate elected from each holdover Senatorial district, will meet in Sacramento on September 19 to nominate the national electors. If this convention should be controlled by Progressives, or those with Progressive tendencies, it would be still possible to repeat in 1916 the crime of 1912.

LAST HOPE GONE.

For this reason the Republicans of the State will be very likely to refuse to vote for any candidate in the August primary who is a known Progressive, or who carries a Progressive indorsement. With this goes the last hopes of the Progressive politicians to continue to be a power in California.

State Controller Chambers has been groomed as a possibility for Governor in 1918. He was formerly news editor of the Sacramento Bee and he has the support of the McClatchy following, but Chambers has also many friends among the assessors and county auditors of the State and he has been regarded in some circles as a possible "compromise" candidate. His own followers now admit that his chances will not be enhanced by this latest fancy of Gov. Johnson to still force his way into national politics.

Both Webb and Richardson have political ambitions and neither can see where any benefits can accrue from following the Governor further. But the question with them all is how to break away. They know that a public utterance would cause them to be laved with the venom of the Johnsonian tongue; yet it is apparent to them that to keep quiet is to suffer a death of slow asphyxiation. All of which adds to the gaiety of the northern Republicans who are not yet through celebrating their recent primary victory.

PNEUMATIC TUBE SERVICE FAVORED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Continuation of the pneumatic tube system of delivering mail in large cities was urged today before the Senate Postoffice Committee by representatives of the firms now operating in six cities where the system is in use.

An amendment to the Postoffice Appropriation Bill directing the Postmaster-General to make pneumatic contracts was urged. The amendment would permit the extension of tube delivery to Cleveland, Pittsburgh, New Orleans and San Francisco.

Border Conference.

asserted that Mr. McQuatters had been a former supporter of Huerta and later of Villa; that because of his mining interests in Mexico he held interventionistic tendencies, and that he had not preserved secrecy regarding proceedings at previous conferences.

CONFEREES EXCITED.

The discussion between Gen. Scott and Secretary Amador appeared exciting as viewed through the car windows. Amador shook his finger excitedly in Gen. Scott's face and Gen. Scott replied by waving a paper he held at the subsecretary.

When the Mexican official left it was with the impression that his objection had been overruled. Later in the day Andres Garcia, Mexican Consul in El Paso, wired Mexican Ambassador Arredondo at Washington to protest to Secretary of War Baker against Mr. McQuatters taking part in the negotiations again. Nevertheless when Gen. Obregon and Secretary Amador appeared at Gen. Scott's car about 5 o'clock Mr. McQuatters was on hand.

M'QUATTERS EXPLAINS.

Only a few minutes passed before Mr. McQuatters came out of the car, leaving the conference to proceed without him. He explained that objection to his presence by the Mexican conferees had caused him to decide to withdraw.

Much speculation was indulged in here regarding the action of Gov. Mireles of Coahuila in sending 1000 Carranza troops to the Big Bend district to hunt down the bandits who attacked Glenn Springs last Friday night. Military men are of the opinion that if a break in the relations between Mexico and the United States should ensue this force would be in a position to do serious execution along the border.

LOS ANGELES CORPS TO GO TO BORDER.

AUTO RESERVE SQUAD TO SEE DUTY AT EL PASO.

Twenty-five Men Leave Tonight in Motor Cars for Service in the Quartermaster's Department. Plans Made for Quick Mobilization of Local State Troops.

At midnight tonight a company of twenty-five men from the Los Angeles Automobile Reserve Corps will leave this city for a motor drive to El Paso. They go in response to a telegram sent by Maj. Elliott, depot quartermaster, U.S.A., at El Paso, to Al G. Waddell, lieutenant Automobile Reserve Corps, asking for this number of men.

The Los Angeles squadron has already sent to El Paso twenty-four men, and within a short time last evening arrangements were made for the full twenty-five more required at this time.

These men will be in charge of Lieut. L. P. Clark. It will take them five days to make the trip from Los Angeles to El Paso. The automobiles they use will then be returned here. The men will be civilian employees of the quartermaster's department, United States Army. They will receive $75 per month and rations.

There was no appropriation available for the payment of railroad fares for the men from the Los Angeles squadron to El Paso, so the motor trip was arranged.

Various activities are in progress in connection with the California section of the Automobile Reserve Corps, looking towards the speedy transportation of companies of the National Guard to armories in case of their being called into service.

Lieut. Owen R. Bird was at Santa Monica last night, conferring with Lieut. Herbert J. Simon of Co. E in regard to the speedy transfer of this company to the armory in Los Angeles, should occasion arise. It is planned to use eighteen automobiles for this purpose, and to make quick trips down and back from the beach town until all the men have been assembled at the armory here.

CHRISTIANITY OUR STRENGTH.

Gov. Whitman Cheered by Methodist Conference.

Credits Greatness of America to Her High Ideals.

Appeals to Ministers to Aid Work of Preparedness.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SARATOGA SPRINGS (N. Y.) May 9.—The principal matter today and that which awakened the greatest enthusiasm in the Methodist general conference, was the address of the Hon. Charles S. Whitman, Governor of New York. I subjoin this splendid speech which called out such stormy applause from the conference. These Methodists considered it a great State speech. It follows:

"I think that it is eminently fitting and proper that the Governor of this State should be permitted to welcome this splendid gathering and to [illegible] people, of the profound interest of all of our citizens, of the reception of all intelligent men and women of New York of what this [illegible] mination has been and has done for what it is and for what it is doing in the great State which you honor with your presence.

"The strength of nations, even as the strength of men, is not measured in terms in physical mastery, but in terms of the spirit.

OUR GREATNESS.

"If America is great, it is because of souls have been made to keep [illegible] with our minds, because we have permitted no fateful breach between our intellect and our ideals. [illegible] this greatness is to continue, if [illegible] conviction of high destiny is to be realized, there must be no lessening in the importance of our religious institutions, in the value of ideals, in the militancy of faith. More than ever before, the problems of life demand that religion shall be part and parcel of life, gaining new and more vital meanings with every day that passes.

"Christianity is a tremendous word. It is not to be limited by any creed or dogma. Its sweep is as wide as humanity, taking in all that civilization knows of honor and honesty and truth and justice. It is less the thing of the tongue that may utter prayer in public and more a thing of the soul that thrills to brotherhood. Nothing is so easy to talk, and nothing is so difficult to live.

"There is no place in this world of ours for a church that disdains the work of the world. Remoteness and [illegible] soon become almost useless.

"It is the history of Christiandom that the first that religious movements have been marked by interest in human conditions and by fearlessness of attack upon evils and upon [illegible]

DEEDS OF GREAT MEN.

"John Wesley, if you please, was a mere dreamer so concerned with abstractions that he had not time [illegible] thought for the realities. He saw beyond the stars, to be sure, but the [illegible] of his spirit flashed light into the dark places of the earth. With all his soul, he cried out against the oppressions that weighed down the cities as well as the minds of men. And this career is not intelligible unless considered as a great adventure [illegible] social reform, as well as in religious reform.

"Francis Asbury, who rode up and down the Atlantic seaboard for forty years, knowing poverty and privations, was in no sense the preacher of a detached theology. He pondered a duty to man as well as duty to God, and those who came within the sound of his voice went away with new conceptions of civic responsibility and a strengthened devotion to the State.

"It is not in the power of every individual to be a Wesley or an Asbury, but their ideals may be considered as common property, and the humblest minister in this denomination has it in his [illegible] to help people to understand the everydayness of the Christ. He is not remote, except as abstraction. I try to make him remote. It is by contact with humanity that I [illegible] urge upon the minister of all denominations today.

"We don't want them on the side lines; we want them in the game.

"More wistfulness is without [illegible] The preacher who refuses to take account of the world and its problems is sacrificing, it seems to me, an opportunity of service which comes to few men in this day and age.

"In the world conflict now raging, with its frightful destruction of life, the desolation of fair landscapes and the blows at the very foundations of civilization, we may perhaps see the consequences of fraternity debased and governments builded upon materialism rather than upon the eternal verities of the spirit.

OUR DUTY IN PEACE.

"The United States is at peace, and who may say that it is a peace without its dangers and alarms. Issues of tremendous import are pressing themselves and decisions that will be made that will have lasting effect not only upon our institutions, but upon our national character and our democracy's future. These issues and these decisions call for the best and fullest thought of the country, and the church and religious leaders throughout our land have the right to hold themselves aloof. I yield place to no man in my love of peace, but I stand against the proposition that no price is too great to pay for peace. I can conceive sacrifice of principle, duties and spiritual convictions that might make us know the death of the soul that is far more to be dreaded than the death of the body. Nor do I believe that Christianity itself is committed to any dogma of pacificism. Christianity is a fighting faith. Is it not true that we have let many of our words be led into a slavery of false meaning? When the think of peace, we think of the [illegible] and navies, conquest, invasion, [illegible] and blood letting, despair and desolation. Yet militarism may [illegible] the martial organization of a people for high and noble purposes, [illegible] fighting may be directed against [illegible] evil that men do, rather than against mankind itself.

CITY FATHERS UNFURL FLAG.

Patriotic Exercises Inaugurated by Seattle Council.

Ceremonies Witnessed by Full Lobbies of Citizens.

Service to be Observed as Part Order of Business.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) May 9.—Leaders of patriotic societies today generally expressed their pleasure over the ceremony of unfurling the American flag as the first order of business of the City Council, which was inaugurated yesterday afternoon at the first meeting in the Council Building. The exercises were under direction of Councilman Alphonse Haas, who, fifty-two years ago, rose to protect the emblem to the limit of his ability as a private in the Union army.

The ceremony was witnessed by a lobby filled with representatives of various patriotic organizations, and with the Council, saluted the flag and recited the oath of allegiance now familiar in virtually every public school of the land.

The flag was carried to the desk of the president, where it will rest at every meeting of the Council in the future, by A. T. Drake, chairman of the Finance Committee, who was a member of the Nineteenth Company Volunteer Signal Corps, in the Spanish-American War. Two stanzas of the national anthem were sung and President Haas then called upon representatives of the various patriotic organizations present for brief remarks. I. I. Blair spoke for the Sons of Veterans, C. A. Brindley for the United Spanish War Veterans, M. Kent for the Grand Army of the Republic, County Auditor Phelps for the Sons of the American Revolution, Mrs. A. J. Treen for the Daughters of the American Revolution, and Mrs. Emma Gill for the Daughters of Civil War Veterans.

TROOPS NOT NEEDED ON ARIZONA LINE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) May 9.—Gen. P. Elias Calles, military governor of Sonora, said today that he could see the reason for placing additional troops on the Texas, but none for calling the militia to the Arizona-New Mexico border.

"The Mexican government has plenty of troops in Sonora and Western Chihuahua to prevent raiders from crossing to the border," said Gen. Calles. He added:

"I do not believe that the rumors in Texas were Villa's men. I think that they were hired by the Carranza party or the interventionists to stir up sentiment in the United States and bring about a crisis."

Gen. Calles, who returned to Agua Prieta Monday, was retiewed about his trip to El Paso and his conference with Gen. Alvaro Obregon relative to the accession of Adolfo de la Huerta to the civil governorship of Sonora. Some of Carranza followers say enmity exists between De la Huerta and Calles.

CHRISTIANITY OUR STRENGTH.

Gov. Whitman Cheered by Methodist Conference.

Outlines Greatness of America in Her High Ideals.

Appeals to Ministers to Aid Work of Preparedness.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SARATOGA SPRINGS (N. Y.) May 9.—The principal matter today in that which awakened the greatest enthusiasm in the Methodist general conference, was the address of Governor Charles S. Whitman, Governor of New York. I subjoin this brief speech which called out the stormy applause from the conference. These Methodists considered it a great State speech. It follows:

"I think that it is eminently fitting and proper that the Governor of this State should be permitted to welcome this splendid gathering and to say to all here assembled of the welcome and the good wishes of all the people, of the profound interest of all our citizens, of the reverence of all intelligent men and women of New York of what this organization has been and has done and what it is and for what it is and for what the great State which you [illegible] with your presence.

"The strength of nations, even as the strength of men, is not measured terms in physical mastery, but terms of the spirit.

OUR GREATNESS.

"America is great, it is because [illegible] have been made to keep [illegible] our minds, because we [illegible] committed no fateful breach between our intellect and our ideals. If our greatness is to continue, if the election of high destiny is to [illegible], there must be no lessening [illegible] the importance of our religious institutions, in the value of [illegible] the militancy of faith. [illegible] that ever before, the problems [illegible] demand that religion shall be [illegible] all parcel of life, gaining new [illegible] vital meanings with every [illegible] the passing.

"To help to bring about this unity is peculiarly the task of religious preachers and teachers.

"And by your splendid past and present, by the splendid service which you have rendered to the State and the land in the years that have gone by, we measure the things that you are abundantly able to do and the things you are yet to do for America and for humanity."

CRITICISE CHURCH.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MINNEAPOLIS (Minn.) May 9.—Churches which fail to extend to women members the right of a voice in their affairs were criticised by delegates to the Mississippi Valley suffrage conference today.

A Missouri delegate declared that the pastor of her church had gone so far as to "talk against woman suffrage almost every Sunday from the pulpit."

"What did you do about it?" demanded a score of delegates.

"Quit the church," was the reply, and the hall rang with cheers and clapping of hands. No action was taken on the matter.

Columbus, O., was selected for next year's meeting.

FANCY PRICES FOR TICKETS.

Enormous Demand for Seats at G.O.P. Convention.

Everybody Wants to See Next President Nominated.

Influx of Visitors Expected to Shatter Records.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, May 9.—From the pile of mail that was stacked high all over his office today, Fred W. Upham, chairman of the Chicago committee that brought the Republican National Convention to this city, extracted a letter.

The letter made an offer of $10,000 for 100 seats for the convention that will assemble in Chicago June 7 to name the candidate of the Republican party for President.

"The demand for tickets of admission to the convention is enormous," said Mr. Upham, surveying the piles upon piles of letters which awaited his return in Chicago. "We are getting at least a bushel of mail a day and almost every letter asks for seats. I've been connected with the Chicago committee that has handled four National Republican Conventions and I never saw anything like the demand for tickets that there is for this year. It is four times as great as ever before."

Mr. Upham returned today from a short vacation spent in French Lick to fit himself for the strenuous work of the next few weeks. He took off his coat, rolled up his sleeves and went to work early.

INFLUX OF VISITORS.

Predictions have been made that the national convention of the Republicans will bring at least 60,000 visitors to Chicago for convention week, and from the looks of the mail in Mr. Upham's office today it would seem that the number might well be twice 60,000.

"The feeling seems to prevail," said Mr. Upham, "that the man named at the convention for the Presidency will be the next President of the United States, and this, I think, accounted in some measure for the big demand for tickets. Then, too, the situation is uncertain—more uncertain that ever before such a short time before the convention. No one seems to know who will be nominated and this has added to the interest in the gathering.

"As far as the Chicago committee is concerned, the ticket situation is this: It cost us $100,000 to bring the convention to Chicago. Our allotment of tickets is 2210. These will be sold for the regular price of $50 a ticket. The money will make good the money that it cost to bring the convention to Chicago. No offers of fancy prices will have any effect on me. I've got no political debts to pay. The tickets are a strict business proposition and will be handled as such."

Down at the Coliseum the work of getting the big hall in shape for the convention continued today at top speed. The force of workmen has increased and the Coliseum and Annex were both scenes of activity. William F. Stone, sergeant-at-arms of the National Committee, expects to be able to open his offices in the Annex on Thursday morning. At that time the rooms to be occupied by Chairman Hilles and Secretary Gleason will be ready. Mr. Stone's secretary, James E. Godwin of Baltimore, will be in Chicago tomorrow to remain until after the convention.

FIVE MEN KILLED AT POWDER PLANT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 9.—Five workmen were killed in the explosion today in the plant of the Atlas Powder Company at the end of Lake Hopatcong, according to a statement issued late today by President W. J. Webster, who made no estimate of the number of injured. The statement in part follows:

"The explosion at our Forcite (N. J.) plant was in the dynamite mixing department. The operations are carried on in a number of small buildings, and four of these were destroyed. The damage was confined entirely to a section of the plant working on regular domestic commercial operations. The entire loss is fully covered by insurance and replacement will be made promptly."

TWO MORE SHIPS ARE TORPEDOED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Lloyd's reports, forwarded to the State Department today by Ambassador Page at London, said the Swedish schooner Harold of Gothenburg was torpedoed on May 5 and the French bark Maria Malinos on May 3. The crew of the Malinos was given fifteen minutes to abandon the bark and was picked up by a steamer eighteen hours later. The bark Memento of Brevig for England, with a cargo of timber, was reported to have been set afire by a German submarine on May 2.

VENIZELOS' VOTE NEARLY UNANIMOUS.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

ATHENS, May 9 (via Paris.)—At a bye-election in Eastern Macedonia yesterday Constantine Jourdanou, a Greek of the Venizelos party, a candidate for the Chamber of Deputies, received in Kavala 35 per cent. of the vote cast.

The success of former Premier Venizelos, a strong supporter of the Entente allies in the Mytilene election, was of a pronounced order. He received 98 per cent. of the total possible vote, running unopposed.

The Greek Liberals have formally announced that none of the elected candidates will take their seats in the present chamber, the existence of which the Liberals consider unconstitutional.

LIQUOR DEALERS TO UPHOLD LAW.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) May 9.—Regulation of the liquor traffic must be continued by the members of the National Wholesale Liquor Dealers' Association of America, and even greater efforts will be made for upholding the law, declared President Samuel Woolner of Peoria, Ill., at the opening of the association's twenty-first annual convention here today. Mr. Woolner declared that the prohibition wave was gradually receding and in support of this statement cited Vermont's defeat of prohibition.

Levi Cooke of Washington, D. C., general counsel of the association, discussed "Public Policy" in relation to the liquor question. C. A. Windle of Chicago talked on prohibition and what it involves. He insisted moderation would be secured only through the individual and not by sumptuary legislation. The convention will end Thursday.

SABIN RESIGNS AS TRUST HEAD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 9.—The confirmation today by Frank A. Vanderlip, chairman of the American International Corporation, of the report that Charles H. Sabin, president of the Guaranty Trust Company, had resigned from the corporation, created great interest in financial circles.

Mr. Vanderlip said Mr. Sabin had resigned because of an overlapping of interests, which was interpreted to refer to the fact that the Guaranty Trust Company has financed the ship-owning firm of Gaston, Williams and Wigmore, which recently announced plans for establishing world-wide trade routes, similar to those being promoted by the American International Corporation.

The American International Corporation, which has direct affiliations with the National City Bank, organized a few months ago, already owns outright a large part of the fleet now used in the trans-Pacific by the Pacific Mail Company, also holds stock in the International Mercantile Marine Company, and is credited with having acquired a large block of the stock of the United Fruit Company.

DENIES OPPOSITION TO BORDER PLANS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

MEXICO CITY, May 9.—Foreign Minister Aguilar at the Foreign Office this morning denied that the Constitutional government had, as reported, officially declared that measures would be taken to prevent the further crossing of American troops into Mexico as a result of the Glenn Springs raid.

A statement that the government had made such a declaration was published in a morning newspaper here as being an official expression of the government, sbut according to the Foreign Office it was without proper authorization. When the time comes, it was indicated the Mexican government will express itself on this point.

SUSPECTS MANY MURDERS.

Police Investigate Deaths in Old Folks' Home at Windsor.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

HARTFORD (Conn.) May 9.—Hartford county authorities and the State police today continued their investigations of the death of Franklin R. Andrews of Cheshire and other inmates of the Archer Home for Elderly People at Windsor. Mrs. Amye Archer-Calligan, proprietor of the home, is under arrest charged with Andrews's murder. An autopsy, it is charged, shows that poison had been administered to him. Mrs. Calligan denies any connection with the death.

According to the authorities secret autopsies performed on the bodies of two other inmates have indicated that other deaths there of the forty-eight which have occurred in the last five years may not have been due to natural causes. In two bodies, it is alleged, indications of poisoning were found.

Patients were received at the home under two plans, that of payment of $1000 which provided for life care, and that of payment for a stipulated sum weekly. Andrews paid for life care.

The authorities have learned, it is said, that the accused woman bought in large quantities a certain poison of which traces were found in the bodies examined.

Los Angeles City Officials Endorse Times Visual Educational Campaign.

Citizens in all walks of life support movement for equipping our schools with Pathescope Motion-picture Projectors.

City officials, civic organizations, fraternal societies, prominent men and women in all walks of life are unstinted in their praise and support of the great campaign for visual education recently inaugurated by The Times through the co-operation of the instructors and Parent-Teacher Associations of Southern California.

Read what they have to say:

"I believe that every school, in fact, every school room, should be equipped with a Pathescope."—C. J. McCormick, member School Board.

"Your plan is both commendable and feasible."—Prof. Reed, Principal Boyle Heights Intermediate School.

"A wonderful opportunity for equipping our schools with the motion picture machine."—Principal Knappen, Hollywood School for Girls.

"In spite of the fact that our School Board has been unable to make the necessary appropriation, we have never wavered in our efforts to secure a motion-picture projector, and now at last the way is open for not only our school, but every school in Southern California to obtain one of these valuable mediums of thought expression."—Principal Wickersham, Fifth-street School, San Pedro.

Chief of Police Snively. Prof. Lorin A. Handley. Mayor Sebastian. Estelle L. Lindsey.

I am heartily in sympathy with the movement to make visual education a feature in the Public Schools of Los Angeles.

Chief of Police.

A worthy cause deserving of the united support of the citizens of Los Angeles.

Lorin A. Handley
President, Los Angeles Board of Works.

I heartily endorse your campaign for Visual Education.

Estelle L. Lindsley

Every man and woman in Southern California should be interested in this movement for equipping our schools with the Motion Picture Projector.

Felton Pope

I regard your proposal to supply the Public Schools of Los Angeles with Motion Pictures as commendable and worthy of the support of every one interested in the welfare of our Educational Institutions.

G. Ed Sebastian
Mayor of Los Angeles.

These endorsements and hundreds of others are pouring into The Times Educational Department every day. Never has there been such a spontaneous outburst of general approval as that which followed the opening announcement of The Times Visual Educational Campaign in last Sunday's issue. Letters of commendation from far and near are arriving by the score, and a beaten path has been worn from the various school districts to The Times Building by teachers, scholars and parent-teachers bringing in the necessary subscriptions.

When you become acquainted with the merits of this wonderful machine, you will not rest until you have performed your full duty toward securing one for your school.

GUARDSMEN OUT FOR RECRUITS

Crown City Company Stirred to Unusual Activity.

Newcomer Joins the Altadena Millionaire Colony.

Mansion to be Built Upon Site of Five Acres.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, May 10.—With rumors that the National Guard of California may next be called out to patrol the Mexican border, an effort was yesterday begun to recruit up Co. I, Seventh Regiment, of this city, to full strength, or an enrollment of sixty-eight men. There are now only forty-four on the muster roll.

Capt. Bert Muzzy yesterday stationed a recruiting officer at the armory with the statement that he would be kept there nightly until the needed recruits have been secured. It is not believed this will require very long.

Co. I, though low in membership, is in unusually good condition. At a recent election Capt. Muzzy was named to succeed Capt. C. H. Hunt, who for many years had been the company commander. However, Capt. Hunt is still giving of his wide experience and skill toward perfecting the efficiency of the company.

The number of drill nights is to be increased. There will now be regular drill each Monday at the armory and extra drills will be ordered whenever it is deemed advisable.

Ever since the rifle range was established in La Canada over a year ago, National Guardsmen of this city have been assiduously practicing, and their marksmanship has reached high proficiency.

ANOTHER HOME-BUYER.

F. W. Sewell, a son of the late Garton Sewell, president of the American Smelting and Refining Company, has purchased a site for a home in Altadena, thus becoming the latest addition to the local millionaire colony. The property, which is a five-acre tract on Holliston avenue, between Rubio and Palm streets, was bought from W. D. Valentine for a consideration of $20,000. It is the intention of the purchaser soon to break ground for a mansion to cost upwards of $40,000. It will be one of the show places of Altadena, which is fast becoming one of the most attractive districts of homes of wealthy persons in the country.

The house will be of the Spanish renaissance type and will be constructed of hollow tile and stucco. There will be a large oval hall with a spiral staircase, making the interior of the house as imposing as any in the city.

The funeral of Dr. Horace Gaylord, for many years a resident of this city, who died Monday afternoon at the home of his father, John D. Gaylord, in Alhambra, will be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the chapel of Turner & Stevens. Dr. Gaylord, who was 39 years old, came to Pasadena in 1891, moving later to San Bernardino. Ill health compelled him to give up his practice there several months ago, when he went to the home of his father.

Chairman A. L. Hamilton of the Pasadena City Commission yesterday made the opening address at a Chautauqua, which was begun yesterday to continue for nearly two weeks, the meetings to be held in a large tent in Library Park. Indications are that it will be largely attended both by Pasadenans and those from nearby places, as preparations have been in the making for several weeks. The principal lecture yesterday was made by Dr. Thomas E. Green, on "The Forces that Fail." J. M. Erickson, who presides, also spoke yesterday, his subject being, "The Jester in the Law."

Funeral services for Mrs. Abbie Townsley Hughes, 81 years old, who died at her home at No. 1225 Topeka street at midnight Monday, will be conducted at the residence at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The body will later be taken to Elizabeth, N. J., where it will be buried beside that of her late husband, Rev. George Hughes, a Methodist minister, who was secretary of the Ocean Grove Camp Meeting Association. She leaves two daughters and a son. They are Miss Jennie V. Hughes, a Methodist missionary to China, who returned to Pasadena last year because of her mother's illness, and Mrs. M. W. Davis of Pasadena, and Rev. George M. Hughes of Union City, Pa.

RIVER DISCHARGE LESS.

DOUBLE ATTEMPT TO MARRY FAILS.

[DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA ANA, May 9.—Dewey S. Medearis has found nothing but failures in his attempt to marry Madge Isabel Coomes. He and the girl live at Escondido. Each is 18 years old. Yesterday he rode here on a motorcycle with the written consent of his mother, Lulu L. Medearis, for the issuance of a license. His plan was to get the license and have the girl come here later for the wedding. Because the consent was not sworn to, the license was refused.

Last night County Clerk Williams received a wire from Probation Officer Blair of San Diego directing that no license be issued to Medearis and Miss Coomes. Today Medearis appeared with a consent duly sworn to. Deputy Sheriff Eells took him into custody on instructions from the San Diego probation officer, who also asked that the girl be held. She was to come here on the train to meet Medearis and be married. But Sheriff Jackson has been watching for her in vain.

RE-FORM RANKS OF GRAND ARMY

Nearly Two Thousand Attend Division Encampment.

Allied Organizations Active While Veterans Meet.

City Extends Hearty Welcome to Patriotic Invaders.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BAKERSFIELD, May 9.—The forty-ninth annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, Division of California and Nevada, and affiliated organizations formally convened here this morning. Nearly 2000 delegates and visitors are present. The morning was spent in seating delegates and the afternoon in routine matters of the following organizations in their various halls: G.A.R., Woman's Relief Corps, Ladies of the G.A.R., Daughters of G.A.R., United Spanish War Veterans, Sons of Veterans' Auxiliary and Daughters of Veterans.

Tonight a reception for the visitors was held in the Armory. The welcoming speech being made by Mayor George Hay, with Fred Hall, president of the Chamber of Commerce, the chairman. Responses were made by Hiram P. Thompson of San Diego, Commander of the Department, Grand Army, and Brig.-Gen. Wankowski of Los Angeles, commander of the Spanish War Veterans.

TO DISMISS SCHOOLS.

Tomorrow morning a grand parade will be held and city schools will be dismissed in order that the children may carry flags and do honor to the patriots. Hundreds of automobiles have been furnished for a sightseeing trip in the afternoon. Tomorrow night a ball will be given in the Armory, exclusively for delegates, and dances popular in Civil War times will be featured.

Elections will be held Thursday and in many positions there is much rivalry for honors. Candidates from one end of the State find delegates from the other end supporting a rival candidate.

There is a spirited campaign for the election of a successor to Mrs. Clara Holland of Los Angeles, president of the Women's Relief Corps. Two candidates for the place are Mrs. Ellen Carlin of Long Beach and Mrs. Carrie L. Hoyt of Berkeley. Mrs. Holland is mentioned for president of the national body.

The Los Angeles Fife and Drum Corps has been popular, its shrill music and spirited drumming giving an appropriate martial air to the occasion.

NEW DAYS EMPHASIZED.

Forty-eight veterans had one of the crowning experiences of their lives, which contrasted greatly with the days they are now recalling by coming up from Los Angeles in automobile stages over the Ridge Route, making in a few hours a trip that would have required as many days in their fighting years.

E. O. Langford, a veteran of Los Angeles, brought a bride to the convention. He brought to culmination an ancient romance by marrying Mrs. H. C. Stewart, the date being set so that this trip could be their honeymoon, and the two are receiving considerable notice.

A. E. Levitt of San Francisco and George D. Kellogg of Newcastle are mentioned as next department commanders. T. A. Metcalf of this city is likely to become senior vice commander.

The Spanish War Veterans in their opening session passed resolutions in favor of mother and orphan pensions as proposed in House bill 54, and in favor of civil service preferment and civil service retirement bills. The ladies' auxiliary passed similar resolutions.

Oakland and Bay cities are working for the 1917 encampment of the Grand Army, and Eureka delegates are out for the Spanish War Veterans' encampment.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

INDIGNANT BEES ROUT CONSTABLE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

EAST HIGHLAND, May 9.—Constable J. A. Rivera of Redlands township paid a visit to the Santa Ana River "wash" near here yesterday to attach some property in a case in which Louis S. Fletcher is the plaintiff. Mr. Rivera did not attach the property, for before he had a chance to do so the property attached him. The property consists largely of bees, and Constable Rivera was severely stung.

The owner of the apiary had been working among the bees and had them stirred up to a fighting point. He was covered with mosquito netting and when Constable Rivera announced he proposed to attach the property the owner shouted, "Come ahead." The constable was not protected and the bees considered him easy prey. The constable retreated, but he now proposes to visit the apiary at night, stop up the hives and so remove the stands when the bees are helpless.

SCION OF WEALTH NEAR DEATH FROM SHOOTING.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA MONICA, May 9.—Every stratagem known to medical science is being exerted to save the life of W. E. Andrews, 28 years old and son of A. C. Andrews, a wealthy grain merchant of Minneapolis. The young man is said to have shot himself twice this morning while a servant and he were alone in a house at No. 145 Alta avenue.

Suffering from what Dr. A. G. Fewell, a physician of Minneapolis sent here by the elder Mr. Andrews to care for his son, calls "extreme nervousness," the young man is believed to have attempted suicide. There is also a possibility of an accidental shooting.

According to Dr. Fewell, Mr. Andrews, Sr., sent his son to Santa Monica and engaged a house on Alta avenue, a servant and a cousin of Dr. Fewell, W. S. Fewell, to tutor the young man and act as his companion, while Dr. Fewell was to look after his physical welfare. This was four years ago.

The father was communicated with today by wire and is believed to have started westward. This morning Dr. Fewell and his cousin were in Los Angeles. The servant, hearing two shots in the drawing-room of the house, hurried in and found the young man lying on the floor.

Both bullets had entered the lungs and the heart was grazed. Dr. C. P. Thomas and Dr. I. L. Magee have been in consultation most of the day on the case and are making an unusual effort to save the young man's life. At St. Catherine's Hospital tonight Mr. Andrews was said to be hovering between life and death.

CLAIMS PROMISED TROTH WAS BROKEN

LONG BEACH WIDOW DEMANDS BIG HEART BALM.

Bride of Walter M. Curtiss, Real Estate Operator, Defends Him and Declares Her Faith Unshaken in Spite of Other Woman's Charges and Suit.

"I would spend all my fortune, if necessary, to beat that woman. I have perfect faith in my husband, and we do not propose to allow Mrs. Ferguson to collect any money from him. She now owes him quite a um of money."

This was the statement of Mrs. Walter M. Curtiss of No. 237 Cedar street, Long Beach, last evening, regarding the $30,000 breach of promise suit filed yesterday by Mrs. Clara L. Ferguson against Dr. Curtiss.

Mr. Curtiss refused to talk about the case, except to say that Mrs. Ferguson would have a mighty hard time collecting any $30,000 from him, as he was living in a $11 a month apartment.

Mr. Curtiss was married to the present Mrs. Curtiss last Christmas. She was Mrs. Anna Taylor, a wealthy widow from Missouri, and has a son who is a member of the State Legislature there. Mr. Curtiss is understood to own considerable real estate at Long Beach.

Walter M. Curtiss was a widower, aged 65. Mrs. Clara L. Ferguson was a widow, aged 47. Both had been bereaved within one year, and when they met in Long Beach, the story goes, mutual sympathy was exchanged. The sympathy, according to Mrs. Ferguson, turned to the sentimental, and finally, she says, Mr. Curtiss asked her to marry him.

Mrs. Ferguson was not loth and gave her hand to the prosperous Long Beach real estate operator. It was the love of a mature woman. But she alleges that while the date was fixed for various times, Mr. Curtiss postponed the happy event, finally informing her that he did not intend to make her Mrs. Curtiss.

Under this alleged promise to marry, Mrs. Ferguson makes a more serious charge, which has humiliated her, she says, and broken her health. Yesterday through Attorney H. F. Davis, she filed suit for $30,000 damages, setting up the alleged promise to marry and the further fact that Mr. Curtiss married Mrs. Taylor.

Mrs. Ferguson claims she gave her promise to Mr. Curtiss June 15, 1905, and since that time until he married Mrs. Taylor, she has been ready and willing to become Mrs. Curtiss.

DISAGREED ON ROAD CONTROL.

Supervisors at Loggerheads Over County Highways.

Old Wound Reopened by Move to Give to State.

Commercial Bodies Argue for Contemplated Action.

The matter of turning over paved county highways to State control, which has been a sore subject with the Board of Supervisors in the past, was resurrected yesterday, when the question came up of placing a stretch of the Foothill boulevard, running through San Gabriel Valley, under the supervision of the State Highway Commission.

Representatives from several San Gabriel Valley communities appeared to request further explanation. Supervisor Norton bitterly opposed the turning over of the highway, alleging that such an action will bring about the loss of the auto vehicle tax now coming to the county, it all being ultimately taken over by the State.

He said that only the retention of the bulk of this tax had made possible the upkeep of the many highways built under bond in Los Angeles county. "Unless we are given a positive guarantee that the State will keep up the road as well or better, than we are doing now, I shall always oppose such a measure," he said.

Several members of the board did not coincide with his views, declaring that the State had made every possible effort to repair its roads during the recent flood trouble and in many instances this was completed long before that of the county. Carl McStay of the Automobile Club of Southern California called attention to a number of specific instances in which the State's maintenance department had done work on county roads, making them passable, without calling on the county for monetary assistance.

"If it had not been for the efficient service rendered by the State Highway Commission in putting in a bridge over the Santa Marguerita Creek in San Diego county, it would be impossible even at this time to get to San Diego from Los Angeles over one route," he said.

John S. Mitchell, president of the Chamber of Commerce, spoke along the same line and pointed to the rapid work accomplished on the State highway between Ontario and Riverside after the winter storms. "In forty-eight hours the maintenance crew in that section had put the highway into fine repair, which indicated that the State Highway Commission is not only willing, but pretty well able to handle problems of this character when they arise."

Supervisor Norton expressed surprise that Mr. Mitchell should favor State control of highways over county control. A representative from Pomona argued in favor of continued county control.

In order that the matter may be thoroughly investigated by the civic leaders and organizations of the towns which will be affected by any change in supervision, the matter was put on the calendar for June 19. At that time it is probable representatives of the State Highway will be present.

HELD FOR TRIAL.
C. F. Wells was held Monday to the Superior Court by Justice Hanby on a charge of passing worthless checks. Wells is alleged to have issued the fictitious paper last October and to have victimized a local tailoring firm. Detective G. W. Perdue, with offices in the Wesley Roberts Building, made the arrest, after a long search. According to the detective, Wells has been in the same trouble before and has been repudiated by his relatives.

THROW AWAY YOUR HAIR DYES

Use Q-Ban Instead—It Is Harmless, No Dye, but Darkens Gray Hair So Evenly No One Can Tell.

All your gray hair then turns a beautiful dark shade, and entire head of hair becomes evenly dark, wavy, soft, fluffy, abundant, thick and charming—just as hair appeared when you were 16 or 18 years old. Q-Ban is a ready-to-use delightful hair color restorer, perfectly harmless, but applied 2 or 3 times a week, besides darkening gray hair, makes scalp healthy and clean, stops dandruff and falling hair and promotes its growth. WATERY PIMPLES ON MY FACE

Developed Into Hard Pimples. Large and Irritated. Face Was in an Awful Condition.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"I first noticed watery pimples on my face which began to develop into hard pimples, and they would disappear into the skin and would then leave marks upon my face. The pimples were large and running water all the time and they festered and irritated. My face was in an awful condition.

"I ran across a Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertisement in a magazine so I tried it. I first bathed my face well with Cuticura Soap and then spread the Ointment on and in about a week's time they disappeared altogether and I was entirely well." MAYOR TO TAKE CHARGE; MAYBE.

Says Council's Making Fools of Itself "Investigating."

Some of Solons Object to His Honor Mixing In.

Sprinkling Chile Con Carnage Goes Merrily On.

Bow Sebastian threw a literary cocktail into the midst of the Efficiency Commission hearing last night by announcing that by virtue of the general supervisorial powers vested upon him by the charter, he will at once assume the conduct of a thorough and impartial investigation into all of the matters in the case now before the Council.

The farce-comedy that has been running the time of the Council, the Efficiency Commission and the Board of Public Works for the last week is declared by the Mayor to be an "unwarrantable waste" and he says the Council has made itself absurd by pretending to sit in judgment upon itself and attempting to pass upon the charges made against it by a subordinate body.

The Mayor's message came at the dramatic moment when Director Hoiles was vigorously protesting against a proposal made by Councilman Wheeler that Mr. Burks be allowed extemporaneously to read and deliver a summary of his case, covering twenty-two pages of testimony and cross-examination.

Councilman Betkouski remarked that as the letter was addressed to the Council and not to the committee of the whole, and, therefore it must be filed with the Council this morning before it can be considered.

OBJECT TO ENTRANCE.

Councilman Topham moved adjournment, but Councilman Conwell, insisted that the Council was within its rights, voted "no" and Councilman Wheeler suggested a recess for fifteen minutes in executive session. After twenty minutes in executive session, in which certain members hinted that the Mayor had no right or authority to enter into the committee of the whole, the Council returned with the understanding that the letter is to be presented to the Council this morning and referred to the City Attorney for an opinion on the Mayor's rights in the matter.

During the night session Councilman Wheeler asked Mr. Burks to submit the entire case and close his statement forthwith. Mr. Burks replied to the fifteen specific charges made against him by President Handley, every one of which Mr. Burks said, was absolutely untrue and had not been supported by a scintilla of evidence.

"Is this America or is it Russia?" shouted Mr. Burks. "Is this the twentieth century or is it the fifth century? Here I stand as a man against whom fifteen charges have been hurled without a word of evidence to substantiate them and I will not be forced by any man or body of men to defend myself against such misstatements without evidence. Now it's up to Mr. Handley to make good on his charges with something besides talk.

"FIFTEEN LIES!"

"If it were parliamentary, which it is not, I would say right here that every one of those fifteen statements made by Mr. Handley is a damned lie!" roared Mr. Burks. "I give him credit for too much intelligence not to know that his statements are not proven. I don't ask this Council to take my word for a thing in my reply. I can prove it and all I want is for Mr. Handley to make good on those fifteen lies."

Mr. Handley said that he has been too busy with the work of his office to prepare written statements, but he offered to present an argument and cite official records to substantiate his charges. Mr. Burks insised that it was not a question of argument, but one of facts, and no amount of argument could establish the truth or falsity of the statements on either side.

City Asks Right to Exempt Two Phones from its Prepayment Ordinance.

An application from the city of Los Angeles for the exemption of two telephones, one at the City Hall and the other at the Hall of Records, from the provisions of the prepayment ordinance passed by the City Council, was filed yesterday with the State Railroad Commission.

The exemption, if granted, says the city's application, will be with the understanding that the two telephones only will be used for the transaction of city or county business.

Since the passing of the prepayment ordinance, at the behest of the telephone companies, the city has found that it tied the thing up too tight. This application is a confession of it.

New Bill for Flood Control Given Approval.

Is not to Nullify Baker Act, but be Alternative.

New State Department Sought by Convention.

Provisions for a new bill providing for flood control were indorsed by delegates from the nine counties of Southern California who met at the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce yesterday. Under this bill districts will be formed and the people assessed according to benefits in contradistinction to the Baker bill, which taxes everybody alike. The suggestions will be submitted to the water problems conference, which meets in San Francisco tomorrow.

It was resolved, however, that Los Angeles county flood control district can proceed with its work under the present law so that one law shall not conflict with the other, but shall be alternative. It was further resolved that this proposed new law shall not be considered to supersede or nullify any existing act.

The alternative action was decided upon as a means to end a wrangle which lasted for two hours. It was asserted that the convention really had been called by Los Angeles people who were interested in defeating the Baker bill. Francis Tuttle of Riverside calmed those who indignantly expressed this view by saying that he took the initiative and it did not come from Los Angeles people at all.

LEAVES IT OPEN.

Sidney A. Butler, who presided, said if a new bill could be drawn up without interfering with the provisions of the Baker bill or any other measure he was sure there would be no objections. The effect of the action taken is to leave it open to Los Angeles county to work under the new bill, if it gets through the Legislature, or the Baker bill.

The new bill is to provide the legal machinery for the formation by initiative of flood control districts, each district to contain one complete watershed. A district may comprise part or all of one or more counties.

The right of protest is to be properly safeguarded. It is to be provided that when any special assessment roll is made property owners assessed shall have the right and opportunity to protest, and no roll shall be approved to which a majority in amount of assessment has filed objection.

The special assessment on the property of each individual, corporation or municipality is to be in the proportion that the total cost bears to the estimated special benefit to be derived. District bonds are to be issued to cover the cost of the improvement. These are to have the same measure of approval by the State as is now imposed on irrigation district bonds and securities.

NEW DEPARTMENT URGED.

So important is flood control and so vast are the sums involved that it is urged a separate department of the State engineering office be created, to be known as the flood control department, the head of which shall be an assistant State engineer. In other words, it is asked that a department of flood control be formed and put on the same basis as the highway department. The convention was told by Engineer F. E. Trask that the ultimate idea ought to be to have an engineers' organization composed of from three to five of the best men, who should act as a consulting board to which the individual problems could be referred.

The new bill is to provide for financial co-operation between the flood control districts, the State of California and the Federal government, and also for expert assistance from those governments which will not involve administrative control.

CONCRETE PROPOSITION.

The bill drawn in pursuance of these recommendations will be submitted to the convention at a future meeting to be called by the chair. The Southern Counties Flood Control Association will then have a concrete proposition to discuss before it is submitted to the Legislature. At that meeting any municipalities or organizations which were overlooked in sending out the call for the convention may have representatives present.

The proposed new act will apply to the whole State, and Engineer Trask said he believed the sum of $50,000,000 would be needed before this work was finished. He warned the association it must be prepared for a good deal of experimental work and to pay for it.

Engineer Leeds said if the Legislature would look upon this problem in its broadest, truest sense, it would find it was one of the most important in the State. The only way the people could get together in this county or in Southern California, or in the entire State, was not to have too positive opinions.

WOMAN MAKES HERSELF FELT.

Through Her Club Women will be Specially Invited to Flood Meetings.

Mrs. H. W. R. Strong, chairman of the Flood Control Committee of the Whittier Chamber of Commerce, was one woman in a roomful of men at the meeting of the Southern Counties Flood Control Association yesterday. And she was very indignant because there were not other women present.

She did not blame her own sex for that but said there had been discrimination in not asking women's organizations to send delegates to the meetings.

"I protest against women having no voice here in making this flood control law," she said. "Women are citizens; they are not as they were twenty years ago."

The association quickly yielded to Mrs. Strong's oratory. "I feel she is fully justified in the complaint she has made," said President Sidney A. Butler.

By unanimous vote Secretary A. A. Dudley was instructed to send invitations to the different women's clubs of the nine southern counties to attend the next conference.

Two Hundred and Forty Lots in Santa Monica Exchanged for Thousand Acres in San Joaquin Valley—Lots to be Put on Market.

Two hundred and forty lots within the city limits of Santa Monica were transferred yesterday by the Wilshire Boulevard Syndicate, a corporation comprised of Los Angeles and Santa Monica capitalists, to J. B. Harker of Long Beach in exchange for 1000 acres in the San Joaquin Valley, owned by the latter. No consideration is named in the deal, which was negotiated by Charles M. Conant of the Conant-Winstanley Company.

The beach property is located in one body, being bounded on the west by Twenty-first street, on the north by Montana avenue, on the east by Twenty-sixth street and on the south by Washington avenue. The land adjoins the Wilshire boulevard tract and is in the immediate vicinity of Gillette's Regent Square, Brentwood Place, Fairmount Villa and other well-known subdivisions of the Santa Monica district.

The lots will at once be placed upon the market by the new owner, the sales activities being conducted by the Conant-Winstanley Company.

WARNS AGAINST MAGONS

May Assist in Killing Some Other Good Americans, Says United States District-Attorney in Opposing Reduction in Ricardo's Bond.

When the motion is renewed before Judge Trippet in the United States District Court this morning that the bail of Ricardo Flores Magon, who was indicted with his brother, Enrique Flores Magon, on the charge of inciting sedition, be reduced from $5000 to $2500, it will be met with vigorous opposition from the office of the United States District Attorney.

Assistant United States District Attorney Moody stated yesterday that no matter what the report of the government physician, Dr. E. H. Garrett, may be, he will not favor any reduction of the bond.

"Many copies of 'Regeneracions' are sent to Columbus, N. M.," he stated, "and we have information that the attack on the 'Gringoes,' on the morning of March 9, was in a measure due to the teachings of the seditious sheet: If Magon was dying I would oppose a reduction of the bond. If he is released on a smaller bond he is likely to assist in the killing of some other good Americans through the inflammatory utterances of his paper."

COMMITTEE'S NAMED TO HASTEN TUNNEL PROJECT.

THE earnestness and dispatch with which the City Council is responding to the general demand for early action on the Second-street tunnel was attested anew yesterday when Councilman Topham, as chairman of the Public Works Committee, asked W. W. Mines, president of the Los Angeles Realty Board to appoint a special committee of real estate men to co-operate with the city officials, the Second-street Tunnel Association and other organizations working on the plan in the securing of data necessary to facilitate the project.

Mr. Mines announced last night the appointment of the following men: Gilbert S. Wright, chairman; Eugene P. Clark, H. S. Moore, F. W. Flint, Jr., and O. E. Farish. Mr. Mines stated that he had purposely made his committee as representative as possible. Mr. Wright and Mr. Clark were among the leaders in the fight for the now abandoned open cut from First to Second street. Mr. Moore and Mr. Flint were two of the strongest opponents of that enterprise. Mr. Farish was among the neutrals.

"It will be the purpose of this committee to smooth the way for action," said the Realty Board head. "The men comprising it will conduct a thorough investigation into the requirements in the way of extra land for a new street bordering the tunnel approach retaining wall between Hill and Olive, ascertaining as nearly as possible just what ground is required and what the owners want for it. They will also look into the question of easements for widening the tunnel over the width of Second street as at present dedicated and will study the situation with respect to possible damages. They will do all this in the shortest possible time and will then present a report."

Mr. Mines expressed the belief that the regular Appraisal Committee of the Realty Board, as a disinterested body of experts, should be entrusted with the work of fixing definite values for the land needed and damages to those in any way injured. He declared that by following the plans suggested the preliminaries could all be cleared away by the time the revised tunnel plans were completed.

Dr. J. H. Bullard Asks for Right of Administration of Local Estate of His Uncle, Who Recently Died in Massachusetts.

Dr. J. H. Bullard filed a petition yesterday for letters of administration on the estate of his uncle, John Anson Bullard, who died in Suffolk county, Mass., January 16, last. The petition states that the purported will of John Anson Bullard has been offered for probate in Massachusetts; that the estate in Los Angeles county is in excess of $20,000, and that the property here needs attention.

SEEMS CASE OF DOUBLE BIGAMY.

Here's "Triangle" Worse than a Jig-saw Puzzle.

Man's Arrested Once for Each Alleged Girl Bride.

One Repudiates; One Clings; Mother Near Death.

The marital tangle into which Edmund Mansfield, 22 years old, was thrown a few days ago, deepened remarkably yesterday, when he was arrested for the second time in two weeks, charged with bigamy, this time on a warrant sworn to in Santa Ana by Mrs. Kathryn Mansfield, who declares she is wife No. 1. At the time of the arrest, made by Deputy Sheriff Cravath at the Mansfield residence, No. 928 West Eighty-second street, this city, Mr. Mansfield was enjoying temporary liberty, having been released a few days ago from the County Jail on his own recognisance while awaiting trial on the charge made by Mrs. Daisy Bullock of No. 118½ South Olive street, mother of Mrs. Winifred Steward Mansfield, alleged wife No. 2 of the mix-up. This charge is that of having married another man's wife, Mrs. Steward not having final divorce papers.

Both wives are 20-year-old girls. But at that point their similarity ceases. Mrs. Kathryn Mansfield, who caused the second warrant to be issued, is anxious only to be rid of her alleged husband. But Mrs. Winifred Steward Mansfield wept copiously yesterday afternoon when told of the youth's rearrest and declared vehemently she would stick by him under any circumstances if permitted to do so by her parents.

MOTHER NEAR DEATH.

The remarkable tangle possesses a pitiful angle, too. While Edmund Mansfield rested comfortably in the Santa Ana jail last night, his aged mother lay ill and perilously near death at her Los Angeles home, overcome by the shock caused by her son's predicament.

The alleged adventures of Mr. Mansfield were first made public April 23. On that date Mrs. Bullock discontinued what was thought to be a beautiful boy and girl romance by causing the arrest of her new son-in-law. At the time she charged Mr. Mansfield with having married her daughter, Mrs. Winifred Steward, before the girl had obtained her

Mrs. Reynolds, according to the superintendent of the home, had been an inmate of the place for some time and for a number of weeks had been brooding over troubles.

GROCER GETS LIMIT FOR KEEPING GIRL PRISONER.

S. S. MOORE, a grocer with a store at Pico street and Kingsley drive, was sentenced to serve 180 days in the City Jail or pay a fine of $325 in punishment for his conduct with Miss Clare Ericson, 17 years old and unusually attractive, living at No. 210 South Kingsley drive.

During the trial, it was stated that Moore had lured Miss Ericson into his grocery store at night, and had held her a prisoner there for an hour and a half. He was frustrated in his efforts to attack her by the timely passing of two policemen, who heard the pleadings of the young girl, and stopped to investigate the noise.

They did not identify the voice as that of a girl, and when they looked within the store, saw the figure of Moore crouching behind the door. They ordered him to come out, and when he came out, he locked the door behind him. The police thought he was a burglar with a pass key, and took the key from him to re-enter the store in an effort to learn if the cash register had been robbed.

While they were investigating they came upon the hysterical girl, whose clothing was torn and her flesh badly scratched. She had succeeded in protecting herself from the advances of the man.

Public Service.

BOARD MAY REVERSE ITS STAND ON POWER MATTER

EVIDENTLY feeling the weight of expressions made by various business and civic organizations and individuals against the policy of rushing ahead with a paralleling of existing electrical distributing systems, the Public Service Commission is apparently on the point of reversing its position and turning to a sane and businesslike plan of conferring with the power companies on some compromise measure. This was made evident at yesterday's meeting of the board.

As usual, the members of the commission were in secret session for some time before they assembled in public meeting. While the meeting was in session there was passed from hand to hand a document in the form of a resolution which the commission undoubtedly will adopt later on as an expression of its present attitude.

During the course of the proceedings the Council's action on the power companies' offers was reached and also the compromise proposal of Councilman Conwell. Simply the introductions were read, and immediately President Del Valle referred the entire matter to the committee of the whole. After the session he stated that the committee of the whole would probably take up the Conwell proposition today.

It appears that one reason for delay was that City Attorney Stephens had asked for such action in order for him to determine just what effect the Conwell proposition might have on the city-Edison condemnation proceedings now pending before the State Railroad Commission. What effect proceeding with the paralleling of the lines would have is also another question that must be considered.

It is understood that the form of resolution which was passed around at yesterday's meeting, and which it is likely will be adopted today, sets forth the commission's previous stand against any prolonged negotiations with the power companies; declares that the Conwell proposition is not an authentic proposition from the power companies, and then states that the Public Service Commission would be glad to have its representatives meet with representatives of the power companies to discuss some definite programme for the purchase of the distributing systems of all three companies as soon as practicable. It also authorizes the president of the commission to send copies of the resolution to all three power companies.

ADOPT RULES FOR SAFETY.

Safeguarding of Machinery is Provided For.

State Commission and Owners Agree on Plan.

Laundry and Engine Workers are Affected.

Following up the formulation of rules Monday for the safeguarding of laundry workers, the State Industrial Accident Commission and a committee of men, representing various interests related to the manufacture, use and operation of station engines, yesterday adopted tentative safety rules for that industry at a conference in room No. 405 Union League Building.

The tentative safety orders for the laundry interests follow:

Extractors — All extractors must be equipped with metal guards, which must entirely cover the opening to the outer shell. The guard must always be kept in position when the extractor is in motion.

Flat-work ironers — All flat-work ironers must be equipped with guards in front of the feed rolls to prevent the hands of operators from being drawn into the rolls. When the so-called doffer roll is used and is propelled by other power than the ribbon or apron feed a guard must be placed in front of this roll. An extension of the stopping device of all flat-work ironers must be installed across the front of the machine so that it may be readily operated from the customary feeding position by any feeding operator.

GUARDS ON IRONERS.

Bosom starchers and bosom and combination ironers — All bosom starchers and bosom and combination ironers must be equipped with guards placed near enough to the rolls and the ironing board to prevent the hands of the operator from being drawn under the rolls. The belts must be so arranged that when an operator removes his foot from the controller the board will move toward the operator.

Collar and cuff ironers—All collar and cuff ironers must be equipped with guards in front of the first rolls to prevent the hands of the operator from being drawn into the roll.

Brakes — All washing machines and tumblers must be equipped with brakes or other devices to prevent the inner cylinders from moving during the loading or unloading process.

Gears — All gears, belts, pulleys, sprockets and shafting connected with the laundry machinery shall be guarded in accordance with general safety rules issued by the Industrial Accident Commission. All boilers, heaters or appliances not made for high pressure, but used for heating water for laundry purposes, must take their supply from an open supply tank. The vertical height measured from the bottom of the boiler or appliance to the top of the supply tank shall not exceed fifty feet. The minimum size of supply pipes from supply tank to boiler shall be one inch. There shall be no valves or stop-cocks between the supply tank and the boiler or appliance. There shall be no source of supply to the boiler or appliance other than from the supply tank.

FOR ENGINE WORKERS.

At the meeting of the commission yesterday the amended engine safety orders were passed, the only point of discussion being that regarding ammonia refrigeration plants. The discussion centered around the helmets provided for rescue purposes in such institutions. It was maintained by some of the committee members that the helmets should be placed inside all engine-rooms, so as to make them available to men attacked by the fumes. It was pointed out by Mr. Brownell that a man attacked by the fumes would be rendered unconscious before he could reach the helmets and that their location inside the rooms would prevent their being procured by other persons to rescue the injured, while if they were placed outside they would be easily accessible. This point carried.

The rules passed yesterday require that all fly-wheels, pulleys, gears, cranks and connecting rods shall be thoroughly covered with housings or fences; that all runways, stairways and ladders shall be covered with rough surface plates or treads; all engine-rooms shall be properly ventilated, and that all tunnels, pits, etc., shall have proper drainage and ventilation and be kept in a sanitary condition.

The committee which sat with the commission yesterday was composed of men representing various interests related to the manufacture, use and operation of stationary engines. Woodworking safety orders will be considered today and elevator safety orders will have a hearing tomorrow.

FOR JUNIOR POLICE.

School Board Favors Juvenile Officers Plan; Indorses Playgrounds.

The Board of Education Monday night indorsed the plan of Police Sergeant Marden, chief of the Juvenile Bureau, to organize a junior police force among the pupils of the Los Angeles schools, and recommended that Sergt. Marden visit the various schools and explain his idea to the principals.

Fifteen playgrounds, to be conducted by instructors appointed by the Playground Commission on school grounds during the summer, received the indorsement of the board at last night's meeting. Supt. Raitt of the playground department also received permission to visit the various schools to discuss with the principals the proposed summer camp to be maintained by his department.

Answering a communication from Mrs. Fannie Fern Andrews, secretary of the American Peace School League, the board recommended that customary Peace Day exercises be held this year.

TO PRESENT FLAG.

Mrs. May Watson, president of Bartlett-Logan Women's Relief Corps No. 7, and her staff of delegates to the convention of the Department of California and Nevada, W.R.C., at Bakersfield, this week, will present a stand of colors to a Daughters of Veterans tent recently organized there and named for Mrs. Elizabeth N. Call. Mrs. Call was a member of Bartlett-Logan Corps. She served her country as a nurse from 1862 to 1865.

THREE ATTACK ONE.

Mexican Painfully Injured in Fight With Fellow Countrymen.

Frank Montez, a Mexican living at No. 412 Ducommon street, was painfully injured Monday night when he attempted to capture another Mexican known as "Lecolete" who, he asserts, some time ago held up the postoffice at El Monte.

"Lecolete," according to the injured man, was walking by his home with two friends and, when Montez attempted to size him, opened fire with a revolver. His two friends drew knives from their belts and joined in the attack upon Montez. Before the police arrived the three men fled. Montez received several slight wounds. He was taken to the hospital for treatment and then removed to his home.

SUPERVISORS FIX CONDITION TO APPROPRIATION.

Promise Thousand Dollars for Festival of Industrial Peace Provided All Exhibitors are Given Fair Treatment—Pridham Alone Votes Against Unionites.

The Board of Supervisors Monday granted the Union Labor Temple Association $1000, conditionally, and it is not to be paid until after the so-called "Festival of Industrial Peace," has been held.

Chairman Pridham of the board voted against even the conditional gift, basing his opposition on the ground that the Labor Temple Association is a private corporation, and the proposed "Festival" is for the purpose of raising funds for the private cause of the organization.

Supervisor Norton, championing the laborites, asked: "How about the Knights Templars, who have been allowed $25,000?"

"That organization is not local, a private corporation or in the same category as the Labor Temple Association," the chairman answered. "It is bringing thousands of persons to Los Angeles, and deserves the support of the community, on the ground that it actually performs the requirements of advancing and advertising the county, as prescribed by the ordinance permitting such appropriations."

Supervisor Woodley voted for the appropriation only on condition that every stipulation as drawn by the county counsel be carried out. Supervisor Hinshaw was absent and Supervisor Hamilton championed the outlay. The officials of the Labor Temple Association and other unionites were present in large numbers to argue for the money.

The conditions are that the money is not to be turned over until after the entertainment; that the products and merchandise of all industries, manufacturers and merchants, whether produced by nonunion, union, or by open-shop labor, shall be permitted to exhibit, without any discrimination whatever and on like and equal terms and with the same courtesy and consideration given strictly union products, and finally, that in case of violation of any of these stipulations by officials or those participating in the "festival," the $1000 shall be returned to the general fund of the County Treasury.

HELD ON SUSPICION.

Fight Causes Arrest of Easterner on a Bunco Charge.

James Clinton, son of a grocer in Long Branch, N. J., was arrested yesterday on a charge of suspicion of buncoing a man at matching coins. He was caught by E. S. Webster, No. 6414 Hollywood boulevard, near whose home the matching occurred. Webster turned him over to the police.

Clinton alleges he is the victim of the matching, being out more than $100 in the five minutes he was acquainted with the strangers. The police are doubtful. Webster's attention was attracted by a furious fight between Clinton and two other men.

Clinton was knocked down twice. The men with the money escaped. The police are endeavoring to identify Clinton, to learn whether he is the victim or the sharpster.

Paul A. Machett, 43 years old, and well known as a director for moving pictures, was arrested yesterday on a charge of being an opium user. With Machett were arrested Ben Trainor, a messenger, 17 years old, and Charles B. Fields, a motion-picture actor. They were arrested at No. 723 South Main street. The police are searching for a woman who is alleged to be an agent for a smuggling gang.

IS YOUR HEALTH WORTH $5.00?

Woman Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Lima, Ohio.—"I was all broken down in health from a displacement. One of my lady friends came to see me and she advised me to commence taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I began taking your remedies and took $5.00 worth and in two months was a well woman after three doctors said I never would stand up straight again. I was a midwife for seven years and I recommended the Vegetable Compound to every woman to take before birth and afterwards, and they all got along so nicely that it surely is a godsend to suffering women. If women wish to write to me I will be delighted to answer them."—Mrs. JENNIE MOYER, 342 E. North St., Lima, Ohio.

Women who suffer from displacements, weakness, irregularities, nervousness, backache or bearing-down pains, need the tonic-strengthening properties of the roots and herbs contained in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

CASE BLOWS UP WITH A BANG.

American Brokerage Company Prosecution at End.

All Government has Left is a Great Big Bill.

Finis was written in the government's litigation against the officers of the American Brokerage Company in the United States District Court yesterday, when Asst. Dist.-Atty. O'Connor appeared before Judge Trippet and asked that the indictment against Fletcher W. Courtney, one of the defendants, be dismissed. The order was made. This brought an end to a case that cost the government not less than $25,000, and all of the defendants are free.

In the first trial the defendants were F. B Woodruff, Alfred W. Allen, W. A. Gordon, A. E. Golden and Fletcher W. Courtney. The hearing continued for about six weeks, and witnesses were brought to Los Angeles from all parts of the country to testify for the government. The jury found Golden and Gordon not guilty, and disagreed as to Woodruff, Allen and Courtney.

At the second trial, Courtney became a witness for the government, but after a two weeks' hearing the defendants, Woodruff and Allen, were acquitted. On account of the services rendered by Courtney there was nothing left to do but dismiss the indictment against him, and this has been done.

The American Brokerage Company made a specialty of dealing in low-priced and in many instances unlisted stocks, that were sold to clients all over the country on monthly payments. It was an enterprise started on a small capital, and the evidence showed that a large part of the investors had been settled with, either by the payment of money or accepting stock whose value is yet in the undeveloped future. The great bulk of the investors were poor people who expected to get rich on a small investment, and were disappointed.

The company failed, but it was shown by the testimony that it would have been possible to have settled with the "kicking" clients for less than $500, and so avoid prosecution.

The amount of correspondence introduced in the cases would have done credit to the office of J. Pierpont Morgan, and it was the exception for the monthly payments to range as high as $10, some requiring the most correspondence being but a few dollars a month.

HAMMERS BANDIT.

After Being Shot at Man Fells Boy Who Holds Him Up.

Armed with a stolen revolver, Fred Nixan, a 14-year-old negro boy, Monday night attempted to hold up and rob Fred Fuchnes of No. 1544 East Twelfth street in the doorway of his home. The youthful bandit fired two shots, both of which struck the wall, and then was felled by Mr. Fuchnes with a hammer.

After being treated at the Receiving Hospital Nixan was locked in the City Jail for investigation. He admitted that he intended to rob Mr. Fuchnes and also that several days before he had entered Mr. Fuchnes's home and stolen a purse containing $7 in small change.

The prisoner said he came here from Denver, where his mother lives, and wanted to get enough money to go back home. He asserted he did not intend to harm Mr. Fuchnes, and that the revolver was discharged in the struggle.

Double Bigamy.

final papers of the interlocutory decree granted against her first husband, John Steward.

Mr. Mansfield and Mrs. Steward were married in Santa Ana by the Rev. J. G. Kennedy April 10. A few days later the new Mrs. Mansfield was compelled to go to the County Hospital for an operation.

It was by reading the account of the peculiar tangle that Mrs. Kathryn Mansfield first learned of the marriage. At the time she was residing with friends on West Eighty-first street, a short distance from Mr. Mansfield's home.

"I recognized him as my husband," she said, "and I verified this later by calling on his parents. We were married in Morristown, N. J., July 12, 1913. I was only 17 years old at the time, and I loved him. We came to Los Angeles very soon after our marriage and were really happy for almost a year.

"Then he began treating me badly and I left him. I had no friends. My parents are poor and could send me no money. I wanted to get a divorce and go back to them, but because I had no money I was powerless. So I started in working at whatever I could find. I only understood housework, and I have been doing that, saving what little I could.

"WELCOME TO HIM."

"I only want to be free from him. The other woman can have him if she wants him. She is perfectly welcome. I only want to be free. I am very sorry for his parents. But he himself deserves no pity."

Contrasting strangely with the attitude of this girl is the effect the news of the second arrest had upon the girl who finds herself called wife No. 2.

"I really don't know where I am." Mrs. Winifred Steward Mansfield declared yesterday afternoon. "My mother has told me one thing and others have told me other things. I really don't know whether I am married, single or divorced.

"My first husband, John Steward, was a handsome fellow. But after we were married I found he was handsome and nothing else. I only lived with him thirteen days. The last I heard of him he was in Missouri.

"I really thought I was divorced from him when I married Mr. Mansfield. I love Edmund. My mother won't let me see him. I would if I could. And now they say he is married to some one else, and that I will never see him again. It is all so terrible."

Joseph Adair is attorney for Mr. Mansfield.

"It is not the sinner who is hurt so much in many cases," Mr. Adair declared. "As I understood it, the first charge placed against my client was sufficient. I can see no reason for this second charge. I have not so I am not in a position to make a so I a mnot in a position to make a statement regarding this second charge. As I understand it, however, his first wife deserted him some time ago, and he believed her dead."

SAYS HE TORE THE BARN DOWN.

Wife Gets Divorce on Strength of What She Blames on Angry Husband.

When Mrs. Selma Rhein did not have supper ready when John Rhein came home he showed his displeasure in a decidedly unique form. Mrs. Rhein, who said she was forced into the divorce court by her husband's alleged cruelty, told Judge Wood yesterday that John, who had been drinking, flew into a rage, rushed out to the barn, turned out the horses, kicked the dog where he wags his tail and tore down the barn.

Mr. Rhein denied everything. He said he never struck his wife, never got mad, and drank beer in moderation. Witnesses, however, declared he did drink considerably. Judge Wood granted Mrs. Rhein a decree.

His Confessions

CHAPTER XIII.

The Medicine Men of my own home place got huffy with me. I had broken the faith. I had dared to expose the mysteries of the craft. I had talked out of school. I had cut prices and advertised, and I was so "unethical" some of the faithful thought the best thing was to cut off my head and sprinkle chloride of lime on my unholy carcass.

When it was pointed out to the "ethical" gentry in the town where I dared to practice dentistry in my own sweet way that I was distinctly "unethical," the Dental Society in the burg passed one of those over-night laws of theirs aimed to put just such individuals as me out of business.

This new law was to the effect that every dentist practicing in that Province would have to pay $3 every year. Failure to pay this tax entailed a fine of $20 a day for every day until that fee was paid. Some legislation.

The object of this law was to get me. It did.

I had been raised in a small town and I was not familiar with either legal or professional ropes. Being "unethical." I was naturally out of touch with the other members of my profession, the kind brethren who would rather see me starve ethically than eat unethically. So I knew nothing about the passage of this law. These benevolent gentlemen (members of the great profession of Medicine Men and Rain-Makers) neglected to tell me about the new rule, and the first thing I knew about it was when I was arrested.

That was all the "ethical" fellows wanted. They saw to it that I was fined $200; that I was written up under scareheads as a dangerous "fakir," and that I was driven out of the place where I was born and where I had hoped to reside and establish myself.

That, twenty-four years ago, was my first taste of the revenge of the Medicine Man. It was a dose of medicine handed me by the benevolent gentlemen who have controlled and hope to control the practice of dentistry in all the communities in America.

But it wasn't the last dose of that medicine I was to swallow. Oh, no!

Entertains with Cards.

About 100 guests filled the great drawing-room of the Burlington Friday evening in response to Mrs. Charles Kinnucan's invitation—"Cards—five hundred." Of this number sixty played. Others gathered in conversational groups or spent the evening in the adjoining ballroom, where informal dancing was in order.

In the drawing-room each table had its individual prize and there was a wealth of merriment and good will, as couple after couple vied for leadership. But even the intense interest of the game could not make the guests forget the effective arrangement of flowers about the rooms.

Mrs. Kinnucan is a gracious hostess and the young ladies assisting her reflected her hospitality to perfection. After the game an elaborate buffet luncheon was served in the ballroom—the very informality of which added to its enjoyment.

David Todd Gilmore of Anaheim is to officiate, and there will be a large bridal party, composed of Miss Bertha Gay, maid of honor; Misses Kathleen Davies, Golda Cogswell, Anna Satterlee and Polly Graham, bridesmaids; Floralee Cogswell, ringbearer; Wanda and Juanita Arbogast, flower maidens; Messrs. MacDorsey, best man, and Archie Paulson, Edgar Murray, Frank Belcher and Cyril Tipton, ushers.

The color scheme will be pink, both at the church and later at the reception to be held at the bride's home. The bride's attendants are to wear fetching gowns shading from the most delicate pink to an American Beauty shade, and she will be in the usual white.

Preceding the ceremony a musical programme appropriate to the occasion will be given. Fred MacPherson, the baritone, will sing "Call Me Thine Own," with Ira Gay, the bride's brother, playing a flute obbligato; Miss Hazel Schertzinger will give harp solos; Byron Gay, the composer, will preside at the organ, Valmer Schmidt and Harold Melville will sing, among other selections, "Sweet Dream and You," written by the bride's brother, Byron.

A Christening.

Mrs. Robert P. Holmes is to take a party of friends to Alamitos Bay today for the purpose of christening her new boat, the Robert Lee, a combination of her husband's name, Robert, and her maiden name, Lee. Guests are to leave town at 12:30 o'clock in motor cars and the "ceremonials" will occupy fully an hour. Mrs. Holmes, a striking young matron of the Titian type of beauty, is kin to Gov. Francis of Missouri.

Our Gain.

A beautiful May Day wedding, which was celebrated in San Diego in the presence of relatives and intimate friends at the home of the bride's parents, No. 1815 Alta Mira place, brings to Los Angeles as the bride of Walter Barmann, one of the fairest daughters of the Mission Hills—Miss Frances Reed, whose father is ex-Senator Thomas J. Reed. Mr. Barmann is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Barmann of No. 1934 Western avenue, and a well-known civil engineer.

Politics.

ROBERTS QUITS CONGRESS RACE.

Withdraws, but will Support Republican Ticket.

Election of Committeeman may be Made in Chicago.

Eleven Thousand Majority for the Straight Ticket.

Frank C. Roberts, newspaper publisher of Long Beach and one of the most loyal Republicans in California, announced yesterday that he will not again be a candidate for Congress in the Ninth District. Owing to pressure of private business he declared it would be impracticable for him to enter the race, but he will stand ready and anxious to throw all the support he can to the Republican nominee. He made a great fight against Randall two years ago and has done a giant's work in helping bring about the Republican victory in the State.

With Mr. Roberts eliminated only two men are known to be seeking the indorsement of the Republican party. They are E. D. Hahn, a good Republican and prominent lawyer of Pasadena, and Assemblyman L. L. Lostutter of Pomona, who was elected a delegate to the national convention. Mr. Lostutter takes great pride in the fact that his city gave almost a solid vote for the Republican ticket, the majority being about six to one. Pomona stands a good chance of being represented in Congress.

The name of W. H. Jennings, an attorney, who lives in Pasadena, but practices law in this city, has been mentioned of late as a possible candidate. He formerly resided in Nebraska, where he ran for Congress against Bryan.

It is understood that the Republican aspirants will hold a meeting within a few days when an endeavor will be made to eliminate all but one, the others to give their support to the one chosen. If this programme is carried out the nominee will be given the indorsement of the Republican party and will receive the nomination in August. Some of Congressman Randall's friends say he will seek the nomination of all parties at the primaries. He probably will, but will have as much chance landing the Republican nomination as a Socialist.

Delegates Meet Today.

When the Republican delegates who were elected last week meet at the Palace Hotel, San Francisco, this afternoon to elect alternates and transact other important business they may decide to defer the naming of a national committeeman. Local delegates declared yesterday that the nominee for President might want to have a voice in the matter and the delegation may wait until after the national convention to select the committeeman.

Phil A. Stanton, who has been the committeeman for six years, has secured the indorsement of the Orange county Republicans, but the Los Angeles County Central Committee and several other leading Republican bodies have taken no action in the matter. He was indorsed by the Executive Committee of the Woman's Republican League yesterday. It was rumored yesterday that State Chairman Francis V. Keesling is being considered favorably for the position; also J. O. Hayes of San Jose. The latter, however, is also spoken of as the possible selection for chairman of the delegation. Others mentioned in this connection are Attorney John G. Mott and ex-Judge Walter Bordwell.

The southern delegates will present the following names for alternates: W. W. Mines, Frank C. Roberts of Long Beach; Miss Adeline Stanton, Bradner W. Lee, W. R. Evans, Monrovia, and probably W. M. Garland.

Candidate for Supervisor.

Jonathan S. Dodge, a prominent citizen of South Pasadena, yesterday formally announced his candidacy for Supervisor in the Fifth District. The announcement follows:

SOUTH PASADENA (Cal.)
May 9, 1916.

Believing in the correctness of the statement made by Hon. R. W. Pridham that a business man, and not a politician, should be elected to the office of Supervisor for the Fifth Supervisorial District of Los Angeles county, and that this sentiment will be indorsed by the voters of this district, I hereby announce myself as a candidate for this office.

I have resided in South Pasadena for twelve years last past, during which time I have been actively connected with the South Pasadena Savings Bank and the First National Bank of said city, having been president or vice-president of these institutions all of this time. I have been president of the Cawston Ostrich Farm for more than three years past. Previous to my removal to this State was engaged in the practice of law at Portsmouth, O., and at El Paso.

At the present time I am chairman of the Board of Trustees of South Pasadena, which position I formerly filled by election during the years 1907-08.

As economy is being practiced by individuals as well as by private corporations during these times, I believe it should be insisted upon in the conduct of the business of the county to the end that taxes may be reduced. All the property in the county has recently been reappraised for taxation purposes, with the result that taxable values have been greatly increased, and if elected I pledge myself to use every honorable endeavor to reduce the tax rate so that taxes will not be increased, and also to make every effort to further reduce taxes by insisting upon economy, efficiency and the elimination of waste in the conduct of the county's business.

Respectfully,
[Signed] JONATHAN S. DODGE.

WEDS TEXAS HEIRESS.

Contractor who, with Father, Recently Reconstructed Broadway Tunnel, Espouses Daughter of an Oil Magnate of Dallas.

With only a few relatives and close friends present, Lynn S. Atkinson, Jr., prominent local contractor, was married at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon in St. Paul's Episcopal Church to Miss Bernice Stephens, daughter of Benjamin Stephens, oil magnate of Dallas, Tex. Rev. George Davidson, rector of the church, performed the ceremony.

The romance that culminated with the wedding yesterday originated several months ago. Miss Stephens was attending Cumnock School in this city when she first met Mr. Atkinson.

A few weeks ago Mr. Stephens came to Los Angeles preparatory to a proposed two years' tour of the world in company with his daughter. Upon his arrival, however, he discovered his daughter had other plans. So he attended the wedding and aided the bridal party in an appropriate farewell to the happy bride and groom, remaining with his friends, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Doran, at No. 547 South Harvard boulevard.

Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson will return to this city shortly to make their home here. With his father, Mr. Atkinson recently completed the reconstruction of the Broadway Tunnel.

THREE DAYS' OUTING.

Sierra Madre Club will Spend Last Days of May at Santa Barbara. Special Train De Luxe to Carry Merry Party.

More than 500 clubmen of the city, with their wives, families and friends, are planning to participate in the annual outing of the Sierra Madre Club, at Santa Barbara, from May 27 to 30, inclusive.

Starting on a de luxe special train at 2 p.m., on Saturday, May 27, the clubmen will arrive at the Hotel Potter, Santa Barbara, in time for a grand ball that evening, given in their honor. For the next three days the excursionists will enjoy the boating, bathing and motoring at Santa Barbara, while a series of six golf tourneys will be held for club members. Handsome prizes are offered in each event.

A similar excursion took place last year, and was well attended and much enjoyed. The club will have a tango car on the special, and will carry its own ragtime orchestra to furnish dance music. There will also be an auction bridge car for devotees of the pasteboards, as well as observation, smoking and buffet cars.

In addition to the grand ball on Saturday night, there will be an informal dance on Monday evening. The excursionists will return late Tuesday night. Reservations are being received at the club headquarters in the Los Angeles Investment Building by W. R. Wharton, secretary.

ITS APPEAL DECADENT.

"ETERNAL SAPPHO" TREADS SENSATIONALISM MARSH.

By Henry Christeen Warnack.

Theda Bara, in the "Eternal Sappho" at Miller's Theater this week, is an arch example of one reason for the decline of the stage and a sad promise either for a decline in pictures or a public demand for some sort of censorship, and nobody should desire to see either. The idea of censorship is abhorrent, but the nature of "The Eternal Sappho," is impure. William Fox is a clever man—clever enough to fight the trust—and he is reaching a wide and paying audience with this type of play, or he would quit making it; but for the life of me I can find nothing about it but a rather broad accommodation for an attractive woman's physical lure. This I could both forgive and enjoy if I found it presented anything refreshingly new or emphatically true. The picture entertains, which is all the producer or exhibitor demands of it, but it tends to steep us in a sensationalism from which there is bound to be a national recoil.

LAST SAD RITES.

The double funeral of Muriel and Dorothy Ruess, who were killed in the automobile accident at Irvine, Saturday, will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon from the chapel of the E. E. Overholzer Sons Company, instead of from the family home, No. 262 South Hobart avenue, as was originally intended. The bodies will be cremated. The funeral of little Mildred Hardin, who was killed in the same accident, was held yesterday from the residence of the parents, No. 2630 Magnolia avenue.

Leading Woman.

PROVES HER ADEQUACY.

By Grace Kingsley.

Little Marjorie Davis, ex-shop girl, and now leading woman of the Burbank, Monday night demonstrated to the full her right to be called "leading woman" and entirely justified Mr. Morosco's faith in her. The play is "Raffles," and as Gwendolyn Conron—though the role is comparatively small—Miss Davis gave us a characterization exactly keyed to the right notes, first of girlish sunshine and simplicity, afterward of quiet intensity, with never a moment's overacting, yet always in the part. Miss Davis's portrayal might indeed well illumine the paths of more experienced actresses, in its quiet sincerity, its sustainted illusion, its delicate, unobtrusive yet potent finesse. Miss Davis is a rare listener—an art, that of listening on the stage, calling for the actress to look as if she were also thinking, and this Miss Davis does.

Only two faults do I find with her and one might be called a virtue in another house: She speaks in too quiet and conversational a tone to be heard all over the big Burbank. The other fault is an evident ignorance of the art of make-up. She could make herself much prettier if she would.

That most excellent actor, Harry Mestayer, gave us another well-nigh perfect gem of characterization in Capt. Bedford. Forrest Stanley came up to his usual excellent standard as the impassive Raffles, with his lightning touches of audacity; Winifred Bryson gave a clear-cut Mrs. Vidal; Warner L. Baxter was Bunny, reckless gamester, wholehearted friend to the life (watch his cabaret, reer,) and Fred Butler's Crawshay was a triumph of character work. Nanon Welch, Annette de Foe, Ralph Bell, John Burton and the others played their roles adequately.

I would give as a general criticism that the performance should be speeded up; the crisp, new plays call for the pace, and the older plays like "Raffles," no matter what their charm, must follow the example.

The members of the company are growing accustomed to one another and their performance is improving in proportion.

Superba.

Barring the fact that the action of "The Moment Before" moves rather too slowly in places, the Superba has seldom housed a better photodrama than this one, which stars Pauline Frederick.

The film drama is based on Israel Zangwill's "Never, Never Land," and Miss Frederick plays the part of the fascinating gypsy, of the Carmen type, for whom men barter away their souls and bodies. Miss Frederick's acting is always characterized by subtle strength as well as dramatic fire, but it would seem that her impersonation in this case is not quite as clear-cut as might be, in that the fact is not brought out in her acting, though clear enough from the context, that she really and devotedly loves the young and handsome duke.

The story is told with clearness and, aside from the fault cited, is acted convincingly. The human motives are natural and plausible. Would more such photoplays were produced!

Clune's Broadway.

Bobby Connelly may not be the cleverest and most winsome child actor in the world, but I believe he is. This half-portion Henry Walthall, this miniature Donald Brian, who is about three-fourths of the show at Clune's Broadway this week, in "The Law Decides," portrays his role so naturally, yet with such perfect childish spontaneity, that it is not acting at all, but reality. He runs the gamut of childish emotion, too, from registering delight at a new toy to heartbreak at loss of his mother.

As for the picture play, one can only repeat the truism that if people in the plays had a quarter the sense of people in real life there wouldn't be nearly so many plays. If, in other words, at about the end of the 200 feet of film, a few perfectly natural words of explanation, such as would inevitably have been given in real life, had been forthcoming, there would have been no photoplay entitled "The Law Decides." But then we shouldn't have had Bobby Connelly, Harry Morey or Dorothy Kelly, and all are more than well worth seeing.

Symphony.

After about half a reel of "The Come-back," at the Symphony, I forgot I had come to criticise. That must be the test of a very good film story, engrossing, plausible, well acted, and "The Come-back" in these regards endures the test better than any film play I have seen in some time.

Harold Lockwood and May Allison are such very charming actors that they are always acceptable; they have a first-class vehicle in this story of the North woods, where Harold as the son of a rich New Yorker "comes back" into his heritage of manhood.

The scenes in the Maine woods are beautiful and effective.

"The Mysteries of Myra," the added feature, give you nice little cold chills up and down your back.

GENERAL REVIEWS.

Pantages.

'Tis a merry Maytime bill at Pantages this week. Mirth and melody have their part in each of the seven acts.

Little Lord Robert is about "knee high to a grasshopper," with a small voice to correspond, but he has all the assurance of an oldtimer whether he be costumed in baby's long dress or in soldier's khaki. His songs, his "impersonations" and his care-free manner amuse the audience greatly.

Volant, with his flying piano, furnishes thrills with his melody. It is rather uncanny to see the big white piano whirl and swing in midair, with the performer nonchalantly playing the waltz it sways by, even if you do know it is supported by a cable.

The girl in the Byal and Early turn has some curious, unhuman arms, that are funny in their convolutions in much the same way as Charlotte Greenwood's legs. Nan Gray, the Scotch lassie, sings her songs very pleasingly. Mr. and Mrs. Perkins Fisher in "The Half-way House," start little ripples of laughter with every word of their quiet comedy. The Rials contribute an amusing acrobatic turn of the music-hall style, doing simple stunts on the rings, and using some old hats with success in the intervals. The Dream Pirates use a rather novel idea (for vaudeville musical comedies) to get started, and it has a lot of pretty girls. Two reels of film complete the bill.

Hippodrome.

A bill of unusual excellence is being presented at the Hippodrome this week.

The Castig Lamys, who close the show, are really the headliners, performing hair-raising feats in mid-air, triple somersaults, giant swings and other marvels of the sawdust ring.

Another athletic number which wins big applause serves to open the show. In this John Higgins performs remarkable jumping feats.

The Seven Castellucis deliver themselves of pleasing harmony on brass and strings; Marie Stoddard brings down the house with her clever songs and brisk dances; Saona, depictor of Carnegie, Buffalo Bill, Edison and other famous characters, pleases the crowd; the Adams Brothers get their share of the noise with their blackface act, and Handers and Millis, with their dancing, patter and piano, are winners.

Republic.

The headliners of the new bill which opened at the Republic Theater Monday, furnish rare pleasure to musically inclined. They are the celebrated Verdi quartette, and give selections ranging from grand opera to ragtime.

Frank and Clara la Tour present funny capers and novelties in their "Original Bubble Girl." Howatson and Swaybelle have a good comedy character sketch, "A Case of Pickles."

Ricca, a versatile piano accordionist, renders the latest popular airs on his musical instrument. Art Melvin, a semi-classic and popular tenor singer, and Frank Colby and company, in their new comedy black art and novelty feature, conclude the vaudeville programme.

"The Birth of a Man," featuring Henry Walthall, the hero of "The Clansman," is the feature film offering.

Majestic.

"Civilization," the big Ince spectacle at the Majestic, continues to draw huge crowds daily. The music is an attractive feature. The run of "Civilization" promises to rival that of "The Clansman" and other big features.

Clune's Auditorium.

"The Ne'er-Do-Well," one of the best all-round photoplays ever shown on the screen, is proving a strong attraction at Clune's Auditorium, despite the fact that this is the second showing of the film. Kathlyn Williams, Wheeler Oakman and the others of the cast give unsurpassed characterizations in their respective roles.

Morosco.

"The Brat," Maude Fulton's successful play, appears likely to rival the run of "Peg o' My Heart." in its

SKETCHES OPERA MOODS

MRS. DREYFUS CLOSES PURPOSE PROGRAMME SERIES.

By Edwin Schallert.

Having previously reared an attractive structure with her folk songs and ballad form recitals, Mrs. Estelle Heartt Dreyfus last night embellished this with the more exotic decorations of opera airs at her closing purpose programme of a series of three, given at the Little Theater.

The numbers presented, all selected and grouped with that admirable taste that Mrs. Dreyfus displayed at her two previous appearances, were rather more taxing in their vocal demands than those which had gone before. Therefore, we were quite certain we were in the real mof opera. The aria, beauty of thought, is difficult, too, to interpret, but no more so than that, wealth of simple ideas one finds in the folk song or the delicate sentiment and charm of the lyric or narrative ballads.

Mrs. Dreyfus avoided the artificial types of opera song in her selection, and gave us a programme that carried a richly, pleasing meaning in its legendary, historic and romantic types. She excelled throughout in her interpretative methods, but ably met the vocal requirements of her numbers, particularly in such difficult ones as the "Farewell ye Forests," from Tschaikowsky's "Jeanne d'Arc."

Most of all though I like, as offered by her, the fragrance of such songs as that exquisite little bit, "When the Time of Love has Flown," from Massenet's "Don Quixote" and the contrasting rough hewn vigor of that southern Valkyrie cry from the rocks of the Pyrenees, the oriental taken from a virtually unknown Spanish opera by Pedrell. She gave also such familiar numbers as the page's song from "Les Huguenots," with its swaying waltz-like rythhm, "The Blind Girl's Song" from "La Gioconda" and the "Card Song," from "Carmen."

Alex Simonsen added to the operatic mood by his rich-toned rendition of the "Prize Song" from "Die Meistersinger," a little snatch from "The Jewels of the Madonna" and the Handel Largo, which everybody no doubt has forgotten ever came from a musico-dramatic work. Lucia M. Hennion Robinson had no easy task to perform as accompanist, and she acquitted herself of it in thoroughly artistic fashion.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.

(At Home:) Recent events, both abroad and on the southern border, tend to make investment and speculation take a rather uncertain trend, though securities affected are those with large foreign interests. Purely American stocks and bonds continue strong, a most hopeful or constructive sign being furnished by the strength in railroad issues. Western roads especially are turning in large earning reports, which are carrying their securities to higher levels. There are some reports of damage in the spring wheat belt.

(For details see financial pages.)

OUTSIDE.

The people are not altogether hostile to the aspirations of Gov. Johnson for a Cabinet position. They have suggested one for which he is thoroughly equipped. It is that of Secretary of the Exterior.

WHAT ELIPHAZ SAID OF JOHNSON

In the fifteenth chapter of Job, Elphaz the Teemanite makes the following remarks about Gov. Johnson:

"He reasons with unprofitable talk, and with speeches wherewith he can do no good.
"Thy mouth uttereth thine iniquity, and thou choosest the tongue of the crafty.
"Thine own mouth condemneth thee; yea, thine own lips testify against thee."

DROPPING THE LOWEST.

An excellent way for the Chicago Republican Convention to obtain satisfactory candidates will be to first place in nomination everybody named by any member of the convention; then declare the nominations closed and proceed to ballot, dropping, after each ballot, the name of the candidate receiving the lowest vote. The result would be to secure a nominee who was the first choice of many and the second choice of the others.

REFUSING OFFICE.

In the days of Puritan rule in Massachusetts the law provided that a man who refused to accept and serve in a public office to which his fellow-citizens insisted on electing him might be imprisoned for his unpatriotic recalcitrance. If our county jails nowadays were occupied only by United Progressive bosses who refused office they would be as empty of inmates as the good dogs who are members of the Johnson plunderbund are empty of conscience.

WOMEN AND CHILDREN FIRST.

The watchword "Women and children first" still prevails on board steamers where the passengers are compelled to take to the boats. But it exists only to a limited extent in the Los Angeles trolley cars, except in the compartment allotted to smokers. There the women and children are first because they get there first and stay there first. Any day may be witnessed the phenomenon of seats inside and seats outside in the rear compartment of a street car only half filled, while in the smoking compartment men are standing up and puffing tobacco smoke in the faces of ladies who, with their infant offspring, occupy all the seats.

"SEX STRIKES" AND AN ANCIENT COMEDY.

The sensational ladies suggesting the plan of a "sex strike" among the women of belligerent countries may think they are proposing something new in urging wives and sweethearts of soldiers to refrain from caresses until the fighting stops. It so happens, however, that Lysistrata, titular heroine of the most farcical of Aristophanes's comedies, headed a representative gathering of Athenian matrons after twenty-one years of the Peloponnesian war and advised that very thing—a sex strike. Incidentally, it didn't work. Men are not the only people on earth who like kisses and such things.

MUNITIONS AND THE Y.W.C.A.

One of the most wonderful organizations in the world is the Young Women's Christian Association. In every country it is doing large, brave, necessary work. San Francisco will not forget the important part it played in caring for the girls employed in the exposition, and now comes the London Times with a eulogy of its notable assistance in meeting the great problems which confronted England when women started taking over so much of the labor.

In munition-making alone the Y.W.C.A. has helped to solve a difficult question. Munition factories, owing to their dangerous character, are usually situated in sparsely-populated districts, and the difficulty of housing the half a million women engaged on the work seemed overwhelming.

The big munition firms turned to the Y.W.C.A., which promptly erected model hut encampments, each "hut" having two floors divided into cubicles, comfortably accommodating fifty-six workers. Recreation halls, dancing floors, libraries sprang up overnight and responsible "mothers" were installed to take care of the girls.

That the girls are doing effective work under these pleasant conditions, entrusted with the making of cordite, carrying out the most dangerous processes of drying gun-cotton, making the final tests involving accuracy to .0001 of a grain, and carrying the subtleties of the final windings of the explosives into calculations of four places of decimals, is all vouched for by the government officials in their reports. And yet, what do the letters "Y.W.C.A." stand for? "The Young Women's Killing Association."?

THE TERROR ON THE BORDER.

Upon hearing the news of the latest Mexican outrages the Mayor of El Paso uttered an exclamation which is worthy of repetition in that it voices the sentiments of every man, woman and child along that 600 miles of border: "My God! Is there nobody working at Washington?" What is the matter at Washington? The eternal conferences, correspondences and discussions ending in naught; the implicit and childlike faith in the promises of a nation which hates and distrusts us; the failure to protect our citizens in Mexico and the failure to get them out when they were in danger; the silly declination to recognize Huerta apparently without other reason than his notorious love of the black bottle, and then the recognition of Carranza, a far lesser man—the errors of the administration in regard to Mexico are too numerous to relate, and if there have been any tactics which have proven successful, they are not apparent at present.

The administration has fostered the illusion that Villa is at the bottom of the trouble in Mexico, in spite of every evidence to the contrary. And now comes the raid upon the Texas border by the combination of Villa and Carranza outlaws, which has been expected by everyone who is familiar with the situation in Mexico.

The press is blamed by the President and his Cabinet for its alleged exaggeration and "false reports" about the border trouble; but in the columns of The Times many reliable articles and dispatches have been printed which sought, by presenting the exact facts, to dispel the illusion and actual superstition which exists with regard to Mexico. Writers who have gone to the border for the purpose of investigation for The Times and have returned to candidly report that Carranza is not in good faith in dealing with the United States have been accused of being "agitators;" and now, with ample proof of Carranza's failure or treachery and, above all, of the Mexicans' fealty, Washington begins fresh conferences. How long must the suffering people who have been enduring Mexican outrages along the border for the past six years and more endure these interminable discussions?

The peril of this sort of side-stepping will be felt when the American people choose their next President. Anybody who will face issues and get us an army will be welcome. To be rid of lecturers and schoolmasters and get a strong arm in Mexico, as well as a man who sees the necessity to fight the world with the world's weapons—that is the consummation devoutly to be wished. Peace talk on a border where war actually exists is out of place; and to be unprovided with the means of common defense in a world which still believes in war is ingenuous to the point of being criminal.

EVERY MAN A SOLDIER.

If the purpose of Senor Villa in making another raid into the United States was to humiliate this nation he can congratulate himself upon a sensational success.

The same wires that tingled with our threat of war to Germany carried the news that we had found ourselves unable to protect our borders against a handful of tattered ragamuffins who stopped their invasion of our soil long enough to steal something to eat from a looted cross-roads grocery store.

The day that Gen. Funston managed to scratch together a few soldiers to go to the rescue was the day that the House of Representatives stabbed to death the tender infant, Preparedness, that the nation has been vainly trying to nurse to life for six months. We have no army; we have no immediate prospect of getting an army; in real preparedness we are considerably worse off than we were at the outset of the agitation. We have alarmed and angered some of the great military powers of the earth by waving a gun and screaming out threats. We have now disclosed the fact that the gun is not loaded. It is no exaggeration to say that we are in grave peril and with no remedy at hand. At least no remedy that Congress is prepared to offer us.

There is one possible system by which this or any other country can prepare itself against the dangers of war, that is universal training. A regular army is not adequate. An army of professional soldiers is not a military force proper for a young, lusty, healthful nation. Professional soldiers are the refuge of nations in their senility. Husky people do their own fighting.

From a practical standpoint a regular army large enough to effectively defend the scattered possessions and the home land of the United States is an utter impossibility. It would cost as much as all the combined peace-time armies of Europe. Experience has shown, furthermore, that our young men will not enlist in a professional army. As a substitute for a regular army the National Guard is a tragic joke, however patriotic and fine the human material. No militia has been, or will be, anything but a beggar to itself in war.

Military training is not primarily for the purpose of inducing or bringing about a state of mind. National Guard troops do not have enough continuous service to bring this mental relation between officers and enlisted men. The great basic objection, however, to both a professional army and national is that neither is correct in principle. A professional army presupposes that the defense of a country can be made a profitable and desirable commercial job. It cannot. Defense by a National Guard presupposes that the defense of a country can be made a pleasant form of recreation, which it cannot.

Fighting for the defense of a country is a duty like paying taxes and serving on juries. If the proposition were advanced to release a part of the people from the obligation of paying taxes and put the additional burden on the balance of the population it would come as near causing a revolution as anything ever will in the United States. Yet there is a widespread cry that a part of the population should do the military duty for all.

As a matter of fact this opposition to universal service is not so widespread as Congressmen, in their timidity, seem to believe. There are too many sane Americans.

Some of the opponents to military service advance the perfectly amazing argument that it would lead to militarism. Of course the reverse is true. The danger of militarism comes from dividing the nation into two classes—soldiers and civilians struggling for mastery with the chances in favor of the soldiers in time of upheaval. The insurance against militarism is a nation consisting of civilians who have all been soldiers and are prepared to be again on occasion.

The advantages of universal service are obvious. A large universal army costs a fourth of what the very small professional army does. Universal service takes a growing boy at the most critical time of his life and turns him out in two years with a magnificent body that will carry him through life. There is an advantage to the nation above these considerations, however. Class distinctions are growing up in America. Our people are drifting apart. Universal service where the "Duke's son, cook's son, son of a hundred earls" touch elbows in ranks and take cover together behind the same rock is death to snobbishness. After their service is done the young man in the limousine looks out upon the young man sweeping the gutters in a new way. He sees the sergeant of his squad, the man who outshot him at the target butts, the comrade and bunkie with whom he stood picket guard.

Long before the European war Lord Roberts warned the British people to adopt universal training, and, they didn't. Gen. Chaffee, our own greatest soldier, gave us a similar warning before his death. Are we to sleep on that warning?

FINANCIAL SITUATION OF THE CENTRAL POWERS.

The strength of the military power of Germany and the details of her domestic economy are unknown, even in Germany, outside of official circles, for government censorship of the press is absolute. But her financial situation is not concealed. Immediately preceding the war her annual debt charge was $58,000,000. It is not denied that if the war should last eight months longer those annual charges will amount to $580,000,000. In seventeen months from the commencement of hostilities the German issue of paper currency was increased from $505,000,000 to $1,945,000,000, while the Reichsbank was able to show an increase in gold of only $275,000,000.

The fourth German war loan brought subscriptions of $2,650,000,000, which is less than the third loan, which reached a total of $2,040,000,000, but is greater than the second loan, which was for $2,225,000,000. The public indebtedness of the German Empire and states before the war was $2,000,000,000; it is now over $12,000,000,000—twelve times that of the United States.

The condition of Austria is far worse than that of Germany, and Italian financiers who are in touch with the situation predict governmental bankruptcy for Austria by July. The war has cost her thus far $5,000,000,000, and the war loans cover less than half this amount. New York Commerce and Finance published the following extract from a letter purporting to be from a neutral diplomat in Vienna:

"No Austrian bank has during the last three years published a single balance and, were they to do so now, the abyss into which Austria's finance has fallen would startle the world. The financial situation of many municipalities is even more disastrous than that of the government. Thus, for instance, the city of Vienna has to redeem a loan of 60,000,000 marks, and in order to do so a loan with German banks for 100,000,000 marks is being negotiated. Similar financial operations are being negotiated with the cities of Graz and Klagenfurth, and when one considers that the cost of living has, during the last two years, increased from 120 to 350 per cent., it is comparatively easy to understand how inevitable is Austria's complete financial ruin."

Two Camps with but a Single Prayer.

AN OBJECT LESSON IN TAXATION.

The authorities of this city may find an object lesson in the history of Lewiston, Idaho. No town in the Northwest is better situated for rapid and substantial growth. It is at the head of navigation for steamboats on the Snake River, and recent improvements made by the Federal government have made it practicable for a steamboat to go from Lewiston to Portland or Astoria without breaking bulk. It is connected by rail with Spokane and Seattle. It is surrounded by an exceedingly rich and prolific agricultural country, and the Clearwater River, which at Lewiston empties into the Snake, brings to the doors of Lewiston sawmills an inexhaustible quantity of logs to be made into lumber. The current of either river can, without interfering with navigation, be used to develop an enormous amount of hydro-electric power. The climate of Lewiston is genial and its health conditions excellent.

Yet, with all these advantages, Lewiston contains but 6000 inhabitants when it should have from 20,000 to 30,000. Its growth has been throttled by enormous and unnecessary taxation. Assessments are made, not as elsewhere upon 40, 50 or 70 per cent. of actual cash value of property, but at more than full value. Repeated offers of unfortunate owners of improved and unimproved real estate to sell at the assessed valuation have met with no acceptance. On this inflated value a tax rate of 3 per cent. is imposed. The result is that it takes four months' rental of houses to pay the taxes on them, and, with the cost of insurance, repairs and special assessments added, one-half of a year's rental is absorbed. And with unimproved property the owner is confronted with the problem whether it is best to beggar himself by paying the taxes or letting it go, with the tax-eaters who are robbing him, to join their father, the devil.

An Unfamiliar Tune.

[Marion (Ind.) Chronicle:] As she played, one thought at first of a series of exquisite water-colors done in pastel, even the fate in tender gray, its knock at the door of human destiny softened by romance. But there was line and form as well as color and sentiment in her tonal presentations, and one went to the metaphor of a string of beautifully-cut gems, pale rubies, topazes and sapphires. But there was life in the things, and mobility. So it came out that it was no painting and no chiseling of crystals that had inspired us in Mrs. Reynolds's performance, but the artist's power of dramatization that makes objective such elusive things as exotic fragrance and witches and raises a rollicking country-dance to the interest of a Saturnalia."

Not for Twenty Years.

[Indianapolis News:] A large realty company has weekly meetings of employees to discuss the affairs of the firm. The call not only includes office men, but also the janitors of large apartments and business blocks controlled by the company. A few days ago one of the office men met old Uncle Jim, a darky in the firm's employ for many years.

"You want to get over to the meeting today, Uncle Jim," the office man said. "We're going to have a talk on efficiency."

"Aw, go 'long with you," Uncle Jim replied indignantly. "You all knows I ain't been fishing in twenty years."

Two of a Kind.

[New York Herald:] Judging by results accomplished at Verdun and elsewhere, the German people must by this time have come to the conclusin that a Crwn Prince is just abut as much of a leader as is a Vice-President.

MOSTLY MOONSHINE.

The First Lesson.

There was a lone lady of Lynn,
Who fancied that love was a sin,
Till she went for a ride
With a man at her side—
Then she thought it was time to begin.

The Young Idea.

Some glittering examples of the vagaries of student thought are gleaned from examination papers recently submitted to Prof. Noyes Barker of the Morris chair at the California Abnormal School. We note the following:

Quarantine is broken rock.

Usury is damage to borrowed goods.

A harpy is a girl who plays the harp.

Habeas corpus is a dead Englishman.

Garnishee is a head waitress at a hotel.

A contraband is one that plays without music.

Terra firma is a species of vitrified brick.

An overt act is the first one of the play.

Catacombs are used for preparing Angoras for exhibition.

An embargo is where everyone buys his own refreshments.

Mausoleum is a place where naked souls wander to and fro.

Vox populi is a kind of chloroform used in surgical operations.

Entente cordiale is a strong drink distilled by the monkeries in France.

A doctrinaire is one who advocates natural methods and outdoor treatment.

Laocoon was an African king who had a terrible death from delirium tremens.

The banquets of Caesar were said to always commence with the passing of the Rubicon.

Mardigras is a powerful chemical which possesses the strange property of turning copper into brass.

Today's Interview.

"Have you got the savings habit?" inquired the banker, pleasantly—for even financiers can be pleasant at times.

"Not so that you would notice it," admitted I. "Every time I get a few hundred bucks ahead somebody comes along and sells me a bunch of stock in a Swiss cheese mine and I have to go back to work."

"This saving is a mighty good thing and the habit is being drilled into the young. You can't begin too early with the child and in some of the schools the teachers are encouraging the little pupils to deposit their pennies and start an account with the government or some bank. We don't object one bit to Uncle Sam going into the savings bank business. In the long run it increases the exchange of the other banks as well. I expect some day we will see automatic banks established on corners that will be a combination of mail box and cash register. They will be built so that a man can drop in his dollar or his dime and get a tag for it. These tags he can keep in a book or have placed to his credit at the post-office. I knew a man who was out late one night and thought he was going to be robbed. So he took his money, tied it up in a handkerchief with his business card and dropped it into a mail box. Before morning he had gone against the knockout drops, but the crooks didn't get car fare. The next day he was able to go to the postmaster, identify himself and recover his wad. Now something of rough-and-ready banking like that is not a bad idea. The easier the formalities for saving are made the better it is for everybody."

"Sure, Mike," said I.

"My name is not Mike," said the banker, tartly.

Some Hard Luck.

There was an old man of Cologne
Who sobbed when they tossed him a stone,
He spoke in despair
And said: "I declare
They might have give me a bone."

From the Ground Up.

We had a visitor the other day. He was an alert and keen young man of fluent speech and excellent apparel. It seemed that he had an invoice of bulbs—the precious roots of the marvelous Lillium splendiosa grandiflora from the luxuriant tropics of Brazil and described so eloquently by the eminent explorer, Theodore Roosevelt. This wonderful lily had massive flowers of almost overpowering fragrance. The perfume, in fact, could be traced in the roots themselves. This marvelous plant bloomed for seven months of the year and a few of them would make a tropical garden of surpassing splendor. He was selling the bulbs for the trifling sum of one buck each. But for the war they would be worth ten dollars apiece in England today.

With the aid of a five-spot we finally induced the stranger to part with half a dozen of the cherished bulbs. We were told that they must be planted just at sunset with the small end up and that they would come up in about ten days.

That sounded good.

The stranger tipped his hat politely and left.

The next day we thought we would learn more about these wonderful bulbs from our friend, Bridgeford. He specializes in bulbs, raises them by the thousands, in fact, and knows them as Leather Stocking knew his wild wood.

Bridgeford looked at the bulbs, sniffed their subtle odor and handed them back.

"Those are Bermuda onions that have been soaked in rosewater and cologne," said he.

"Are they worth a dollar apiece?" asked I.

"They are worth a dollar a bushel," he answered.

It looks like a bad year for Brazilian lilies, but if I can raise an onion that will smell like the perfume counter at the drug store my investment may not have been in vain.

DOES HUMAN NATURE CHANGE?

[CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES]

BY DAVID STARR JORDAN,

Chancellor of Leland Stanford University.

A COMMON defense of war is that it is ingrained in human nature which does not change. "So long as nature produces red-blooded men, the sport of war will endure." This thesis is maintained in spite of the fact that, to continue the figure of speech, most recent wars are made by "blue-blooded men" supported by men of no blood at all. In others, men of the privileged cast, officers in armies and navies, have brought on war, supported by exploiters and war traders who grow rich through war's demands.

The instinct for struggle is doubtless ingrained but it can be turned to noble purposes as well as to the vulgar end of destruction. There are a thousand lines of effort which demand a nobler courage and intenser devotion than those which center in war. If the right use of the human faculty were made by the rulers of nations, there could be no battlefield.

"Men," says Prof. Vernon L. Kellogg, "should help men wisely. Men should take special care of all useful individuals, of all clear-blooded, clear-minded, strong-bodied, disease-resistant, long-living individuals. From them should the race find its chief renewal, for through them alone can the race actually advance. . . . This is the biological basis of rational eugenics."

"That human nature does not change" is a half truth only. Human nature does change very slowly, but human perspective sometimes very quickly. In the short course of recorded history human nature runs in much the same grooves. In a long story of a struggling race, the temper of men may change as all else changes. It is a matter of survival and selection. Even in our own times the angle of vision is being modified. What was once in its degree right, because nothing better was attainable, becomes hideously wrong when there is a choice of better things. The rise of civilization is a movement towards the best. It means suppression of the second-best, the substitution of forethought and justice for vacillation and violence. There have been "peace workers," "visionaries" through all the ages, and they have labored consciously or unconsciously for justice, for equality, for the sanctity of the life of the individual man; this, too, long before either peace or democracy or the rights of the individual had ever been dreamed of. Always the best men have stood for the best attainable, however poor that may have been, and from time to time there came to them visions of that far day when clashes of ideas should take the place of bodily killing and when no longer "Blood is their Argument" with men incompetent to control it any other way.

The evolution of humanity is towards a goal in which war between nations cannot possibly find a place. This movement is toward mutual help, towards planetary friendship. The good in man must control the evil, otherwise this would be a devil's world. In a high sense "human nature does not change"—it responds eternally to the call of righteousness.

So many human illusions and obsessions, crusades, feudalism, inquisition, witchcraft, each has gone its way, and perished each in the day of its apparent triumph! When men come to see nakedly what their wicked institutions mean, they will no longer live and die to maintain them. By this same token, war is doomed. If today's horror be not its death-throe, if we must look forward to another, then all thrones and empires will go down together, "God is not mocked forever," neither is man.

THE TIMELY TOPIC.

When modern people get together they do not talk about the weather as fellows used to do; but each one, in his conversation, describes some painful operation that lately he's gone through. The innocent bystander catches, while listening, disjointed snatches of talk that runs this way: "Oh, yes, I went to Dr.
Sidney, and he removed my starboard kidney—his bill I've yet to pay." "The surgeon, in a boastful humor, still quotes my large, ingrowing tumor, as worst he ever saw." "When from the chloroform emergin', I clinched my fist and soaked the surgeon a dinger on the jaw." "That old Doc Faker is a wizard; the way that he cut out my gizzard was something simply fine."
"Doc Chestnut says my system's rusty, and he will take his bucksaw trusty and amputate my spine."
"The doc assures me my salvation depends alone on amputation, if I would shake the gout." "I hear that Jeremiah Proctor has hired a famous eastern doctor to dig some organs out." "Twixt them and me the gulf grows wider; alas, I am a rank outsider—I never have been commotion I simply mix a drastic potion and take it with a spoon!

WALT MASON.

Where Does Hughes Stand?

[St. Joseph News-Press:] Although all attempts to "smoke out" Justice Hughes have failed so far, his boom for the Republican nomination for President shows no signs of collapsing. Practically the only flaw in the Hughes movement is the utter lack of knowledge of the jurist's convictions on the issues of the hour. Nobody actually knows whether his attitude on the questions of foreign policy, for example, approaches that of Roosevelt on the one hand or that of President Wilson on the other, although his friends assert that he stands "somewhere in betwixt and between."

THE AWAKENING.

Safe in a sacred corner of my mind
From lesser loves set reverently apart,
I shrined an image. In that hallowed place
I rendered homage. There I worshiped for grace
Of mind and soul, and found companionship.
I did not see the sneer spent on me
Of this, my idol, for the light was dim.
And mine own blindness shielded him.

But, one dread day, that which I had owed, holy spot
Was filled with light, and I sought it not
And, lo, the image I had set so fair
Quickened to life, and laughed and mocked me there!
The garland I had placed upon his head
He tossed away; the altar stone I had
So tenderly be scattered far and wide.
And all love's offerings he brushed aside.

Since when, alas, I grieve! and I alone
That my rare marble proved to be but stone;
I sorrow more that I was moved to see
The common clay he would not let from me!

47TH YEAR. WEDNESDAY MORNING, MAY 10, 1916.—4 PAGES. PART III.

A. HIGH STAGES TENTH INNING RALLY AND WINS GAME FROM LINCOLN.

Positively Wild.

CLIFFDWELLERS NEARING BASEBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

High School Alone Stands in Way — Game to be Played at Washington Park Monday — Lincoln is Walloped in Ten Innings of Excitement—Frink Hits One Batsman in Ribs with Curve.

BY HOWARD ANGUS.

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL may go to the baseball championship of the Cliffdwellers league if the Cliffdwellers defeat Frink at Washington Park Monday afternoon. The whole future of the title hangs on that game.

The Cliffdwellers won from Lincoln yesterday in an exciting ten-inning game by the score of 3 to 2. They are now one game ahead of the Railsplitters. A victory gives the championship to L. A. High clean and cinches it. A defeat ties the two teams and will mean a play off.

The ball game of yesterday was one of the most exciting seen in the city this year. It lasted to the end as if the players were to be called on account of darkness, but Umpire Kepner stood and stoically with the rest of the teams broke down under the strain. It was fitting to him which one, it was one.

EARLY START.

The Railsplitters started out as they intended to make it. Lefty Levinson. In the first and second innings they scored. In the second Levinson's man across the plate. An error by him let in After that he settled down and only scattered hits were made off of the game. In the innings he was absolutely invincible.

The pitcher the same kind of ball and only allowed four hits in the first three innings. It was not that in the tenth he showed signs of his curve ball. It was that the Cliffdwellers in the first one of these scored the winning run, when Roberts singled and stole second.

SILVER HERO.

Art Shafer, cousin of Art Shafer of the Giants and captain of the team, is the man who made the hero. With the score in Lincoln's favor, two men out and two on, he stepped to the plate in the fourth, drove a liner to right-fielder's head and scored. After that Master Jack Shafer remained dormant. By some neat fielding around shortstop he helped keep Lincoln calm.

Coach Foley traces the defeat of the Railsplitters to a boy with a bicycle in center field. Thompson, the Lincoln second baseman, drove a liner out to center field in the eighth. There was a man on first. The ball hit the bicycle and bounced back into Centerfielder Adams's hand.

Just beyond the bicycle the hill at L. A. High suddenly gives way. Foley claims that if the ball had not hit the bicycle it would have rolled forever down the hill and that Lincoln would have scored two runs and cinched the battle.

LAUGHS.

L. A. High laughs at this and points to three circus catches by Lincoln fielders that prevented runs. In the second inning Kinney climbed up a bank, fell on his ear and caught a ball that would have scored at least two runs. In the fourth Cuyler and Kinney bumped heads while running after the same ball. Cuyler in the scramble caught the ball with one hand. The two Lincoln players rolled over and were knocked out cold. When Cuyler came to, he still held the ball. In the meantime Lefur, who had hit the ball, had crossed the home plate.

Again when things were shaky in the seventh with Funk on third, Joerg bucked through a mob and caught a foul off the fence that took the pep and enthusiasm out of an L. A. rally. So the Cliffdwellers claim the breaks were fifty-fifty. According to L. A., circus catches are pure luck.

EXCITING.

For genuine, pure, unadulterated excitement a high school baseball game has any other sport in the world defeated. There is always somebody on base with the outcome in doubt. Somebody is always clouting a homer or striking out in a pinch. Just when one team has the game about cinched the leading nine will suddenly begin juggling the ball. Before they quit the score is tied. There is more uncertainty about a

LAUDER FINISHES WELL, BUT LOSES TO BREWSTER.

Heavy Right Floors Lauder in the Third Round and the Veteran's Fine Finish in the Final Session Fails to Make up for the Loss of the First Three Rounds of the Contest—Eddie may be a Star.

BY DE WITT VAN COURT.

STANDING room only greeted Eddie Brewster and Len Lauder in the main event at Jack Doyle's arena last night.

Brewster has been the talk of the town for several weeks and he lived up to the boosting he has been getting when he smothered Lauder for three rounds. Eddie is one of the fastest lightweights seen here in many months, and has a remarkably fast right hand and extremely hard punch back of it. He is a cousin of Mike Gibbons and resembles that famous middleweight in build. In fact he is a pocket edition of Mike in many ways. He hails from St. Paul but has been doing a lot of boxing around the Northwestern country.

Brewster's left hand was somewhat of a disappointment. He holds it extended and depends entirely on his right for execution. He is also quite a clincher and if he cuts that out and develops as good a left as he has a right, he should be heard from in the championship class some day.

Carter de Haven, Fatty Voss, Bob Leonard, Harry Gribbon and many other noted movie actors and actresses sat at the ringside to cheer their favorites.

Lauder should be given some credit for the great finish he made in the final reel of the four-reel picture.

Len hails from the Keystone company of movies and had a bunch of rooters on hand to cheer him on; and, believe me, they had some chance in the last round.

Brewster was the first to appear and was directed by Jess Orsatti and several assistants.

Lauder had as director Jack Clark, with Monk Breda as assistant.

Some of the crowd objected to the kid gloves Brewster wore under his boxing gloves, but he was allowed to wear them.

The interest in the contest re-

SEALS DRIFT INTO FIRST PLACE WHEN ANGELS LOSE.

Frank Decanniere and Jack Ryan Engage in a Duel of Passes; Frank Walks More than Jack, but is Tight with His Hits and the Seraphs are Shut Out — A Few Flashes of Good Fielding Help Some.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

SAN FRANCISCO drifted into first place yesterday while idly reposing on the placid bosom of a mud puddle. Pretty soft for the Seals.

Wolverton's men without turning an oar or otherwise paddling their own canoe became the league leaders solely through the horrors of a game played down here in the land of sunshine and perpetual baseball. Los Angeles lost this terrible argument, 4 to 0, and was plastered with the S. O. sign for the first time this year. Never before have the present Angels been skunked. Everybody figured that their Portland trip would have a bad effect, and yet few thought it would come so near proving fatal.

San Francisco was mired down to the hubs in Portland, but this made no difference. The Seals went into first place in spite of themselves, and while standing still, solely through virtue of the local horror. Thus the fans who for many days have swelled and palpitated with civic pride through seeing the inspiring name, "Los Angeles" at the head of the percentage table, woke up this morning with a burnt sienna flavor in the voice. Realizing that this will be a bad advertisement in the East and elsewhere for our fair city and ball team, said ball team will put in the next six months striving nobly to regain its lost prestige and position.

This game originally was to have been played on Wednesday. The Angels hurried south in order to stage it yesterday. This proved to be a mistake. Had the train been wrecked they might now be in first place, even though dead or mangled. And though dead they would still retain the respect of their friends and neighbors.

If the naked truth must be told about them, they played ball like nine Charlie Chaplins. Plainly, they had looked too long on the dining car grub while coming home. This made them logy, and unable to freeze the pill. It also took the sheen off their batting eye, and gummed up their respective throwing arms. The movies over-looked a big bet when they did not have a battery of cameras at the ball park, considering the big demand for comedy.

The combat ran largely to lack of control on the part of two pitchers, and five errors by the Angels. Chance's men cuffed and booted the ball, made faces at it and spoke profanely in its presence. In fact, they found new and heretofore unknown uses for the ball, and did

HUN COACHES ARE CHOSEN.

Nixon of Davenport to Boss the Athletic Teams.

Schott of Wisconsin Leader in Gymnasium.

Both Come Highly Talked of by Experts.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CLAREMONT, May 9.—Pomona's coaches for the coming season have been secured at last. True to his promise of a week ago, President Blaisdell today gave out the names of the men who are to lead the Huns on gridiron and track for the 1916-1917 season.

Instead of one man to take charge of all athletics as has been the custom in the past the Hun authorities have provided two men for next year, each a specialist in his own line. Eugene W. Nixon of Davenport, Iowa, and Carl P. Schott of Plattville, Wis., are the two applicants for the positions open at Pomona.

The latter will have full charge of the physical department of the college while Nixon will coach the football and track teams, according to present plans. Coach Stanton has always been handicapped in the past by having too much work thrust upon his shoulders during football season because of the fact that he served in the dual capacity of football coach and gymnasium director, while under the new plans there will be one man for each of these positions.

President Blaisdell in making the announcement told of the time he has spent in the last six months in securing the right men for the positions. He has made trips to all parts of the East and the Middle West to meet the various applicants for the vacant place at the head of Pomona's athletics and these two men have been selected from a list of fifty or more applicants, many of whom came from east of the Mississippi River.

Both bear the highest of recommendations from their former places of employment. Eugene Nixons is one of the best-known football coaches in the Middle West. For six years he has been at the head of athletics at the Davenport High School and during that time has brought championships almost without number in football, baseball and track to the Davenport school.

In the six years he has coached the Iowa team he has lost but two games to outside schools, both of these by close scores, and Davenport has become famous for the wonderful football machines produced by the man who is to coach the Huns next year. His success in track has been no less remarkable. Only last year the Davenport track team walked off with the State interscholastic championships, held at Des Moines, with ease and it was mainly through the efforts of Coach Nixon that this was possible. Coach Nixon has come to be called the "Wizard of Iowa" because of the success he had had in winning championships.

The new Hun coach was born in 1885 in Marissa, Ill., Graduating from high school there in 1902 he entered Monmouth College and at once became the most talked-of athlete in the State. During each of the four years he was in college he won his letter in all four major sports, football, baseball, track and basketball and was the star of his team in each of these sports. It was during this period that Monmouth became one of the leading colleges in the athletic world and the name Nixon became a by-word throughout the entire Middle West.

Only a month ago the Chicago Herald printed a column write-up of the record of Nixon while in college, calling him the "Little Giant of Monmouth" and terming him the greatest athlete ever produced by that college. He holds the record of ten seconds flat in the 100-yard dash and six feet in the high jump and for several months was one of the stars of the Illinois Athletic Club's track squad.

Carl Schott also comes to Pomona highly recommended. He is a graduate of the Piru Kansas Normal College and the Springfield Training School and is recognized as a first-class man in the physical training department. The powers that be at Pomona have decided to make the physical training department of the college one of the strongest in the State and beginning next year every man in school will be given personal attention and a chance to make a varsity team. Under this system the Huns expect to unearth a world of hidden material, and within a few years Pomona teams should become almost invincible.

Still a third man will be secured as an assistant coach in the near future and in all probability and for the first time the Huns will be supplied with a really adequate coaching staff. With the announcement of the names of the new coaches the athletic situation at Pomona is beginning to clear up.

The resignation of Coach Stanton together with the overwhelming defeat of the football team had left an unsettled feeling about the Sage Hen campus which the announcement made by President Blaisdell has smoothed over to a marked degree. The Huns have become optimistic again and are looking forward to the coming football season with anticipations of another one of those teams which had made Pomona famous on the gridiron. With such a man as Nixon at Pomona, Stanton at Occidental, Wilson at Whittier and Cromwell at U.S.C. the south seems to be in for the greatest year of football it has yet seen, and Pomona hopes to be in the race from the very start.

MIKE DORIZAS CRACKS RECORD.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

PHILADELPHIA, May 9.—Mike Dorizas, the Greek athlete of the University of Pennsylvania, today set a new record of 2109 points in the gymnasium test, thereby regaining the laurels briefly held by Edward C. Russell, a senior at the university. Last week Russell made a record of 1962 points.

SETTING NETS, GETS BIG FINE.

CATALINA LAW VIOLATORS TO LOSE NETS AND MONEY.

Japanese Arrested by Fish and Game Commission's Sea Patrol Draw a Heavy Penalty from the Superior Court—Commissioner Defines Commission's Powers.

Setting gill-nets about Catalina Island proved an expensive evasion of the laws yesterday when the four Japanese arrested late in March by Deputy Pritchard in charge of the Fish and Game Commission's sea patrol were found guilty by the Superior Court, Judge McCormick imposing fine, which in indictable misdemeanors such as all violations of the net laws, is $100 minimum.

The nets illegally used, fourteen pieces aggregating almost a third of a mile, were confiscated at the time of arrest, and condemnation proceedings are being instituted today after which the law requires the nets to be either destroyed or put up at auction to the highest bidder. The ruling of Fish and Game Commissioner Connell upon this point is that nets illegal in undersized mesh, or of unlawful nature must be destroyed; but that nets like these gill-nets in question, which are lawful enough if used in places where permitted, can be sold, giving the returns of sale back to the fish and game conservation cause, and offering the original owners a chance to purchase back their gear if they so desire.

Such was the Fish and Game Commission's answer to those who thought the Catalina laws were not being enforced, the wheels of justice being busy at the very time the "doubters" were doubting.

"Some have a very wrong conception of the Fish and Game Commission's powers which should be cleared up," said Fish and Game Commissioner Connell yesterday. "We have no option about the enforcement of the laws. Our work is executive rather than judicial, and never legislative. We must deal with the laws as written; our nearest approach to law making is gathering scientific data and making suggestions to the Legislature which no law compels it to follow, although we are consulted more for information and advice each season. But in between sessions, enforcement of ill-advised or entirely wise and destrable laws is all as one, no discriminatory power being vested in the commission as to what shall, or what shall not, be enforced. Others can talk to legislative committees on fish and game as well as we—and sometimes better for their interests, if worse for conservation as a whole. In such ways our programme becomes confused at times."

Poly defeated Hollywood High School by the score of 6 to 5 yesterday afternoon. Pattison lost the game in the first four innings. After that he tightened up. The damage had been done.

Hollywood hit Talley hard and managed to score about every other inning. In the eighth the bases were filled, but only one run crossed the plate. That was the ticklish inning for Poly. The score:

The grocery team had high game of 841. On the other alleys, in the same league, the Southern California Edison Company won four out of five games from the Santa Fe team. Peh was in good form and knocked down 806 pins, for an average of 161. Keith was the next best, with 781 pins, for an average of 156. Jensen had the credit for high game of 196. The scores:

By hitting the ball hard when hits meant runs the Manual Arts ball team came back yesterday and handed the San Pedro squad a 5-to-3 trouncing when they met on the Manual campus.

San Pedro took the lead from the start of the game by scoring one in the first. Tarr, the first man up, singled, and scored on a double by Fairall. After that San Pedro never had a chance until the eighth inning, when they scored one on a single, a walk and an error.

Manual came in strong in the second frame. A single by Bailey, a double by Thomas, a walk, and a single by Kadow sent three runs over the plate. A walk by Sperry, a sacrifice by Thomas and Erb's long double scored another in the fourth inning. Manual's last score came on an error, a walk and a single to right by McAlpine.

Thomas, pitching for Manual, was the star player for the winning team. He pitched a good game and his double was responsible for two of Manual's scores.

FRANKIE SULLIVAN EARNS NEAT DRAW.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SEATTLE, May 9.—Joe Bonds of Tacoma beat Fred Grant of Kansas City for the heavyweight championship of the Northwest in four of the most uninteresting rounds witnessed here in months, at the Tivoli Theater tonight. They were supposed to weigh 180, but Grant looked 200.

The smoker was saved by the excellent exhibition of 125 pounders staged by Frankie Sullivan of Los Angeles and Leo Houck of Seattle. They fought to a draw. This bout was a return battle between the boys, and Sullivan started off like a winner, apparently having Houck groggy in the second round with a right to the jaw. Sullivan did not press his advantage and Houck came back and easily earned a draw by getting a big shade in the last canto. Sullivan was best in infighting, while he was outboxed at long range by Houck.

Joe Harrahan of Seattle broke even with Earl Conners of Tacoma at 123 pounds.

Eddie Hunter of Seattle beat Larry Charb of Everett at 150 pounds.

Harry Casey of Tacoma and Andy Duval of Scattle fought a draw at 136.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDONDO BEACH, May 9.—At a rousing meeting of the Redondo Beach Athletic Club last night at the bath-house, eighteen new members were taken into the fold, and a challenge issued to the Long Beach High School water team to meet the athletic club on next Saturday evening at the Redondo Beach bath-house, if the Long Beach fellows have no conflicting engagements.

After initiating the new members last evening, which brings the total up to 145 members since the club organized three months ago, Sid Williams was elected captain of the swimming team. Williams is the champion swimmer in the back stroke of the Coast, having come within a few seconds of breaking the world's record in the back stroke.

PREPS PLAY PAIR OF NET VETERANS.

Maurice E. McLaughlin and Thomas C. Bundy played an exhibition tennis match with the Manual Arts doubles team, Harvey Snodgrass and Frank Winne, at Manual Arts yesterday noon and won from the Toilers by scores of 6-3, 6-2. McLaughlin also took on Bundy for a set of singles and defeated his doubles partner, 6-3.

Following the matches, McLaughlin was asked as to what he thought the chances were for the Manual lads winning in the State tournament at Berkeley. McLaughlin said: "Both Snodgrass and Winne play a good game. They will have to watch out for Rolland Roberts, but unless he has a strong partner, the Manual team stands a good chance to win the State doubles championship."

RISBERG AND QUINLAN FINED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 9.—From $25 up is to be the cost to Pacific League baseball players this season for losing their tempers and showing it. C. A. ("Swede") Risberg, second baseman for Vernon, and Thomas Quinlan, centerfielder for Salt Lake City, each was assessed the $25 minimum today by President Allan T. Baum of the league on account of a squabble last Saturday at Los Angeles. Risberg accused Quinlan of interfering with a play in the eighth inning, and in the ensuing scuffle most of Quinlan's shirt disappeared.

THREE DAYS OF FISHING IS VERY PRODUCTIVE.

Stream Fishing About Big Bear is Peculiar this Year—Fish in Upper Santa Ana Plenty, but no Speckled Beauties at All in the Lower Waters—Floods Blamed.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

BIG BEAR VALLEY, May 9.—Three high school boys have the record in stream fishing for this section, having snagged 350 trout after three days whipping of Bear Creek between the big dam here and Slide Lake. The boys are Davenport Smith, Clio Burris and Harold Linseau, all of Redlands. The trout they caught range in length from six to ten inches.

There is something queer about the stream fishing this year as it is good only in spots. In the Upper Santa Ana and headwaters of Bear Creek the fishing has been good but in the Lower Santa Ana, from the mouth of the canyon to the Edison intake, there has not been a trout taken out this season. Old-timers say that the fish below the intake were all swept away in the heavy floods of January.

Lake fishing continues to be good although it is not as easy to get the big ones as on the opening day of the season. C. A. Tripp, Jack Tripp, B. W. Cave and Carl McIntosh of Redlands, had the best luck in the week-end fishing here. They caught some four and five-pound trout and went out of the valley with creels well filled.

Herbert Gowland, Harvey Phillips, B. H. Washburn, P. E. Sauer and Carl Burwell had fair luck on the lake but no limits fell to them. Forrest Fowler, Roy Shaw and Clarence Ralphs, who had good luck at the opening, came in the valley today to try it again.

minded us of the old times at the old Vernon Arena.

Round one opened by Brewster moving his camera up close to Len. He immediately got the focus and shot a hard right to the body, then clinched and held Lauder's arms. When they broke away he repeated the blow. He then put a light left to Len's head and followed with another fast and hard right to the body. His speed was lightning fast.

He held Lauder off with his left hand extended and put a hard right to Lauder's jaw. He then proceeded to smother Lauder with hard rights to both body and head. He works very fast on his feet and it looked as though he could finish Lauder at any time he wished to do so.

He opened the second round with a rush across the ring, trying to get Len before he could assume his boxing attitude, but Len was too foxy to be caught by an old trick like that. After several fast exchanges and clinches, Brewster put a hard right to the jaw. He landed another to the jaw just before the bell rang, and it looked bad for Len.

In the early part of the third round, he put Len down with a hard right to the jaw for the count of eight. Len was game but Brewster was too fast.

The fourth brought the crowd to their feet. Eddie tried with his right and shook Len up again. This seemed to wake Len up and he started with his right after he got the focus of Brewster's jaw and succeeded in landing seven good rights to Brewster's jaw, but it made no impression on the fast St. Paul boy. He won easily and it will be some time before he is beaten by any of the local boxers, if at all.

The first preliminary between Young Hannihan and Young Urgo at 118 pounds was a hummer from start to finish. It was slug, slug and slug some more. Hannihan staggered Urgo several times in the first round with solid rights to the jaw. The second, third and fourth found Urgo forging to the front on account of his better condition. Hannihan substituted and boxed gamely throughout, but lost the decision.

The second go between Lang Finn and Louis Strecker ended in a knockout by Finn in one minute and twenty seconds. Finn outclassed Strecker from the start.

Perry Yantz lost the fourth bout to Billy Moore in the fourth round after three and a half rounds of wild and wooly swinging. They swung at each other like the wings of a Dutch windmill, much to the amusement of the crowd, but the fun was not with Perry and Billy. They both rolled over the top ropes in the second round and Fatty Vols beat it out of his seat in a hurry, or they would have landed in his lap. The referee stopped it in the middle of the fourth round and gave the decision to Moore.

A big cheer greeted Freddy Barrett when he entered the ring to meet Eddie Martin. Many expectad Barrett to annihilate Martin and much to their surprise, Eddie made the tough and strong Barrett look cheap before he got through with him and won a clean-cut decision.

The semi-windup between Joe Nieto and Red Matthews was the poorest bout of the show. It was not Matthews's fault. He was simply too strong for the skinny but game Joe and won the one-sided bout with ease.

"THE best Pneumatic Tire is only as strong as its weakest part.

Strengthening its strongest parts is as useless as putting a fifth Wheel on a Wagon.

Yet this is often done to provide "Selling-feature" and "Talking Point."

The weakest part of every Pneumatic Tire is its Walls or Sides, not its Tread,—its Cotton Fabric or "Stocking," not its Rubber "Sole."

No price would be too high to pay for a material that, replacing Cotton in the Walls of Pneumatic Tires, would last as long as the Goodrich Rubber Tread could be made to wear.

Neither Silk, nor Linen, nor any other known Fabric, yet discovered is so good, for this purpose, as Cotton,—and choice long-fibred Cotton is the best material than money can buy for Tire Fabric.

"WE use nothing less in Goodrich Tires, and test every foot of it up to 200 lbs. to the Square Inch, before we percolate it with the most adhesive Rubber Compound ever made for this purpose.

We then shape this rubberized Long-Fibred Fabric into Tires, with scrupulous care to have the tension on each square inch of fabric precisely the same.

That tension is controlled by a machine as sensitive as the eye, and infinitely more precise than the handwork of the most skilled Operative could make it.

To do this work we have the most highly trained men in the Rubber Industry,—trained in the Precision that practice and our 45-year EXPERIENCE make perfect.

"NO Tire Manufacturer, if he received a price of $200 per Tire, could put better Fabric into the Walls of his Tires, use greater care, more sensitively adjusted Tension devices, or more adhesive Rubber between each layer of fabric.

Because, we know the vital importance of THE BEST in this part of the Tire, and use it there unsparingly.

But,—notwithstanding this,—the FABRIC is the [illegible] the Tire which goes [illegible].

Because the sides of the [illegible] do most of the work in [illegible] —bending and stretching [illegible] lion times an hour, in [illegible] different directions.

This bending of the [illegible] causes Friction between [illegible] ers of Canvas working [illegible] each other,—Friction caused [illegible] —the Heat over-cures and [illegible] out the Rubber Adhesive between layers, which then separate [illegible] each other, in spots, the [illegible] weakening or wearing [illegible] against each other.

Then you have, in the [illegible] the incipient blow-out, or [illegible] form of Tire-Death.

"PUT more layers of [illegible] Fric than we do in [illegible] walls, to [illegible] them, and the friction [illegible] with faster deterioration of the Rubber through the [illegible] engendered.

Put fewer layers, and [illegible] walls would not be strong [illegible] to carry the load of the Car.

So there you are—Mr. [illegible] User!

Why put MORE [illegible] of Fabric in the Walls of a Tire than will properly [illegible] the load, when each [illegible] layer is an additional factor of that FRICTION-HEAT [illegible] is to Tires what Old Age is to Man?

"THAT is the reason we build (and have built for more than a [illegible] in the Goodrich Tire, a [illegible] BALANCED Tire, emulating the famous example of "The Deacon's One-Hoss Shay" in which "The Sills were just as strong as the Thills and the Thills as strong as the floor."

The Maximum Fabric Efficiency and THEN,—the most the Tire built up to that.

Result,—

—The most RESILIENT Tire that can be made with Pneumatic Walls,—at the lowest cost per Mile of performance.

Why pay more for any Tire?

BROWNS HEAVY LOAD TO LIFT.

Fielder Jones has All He Cares to Handle.

Doc White Praises Mystery Manager of Sox.

Mitze and Mitchell Act Very Mysteriously.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Although the standing of St. Louis in the American League may not indicate as much, Doc White says that Fielder Jones is the genuine merchandise as a manager.

To the fans of a younger generation Jones is more or less a man of mystery, and remembered largely through one great achievement—the winning of the American League pennant and the world title with the Chicago White Sox in 1906. He stands illuminated solely by his one triumph of that one year. In other seasons, and if it were possible to strike 1906 from his record, he would have long since been forgotten, as has many a manager before him, and since.

It is true that an analysis of Fielder's record as a manager in other season's would seem to stamp him as a leader of resource and merit. Never in his career has he finished worse than third.

During his six years as a manager, Jones has two seconds to his credit, three thirds and one championship. Now he is going along in this place and striving for better things.

The White Sox finished seventh in 1904 and were going poorly in 1905 when Jones was elevated to the management. By the end of the season he had driven the club into third place, and the following year he landed it second. Then came his crowning year, 1906, when he put the Sox under the wire first, and provided a climacteric sensation by defeating the Cubs in the big playoff. The Sox never did repeat. However, he placed them third in 1907 and 1908, and those years the race was so tight that only a few points separated the three leading clubs.

At the end of that season, Jones retired to his timber lands in Oregon. One year later Comiskey offered him an enormous salary to resume charge of the Sox, but he steadfastly refused to be tempted back into baseball until the St. Louis Feds offered him some unusual inducements last year.

He took the Sloughfeds, which had finished last in 1914, and landed them second, losing the championship to Chicago by only one point.

To the Players.

Jones always is very popular with his men, and that is believed to be one of the elements of his success. One of the reasons for this popularity is to be found in an incident in 1906, which is recalled because characteristic of him.

Beating the Cubs that year "made" the White Sox. They instantly became the best-advertised ball club in the world. Of course, the Sox went into that series without much hope. They didn't figure to win anything except the loser's end of the gate receipts.

However, early in the series, it became evident that the Cubs were off their stride and that the Sox were playing as a team seldom played before or since. Comiskey, in addition to being a club owner, is a sportsman. And even more, he is a "fan" when it comes to his own team. As the series progressed, and there were signs of a probable victory for the Sox, the "old Roman" became shaken with emotion and excitement. Finally, with the games three to two in favor of the Sox, and what proved to be the deciding game in progress, Commy could stand the strain no longer. With the count seven to two in favor of his team, he went to his office and refused to see anybody. There he paced the floor and awaited the final result. This proved to be a score of 8 to 3 in favor of the Sox, and was rushed to him at the end of the game.

Jones entered the office and found Comiskey too deeply moved for words.

Finally he said with a choking voice, "I must do something for the man who won that battle."

At that time double prices were being charged for the world series games and the cut of the players was not nearly as large as in more recent years.

"What will you make out of this series?" inquired Jones.

"My share will be $30,000," replied Comiskey.

"I would suggest that you give half of that to the players," ventured Jones.

And the "Old Roman," without a moment's hesitation, penned a check for $15,000 payable to the players.

A Change in Rules.

There is talk of changing the batting rules in the Coast League so as to allow each club which visits Portland in the spring to take three weeks off in which to get in condition. Not a bad idea.

Olympic Club.

While never entirely losing the glamour of that 1906 achievement, Jones must make good in this, his second venture in the American league, if his luster is to remain unsullied. The amalgamation of the Browns and St. Louis Feds gave him two complete teams from which to fashion a winner. Neither a great team both contained a number of players of more than ordinary merit. The consolidation enabled him to fill the brilliant Shotton in the outfield with such players as Marsans and Stubbs, and to add to a pitching staff already possibly above the average twirlers of the caliber of Plank, Davenport and Groom. He is a great second baseman in Pratt and is using the phenomenal and versatile Sisler at first.

He started with Lavan, the old Sox shortstop, in that position, but more recently is using Ernie Johnson. At third he had old Jimmy Austin and Deal. Deal never looked much with the Braves, but hit well with the Feds. Hartley, formerly third-string catcher for the Sox, is doing the bulk of his back stopping. He and Deal, however, are greatly improved players.

On paper the club seems hardly to

Then he doubled double prices were charged for the world series games, and the cut of the players was nearly as large as in more than one pennant.

Just what will you make out of this story, inquired Jones.

"There will be $30,000," replied Comiskey.

"I would SUGGEST that you give one-half of that to the players," vouchsafed Jones.

Then the "Old Roman," without a moment's hesitation, penned a check for $15,000 payable to the players.

Changes in Rules.

There is talk of changing the batting rules in the Coast League so as to allow each club which visits Los Angeles in the spring to take three games in which to get in condition. Not a bad idea.

Home Club.

Ping never entirely losing the spirit of that 1906 achievement. He once made good in this, his home town in the American League organization of the Cubs and St. Louis Feds gave him two teams from which to make a winner. Neither a great club, it contained a number of players of more than ordinary merit. Fielder's organization enabled him to use the brilliant Shotton in the outfield with such players as Marsans and Hooper, and to add to a pitching staff possibly above the average members of the caliber of Vaughn and Groom. He had a second baseman in Pratt who was among the phenomenal and a first baseman at first.

Then with Lavan, the old Cub scrapper, in that position, Fielder usually is using Ernie Johnson, he had old Jimmy Archer, a real never looked back with the Braves, but hit with the Feds. Hartley, formerly batting catcher for the Cubs, is doing the bulk of his backstopping and Deal, however, is showing improved players. Even the club seems hardly to measure up to championship caliber. Neither did the Sox in 1906, although we incline to the belief that the Sox that year were generally under-rated. They had superlative pitching. Can Jones repeat? To date with the Browns, he has shown less than the unknown Fohl in Cleveland. Such is baseball.

Brown Dies.

William T. Brown, treasurer of the Spalding Company, died suddenly in Chicago yesterday, according to a wire received last night by Otto Merpall, the company's local manager. Brown was a brother-in-law of the late A. G. Spalding, and also of J. W. Spalding, the present president. He was born at Rockford, Ill., a town which played an important part in the early history of baseball.

Get Fish.

President Powers of the Angels and George Cline are due to return today from Big Bear, where they have been trouting since Sunday. Tonight they will entertain twenty-five or so of their friends at a fish dinner of some magnitude, all of which would seem to indicate that they were successful.

McMullen Stars.

Another Los Angeles boy appears to have qualified in the big league. According to eastern advices, Fred McMullen begins to look like a fixture at third base for Chicago. Fred has few equals as a fielder in that position, and he has been hitting well. It was his single following Jackson's triple yesterday that tied the score and paved the way to an ultimate victory over New York.

Mysterious.

The unnatural conduct of Honus Mitze and Roy Mitchell in refusing offers to play with other clubs is causing considerable comment both here and elsewhere. It was announced recently by eVrnon that they had been released. Mitze immediately received an offer from Oakland, and turned it down. Yesterday he received another from Salt Lake, and gave an evasive reply.

American Association clubs sent Mitchell a number of offers, and he received another yesterday of a berth as manager of the Palestine club in Texas. Mitch has not accepted any of them, but like Mitze he is working out and keeping in condition. With any number of good players out of work, it is little wonder that the failure of these men to listen to offers is causing speculation as their status and intentions. According to reports in circulation here, Mitze is almost certain to be with the eVrnon club again in a short time, while Mitchell may replace one of the pitchers on the staff. What grounds ther are for these reports cannot be definitely stated at this time, but the future movements of the players will answer the question with a fair degree of clearness.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, May 9.—One thousand dollars will be paid the automobile driver who beats the present world's record for two miles if the performance is staged on Speedway Park's tamarack.

President David Reif issued an announcement to that effect yesterday, and added that he would tack on another $1500 for the first driver to circle the two-mile track in less than one minute flat.

It will take some smart going to lower the world's record for two miles or to circle the course in Maywood at a speed greater than 120 miles per hour.

The recognized world's record for two miles was made on Brookland's two and three-quarter mile track by Chassagne in 1914, when he drove a Sunbeam 113.9 miles an hour. At the speedway the standing recognized record for the two miles is 111.5 miles an hour, made by Oldfield in his Christie in 1915. Resta made 118 miles in practice, but it is not official. At Indianapolis the best is 99.85, made by Boillott in his Peugeot in 1914. Barney Oldfield made 102 miles at Tacoma in 1915.

All the time this wild melodrama of error and sensationalism is going on in the diamond the frenzied high school rooters are shouting and yelling like inmates of Patton on the side lines.

Girls are screaming at the tops of their voices. Boys are yelling in unison and out of unison and calling the umpire names. A brass band, all out of tune, is ripping and snorting the blazes out of some broken-down instruments. Among all this pandemonium a man cannot think. Better try to read some deep book in front of a circus sideshow.

THE SHOUTERS.

It looked for a while as if the Los Angeles High School rooters were not going to get a chance to yell and the Lincoln rooters were quite willing to do all the shouting. For four innings the Cliffdwellers sat with tears in their eyes and sarcastic droops to their mouths, sneering across space at the Railsplitters. Hysteria rocked the Lincoln side of the field.

Then came Shafer's triple. The L. A. bleachers became a sudden confusion of wildly dancing color. Girls were shrieking, boys beating each other over the head, teachers doing cakewalks. The worm had turned. A sudden cold chill swept the fevered Lincoln bleachers. The glooms and joys had suddenly changed places.

SCHAFERS GALORE.

On the L. A. bench was a brilliant array of Schafers. At one time there were no less than four. Among them sat the distinguished Art Shafer. Seated beside him was Coach Clendenin, trying to look unconcerned. His twitching mouth, nervous starts and stops and sharp orders gave him away, although he did very bravely kick stones on the ground whenever Lincoln held a rally.

The other excited coach was on the Lincoln bench. "Gee, it's hard not to lose your head," he kept whispering every time an error, an L. A. rally or a decision of Keppin's was not to his liking.

Keppin was the picture of repose. He moved around the diamond in a listless manner. Now one bleachers and then the other sang him the hymn of hate. At times ball players completely surrounded him. But Keppin never even smiled.

ROLLER SKATING COMING TO LIFE.

Roller skating in Southern California, where the sport has thrived more or less indifferently for the past two years, is to have a stimulus during the summer and fall months, according to plans adopted by the Roller Skaters' Association of Southern California at the recent masquerade carnival held at the Los Angeles Rink.

Committees have been appointed to stimulate interest in the sport by means of staging races, fancy skating contests, masquerade parties and other festive events at the various rinks all over the south.

It is also planned to organize roller polo teams, and to stage contests between the aggregations representing the different rinks and cities of Southern California.

With no polo tourneys scheduled for Lakewood, N. J., this spring, Rumsen Country Club will probably be the center of New Jersey activity.

nearly everything but hit and field it.

Jack Ryan seemed to have nothing but his reputation and working clothes. He passed six guys in six rounds. Frank Decanniere, his illustrious opponent, went him one better in the matter of passes, but was supreme in the pinches and basked in the boon of perfect support. Just to even up matters, Grover Cleveland Brant, who worked the last two rounds, issued a pass. This made seven on each side, or a grand total of fourteen. There were a number of times with the bases full, or nearly so, when a safe lick or two would have meant a tied score or the game, but the Angel sluggers, filled up to the gills with railroad grub, were unable to connect. They probably could have connected with a platter of ham and eggs, but Decanniere wisely refused to throw them anything like that.

With all the bum fielding there were flashes of spectacular work, notably by Kane, Maggert and McGaffigan. Kane and Maggert pulled down a couple of blows which seemed to be labelled for extra bases, if not more.

Chink Mattick was benched for the afternoon, Doane going to center and Griggs occupying right field. Rube Ellis also was benched, Kane playing left. This was because Johnny bats right-handed, and Decanniere is left-handed. Not being permitted to play ball, Chink and Rube sat on the bench and played with the tin dipper which the athletes use for watering their faces.

Decanniere showed the first signs of departing from the groove in the opener when he walked Kane with one gone. Wolter singled to right. Kane hopped over the ball en route to second and tried to make third. Because of this hop he lost some valuable time, and was thrown out by Griggs. Koerner flied to Daley.

Vernon jarred Ryan for a run in the first. Doane singled, took second on Gleichmann's sacrifice and counted when Risberg knocked a patch of fuss off first base with a two-bagger. Bates and Daley did not prolong the argument.

Decanniere walked three in the second, and found the plate just in time to keep from walking himself out of the park. Following Galloway's fly to Griggs, he spilled eight wide ones over to McLarry and Fisher. Boles popped to Gleichmann. A pass to Ryan filled the bases. Maggert stuck around until the count stood three and two. Taking a swing at the next one he grounded to Risberg. Kane's running catch with Gleichmann on base in the third prevented a run.

Ryan splashed over with generosity in the fourth, walking four and forcing in a run. Daley, first up, drew a pass. The next two men were retired. Spencer, who had hit safely his last time up, was accorded the distinction of an honorary pass. Having acquired the habit, Jack walked Decanniere because he couldn't help it. This provided a tenant for every base. Ryan continued wild and wayward while pitching to Doane. Then he suffered a brain storm. With three balls and two strikes on Walter, Daley moved rapidly toward the plate with Ryan's wind-up. Jack, probably forgetting the situation, and believing that Pete was bent on stealing the plate, threw up a wide one. This, of course, walked Doane, forcing Pete across. Gleichmann forced Doane at second, retiring the side.

Los Angeles was slightly threatened with a run in the fifth, when two walks put runners on first and second with nobody out. Kane drove to Bates, who threw to McGaffigan for the purpose of forcing Maggert. Marty never did get his foot on the base, but Brashear ruled it a force-out. However, why mention mere trifles when there is so much else to write about. Gleichmann smothered Wolter's hot line drive.

There were two Vernon runs and several quaint doings in the fifth, including a bad heave by Fisher, a drop kick by Galloway, a stolen base by Daley and a funny peg by Walter Boles that sent the pill into left field. Boles redeemed himself by nipping Doane off third in the sixth. Otherwise the score would have been even more lopsided.

Again in the seventh the Angels loaded the bases for no apparent reason. Fisher singled with one out, and Butler, batting for Ryan, walked. Maggert's infield hit put threes on. Doane bagged Kane's fly so close-in that no attempt was made to score. and Wolter wafted a [illegible] Gleichmann.

The Remarkable New Issue

FOR 148 years the Encyclopaedia Britannica has been not merely the standard encyclopaedia in the English language, but the foremost work of its kind in all the world.

The new Eleventh Edition cost more to produce than any other set of books ever issued—more than a million and a half dollars for the editorial preparation alone.

Of this new edition, issued by the Cambridge University Press, more than 75,000 sets have already been sold.

At a total exceeding fourteen million dollars.

This issue, costing from $150 to $250 per set, was beyond the reach of a large number of people to whom the Encyclopaedia Britannica is a keener need than to many who could afford it at this price.

To meet the demand for a popular issue at a popular price the publishers prepared for us a "Handy Volume" Issue page for page the same, with the single difference of a smaller page.

This new issue is absolutely unabridged, every one of its 30,000 pages unchanged.

Yet by arranging for a huge printing it was possible to cut the cost to you to one-third that of the larger sized Cambridge University issue.

And we send you the entire 29 volumes, in any binding, upon a first payment of a SINGLE DOLLAR.

This new issue is a miracle of compactness and convenience. It takes up only 32 inches of shelf space, or sits conveniently on any library table.

It brings the whole world's knowledge within your instant reach.

The two issues are on view at the stores shown below, where they may be compared volume by volume, and orders placed.

If it is more convenient, send at once for the handsome 130-page book described opposite, which tells you all about it.

Now at 1/3 the Cost of the Larger Sized Cambridge University Issue

But Not Much Longer

The remarkable bargain we are offering can last only a little while longer. The contracts for the "Handy Volume" Issue were made before the war began.

The drastic increase in the cost of raw materials makes it impossible to renew them. Paper has advanced over 60 per cent.—leather more than 80 per cent.—binder's boards, 40 per cent., etc.

The publishers notify us that after the sets now on hand are exhausted they cannot supply any more at the present low prices.

We Guarantee that the "Handy Volume" Issue is authorized by the publishers of the new Encyclopaedia Britannica; that its contents are identical, page for page (including every map and illustration), with the Cambridge University issue now selling at three times the price; that it is manufactured by the same printers and binders as the more expensive book; that it is printed on the same quality of India paper, from newly made plates; and that, because it is smaller, it is easier to handle than the Cambridge issue.

We Guarantee complete and entire satisfaction with the contents of the Encyclopaedia Britannica and with the form of our "Handy Volume" Issue. To anyone who, for any reason, is not satisfied and returns the set within three weeks, we guarantee to return all he has paid (including shipping charges).

Quips and Tips.

CUES AND CURLICUES.

STAGELAND CHATTER AND FILM FLICKERS AND FLASHES.

By Grace Kingsley.

Harry Mestayer is to be the leading man at the Burbank after this week. He will play young Brewster in "Brewster's Millions," which will go on Monday night next.

By-by, Forrest.

Forrest Stanley is to go to the Alcazar, in San Francisco, as leading man next week.

Devotion Note.

Marjorie Davis, ex-shopgirl, who made her debut as leading woman at the Burbank last Monday night, tells of the first time she ever saw David Warfield, and of the impression he made on her.

"I was about 10," said Miss Davis, "and my sister and I were sitting in the gallery at Warfield's performance of 'The Music Master.' When Warfield stretched out his hands and said good-by to his beloved pupil, with that wonderful sob in his throat, I unconsciously gasped out a loud 'good-by' in response. I think Mr. Warfield couldn't have liked it very well at the time, for it 'broke up' the entire gallery, but I met him afterward and related the incident, and he laughed like a boy."

Will Tarry to "Film."

At the close of her present season with the Boston Opera Company Maggie Teyte will remain to appear in a film version of "I Pagliacci" before leaving for Europe. This will detain her until the middle of July, after which she will join her wounded soldier fiance in England.

What's the Use?

This is a tale of "Raffles" outraffled. Forrest Stanley, playing the title role in the play at the Burbank this week, received the shock of his young life yesterday afternoon when he returned home from rehearsal. His room had been ransacked, his "best" suit stolen, and there were also missing underwear, a stickpin and a silk umbrella. He also discovered a heap of old garments and a dirty bath tub.

On the table was a note stating laconically: "Dear Raffles, I'm understudying you!"

Another Star in Vaudeville.

Margaret Illington has just accepted a sketch by Ethel Clifton and Brenda Fowler and will play it in vaudeville next season.

Daphne's Archery.

Daphne Pollard, appearing in "The Passing Show of 1915" at the Mason, is an expert at archery. She won a prize last year in a Long Island contest.

"I guess I shall have to give up the sport, however," said Miss Pollard; "it's so difficult to get a chance to practice it. And then things will get in your way and get hurt. A cow wandered across my path, last year, and I injured her, and had to pay damages. I shall have to become a gentle golfist, I guess."

Back on Big Time.

Thais Magrane, leading woman a few seasons ago at the Belasco, is to go on the Orpheum circuit shortly with a sketch written for her by Wells Hawks. Miss Magrane has just finished a picture engagement.

Would Lure to Peace.

Thomas Dixon's great peace plea in film form, "The Fall of a Nation," is nearly ready for showing. Victor Herbert is writing the musical score to accompany the photoplay spectacle.

The Pillums for Theirs.

"What's the use of subtlety in acting nowadays?" exclaimed Harry Mestayer yesterday with tears in his eyes.

Mestayer's wife (in spite of the desolation I know it must bring to hundreds of youthful feminine hearts to know he has a wife, this story must be told) was sitting in the audience at the Burbank on the opening night of "Raffles," in which Mestayer plays the detective, when she heard a woman behind her exclaim: "My gawd, he's too stupid! He'll never find them diamonds!"

Nan May Inhabit Trousers.

Nan Welch, the cutey Burbank ingenue, has been playing leads in the East, and is naturally restive at doing bits. They've wished another straight part on her in "Brewster's Millions," and she says she's going to ask to be allowed to double as the office boy!

Well, to quote Warner Baxter: "She cannot sing and she cannot dance,
But no other lady has a chance,
When Nan plays a boy in little knee pants."

Frankie Is Shifted.

Frank Darien is to be transferred to the Burbank company, during the run of "The Brat" at the Morosco, and will have a good part in "Brewster's Millions."

No Wonder!

Winifred Bryson was guest at a supper party after the show at the Burbank the other night. Charlie Ruggles toasted her: "Miss Bryson forever!"

"No, not Miss Bryson forever, I hope!" came back the beauteous Winifred.

It is said that there is a big blonde business man up in Portland who also hopes not.

Emigration Note.

Mae Marsh and Robert Herron, with a company of twenty-five Fine Arts players, recently motored to Santa Barbara, where director Paul Powell staged a number of dramatic scenes in the new Granville Warwick film drama in which the two film favorites are playing.

Expansion Note.

The Vitagraph company, which has a branch plant in Hollywood, has been reorganized in New York, with $25,000,000 capitalization, and some of the most responsible eastern financiers backing it.

E. H. Sothern, the noted actor, has been secured as its leading star, and Edna May is to renew her contract. Other stars not yet announced are said to have been secured.

The western studio at Hollywood is to be enlarged and improved, and several new features will be put on here.

A number of noted novelists are already engaged in writing picture plays for the Vitagraph, including George Randolph Chester, Cyrus Townsend Brady, Hamlin Garland and Arthur Train.

Not the Life for Her.

Dorothy Gish is appearing in a new film play for the Fine Arts, written by Bernard McConville, in which she has the part of a schoolma'am. Dorothy says it must be awful not ever to be able to rest your grammar for a single minute!

They All Cry for Him.

Paul Powell of the Fine Arts studio holds the record for making actresses cry. First it was Lillian Gish, from whom he teased the reluctant tears, next it was Norma Talmadge, now it's Mae Marsh.

"Yes, we all cry for him," demurely explained Miss Marsh.

Both Go It Alone.

Willard Mack has dashed off a new sketch with which he went into vaudeville this week at the Palace in New York. Marjorie Rambeau, his wife, will go into vaudeville next week in a sketch written for her by Mack.

'Course, That's Different.

"I won't get up early tomorrow morning," said Edmund Lowe to his mother when he went to bed dead tired the other night, "not even if the Angel Gabriel himself calls. That goes for the telephone, too."

Next morning Mr. Lowe's mother called him, telling him there was a telephone message.

"I told you I wouldn't get up for the Angel Gabriel!" exclaimed Eddie with irritation.

"I know," said his mother gently. "I know, but it's Joe Montrose."

Eddie got up.

Good for Bessie.

Bessie Love, the clever little Fine Arts picture actress who won distinction both in "The Aryan" and in "The Flying Torpedo," is to have the leading feminine role opposite De Wolf Hopper in the new Anita Loos photoplay designed for the comedian.

Difficult Silence.

Lucretia del Valle, charming star of "The Mission Play," starts work today in the new Macdonald production, "Saul of Tarsus," in which she assumes the part of a maiden who was born in the year 17 B.C.

Miss Del Valle expresses herself as delighted to be in a production where she can create a character.

"Even if it's not a speaking part," she explained with a little sigh of regret.

Cruel Harry.

Warner Baxter has the part of a grouch in "Brewster's Millions." The role is thirty "sides," and in some ways is a fairly difficult one.

"I've got to do some work this week," said Baxter yesterday. "Don't know just how to get into this role!"

"Oh, play it straight!" advised Harry Mestayer.

John Garrigues Says His Real Words Were Twisted.

Denies Making Extraordinary Outline of Purposes.

Former Treasurer Witness in Union Oil Suit.

The big feature of the cross-examination of John Garrigues, former treasurer of the Union Oil Company, who is leading the faction opposed to the Stewart family's control of that corporation and seeking to dissolve the holding companies, the alleged objects he came to California to accomplish. He was called in Judge Myers's court if he would not say in the presence of T. A. Scott, W. F. McGuigg, L. P. Bishop, S. A. Guberson, Jr., and W. L. Stewart that he was sent to California to accomplish four definite things, namely:

"To acquire control of the lumber interests of the Pacific Coast.

"To acquire the oil business of the Pacific Coast.

"To secure the domination and control of the banking business of the Pacific Coast.

"To change and direct the politics of the State of California."

Garrigues further that he said:

"And you can get on the band wagon and ride through the goal when you can get in the way, and get there, for nothing can prevent me from accomplishing my purpose."

To this question Mr. Garrigues replied:

"Oh, sir, but I said something that has since been twisted into those statements."

The cross-examination sought to bring out that Mr. Garrigues had been paid a great deal of money above his salary of $25,000 a year as treasurer of the Union Oil Company, that there had been turned over to him his voucher for $39,000, and another item of $25,850, which represented certain extraordinary disbursements due to financial and other difficulties, these disbursements being made by Mr. Garrigues in his discretion.

A resolution introduced referred to the matter as problems solved, difficulties to be faced and steps in favor of such a confidential character as to make it inexpedient in the best interests of the company to render an itemized account. The resolution aimed to appropriate to Mr. Garrigues $100,000 in recognition of these extraordinary conditions and to raise his salary to $50,000 a year. This resolution was not adopted and was turned down.

It was also drawn to the attention of Mr. Garrigues in Attorney A. Andrews's cross-examination that he had proposed to Andrew Weir, representative of the English syndicate, which had an option on $1,000,000 worth of stock of the Union Oil, to form a holding company, the thing he and others are now trying to dissolve in the case to present two holding companies of the Union Oil.

Asked if he had made such a suggestion at the time of Mr. Weir's visit here, Mr. Garrigues replied that if Mr. Weir were here now he had spoken he would say that it was badly made.

CREDITED WITH GREAT OBJECTS

Garrigues Says His Real Words Were Twisted.

Was Making Extraordinary Outline of Purposes.

Former Treasurer Witness in Union Oil Suit.

The big feature of the cross-examination of John Garrigues, former treasurer of the Union Oil Company, who is leading the faction opposed to the Stewart family's control of that corporation and seeking to dissolve the holding companies, the alleged objects he came to accomplish. He was on the stand in Judge Myers's court if he was not in the presence of T. A. Gibson, W. F. McGuire, L. P. St. Clair, A. Guberson, Jr., and W. E. Corey.

It appeared that he was sent to California to accomplish four definite things, namely:

To secure control of the lumber interests of the Pacific Coast.

To acquire the oil business of the Coast.

To secure the domination and control of the banking business of the Coast.

To buy timber and direct the political affairs of the State of California."

Garrigues said that he said:

"If you can get on the band wagon and ride through the goal posts, get in the way, and get by with it for nothing can prevent you from accomplishing my purpose."

In answer to a question Mr. Garrigues replied:

"Oh, yes, but I said something that may have been twisted into those words."

The cross-examination sought to show that Mr. Garrigues had received a great deal of money in the salary of $25,000 a year as treasurer of the Union Oil Company, and that there had been turned over to him his voucher for $35,000 and another item of $25,850, which represented certain extraordinary disbursements due to financial and other difficulties, these disbursements being made by Mr. Garrigues at his discretion.

A question introduced referred to the matter as problems solved, which were to be faced and steps taken of such a confidential character as to make it inexpedient in the interests of the company to go into detail. The question aimed to appropriate to himself $100,000 in recognition of these extraordinary conditions and to raise his salary to $50,000. This resolution was not adopted and was turned down.

Attention was also drawn to the attempted sale by Garrigues in Attorney A. Gibson's cross-examination that he had proposed to Andrew Weir, representative of the English syndicate which had an option on a large block worth of stock of the company, to form a holding company. In the holding he and others are alleged to dissolve in the case to present two holding companies of the Union Oil.

Garrigues had made such a suggestion at the time of Mr. Weir's visit, Mr. Garrigues replied that the matter were here now he had to say it would say that it was a mistake.

SCHOOLS QUESTION.

Board of Port Recommends Big Loan for Launch Owner, Secretary of Treasury Approves, Which Puts Gois off for One-Fourth of Amount.

Action of the government in the gasoline launch Anell, owned by Julius Liparoldi, of Wilmington, collapsed yesterday. Liparoldi appeared in court and paid a fine of $50 for violation of navigation laws.

The Anell is the boat that Liparoldi is alleged to have taken to sea more than a year ago, in search of a load of contraband for Harry James and William Bell, members of the party who went ashore at Ensenada, and later on returned to Los Angeles coming overland to Ensenada. It was on account of the failure of the Liparoldi to obtain certificates from the American Consul at Ensenada, that the vessel was seized in a libel action brought by the United States District Attorney.

In this action, an action was instituted by Liparoldi against the collector of the port, for $500 damages on account of the seizure of the boat by the action taken yesterday this case is dismissed by stipulation.

The Anell was seized, the seizure recommended that a fine of $50 be assessed against the boat, and this was approved by the Secretary of the Treasury.

The matter was taken up by the United States Attorney and the fine of $50, that was paid yesterday to Assistant District Attorney Dunn, who had charge of the case, on Saturday that the fine was the amount in such cases. But on recommendation of the collector, backed by the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, was remitted against the boat, does not appear in the official records of the case.

FLOWERS TO ASSIST IN BELGIAN RELIEF.

SHOW OF PLANT WONDERS OF THE SOUTHLAND.

New Creations of Gardens will be Displayed at Committee's Headquarters—Offer Prize for Appropriate Name for Latest Flowering Novelty.

A flower show and display of trees, shrubs, vines and herbaceous plants, grown out of doors in Southern California, will be held at the Belgian relief headquarters, on the ground floor of the Los Angeles Investment Building, Eighth and Broadway, Friday and Saturday afternoon and Saturday evening.

The show will be free to the public. There will be no judges and no prizes awarded, therefore no hard feelings created, as is the case when such features are part of flower shows. This will not be a "show of flowers," for that may be seen every day in the year on the streets and in the stores of Los Angeles—it will be a flower show in the best sense of the word; all exhibits will be properly named, and if known by a common name, that too will appear on the card.

The diversity of foliage and in many cases of the flowers and plants belonging to the same family will be a revelation and a surprise to many who consider themselves well informed on the flora of Los Angeles.

New roses of recent introduction will be a feature of the display. Of these will be the discovery of Fred Howard, which he has named "Los Angeles." Another from D. W. Coolidge, named for his daughter, "Marcia" is very beautiful. "Rosa gigantea," a rare species of wonderful growth, will be exhibited for the first time.

There will be subjects on exhibition never before seen at a flower show. One of these will be the flowers of the "Dutchman's pipe vine." It is a seedling product of Southern California and without a specific name. Five dollars in gold will be given to anyone suggesting the name that in the opinion of the committee will best suit the peculiar construction of this novelty.

Attendants well posted on plant nomenclature will endeavor to answer all questions bearing on the subject of plant life. This will be an excellent opportunity for gardeners to have plant subjects identified. Native shrubs and annuals will receive especial consideration. The exhibition is under the auspices of the committee of the Chamber of Commerce for the relief in Belgium.

Overcomes Annoyance

The new Kryptok lenses obviates the need of two pairs of glasses, for the Kryptok glasses combine both far and near vision in one solid lense, the lower part giving the necessary correction for close or reading distance, while the upper is adapted for distant vision, yet the Kryptok cannot be distinguished from the simple lense. The Kryptok does not disfigure. The ugly and old-fashioned, cemented segment bifocals are done away with. Kryptoks are the only bifocals with smooth, even, clear surfaces. We make them under an absolute guarantee as low as $5.00 a pair. This is at least $5.00 cheaper than you can get them elsewhere. Call on us today. Let us give your eyes a thorough examination and fit them with these wonderful Kryptok lenses. Cahn-Standard Optical Company, 718 South Broadway, Optometrists and Opticians.—(Advertisement.

SEEKS TO SAVE ON ALIBI PLEA.

Caplan's Attorney Indicates Line of Defense.

Asserts Client was not Here at Time of Crime.

Prosecution Closes Without Calling Tveitmoe.

Denying practically in toto the evidence introduced by the prosecution to convict David Caplan of the crime of dynamiting the original Times Building and killing twenty employees on the night of October 1, 1910, Attorney Nathan C. Coghlan opened the case for the defense yesterday afternoon, immediately after the lunch hour.

In his statements to the jury, in Judge Willis's court, he indicated the direction in which the fabric of the defense will lean, an alibi for Caplan. He said that during September, 1910, Caplan did not reside at the address alleged by the prosecution; that he did not cruise around San Francisco Bay in the Peerless transporting dynamite; that he did not give a farewell party in the northern city at which he said he was leaving for Los Angeles and was never in the city of Los Angeles until brought here after his arrest in Washington.

DENIES STATEMENTS.

Attorney Coghlan also asserted Caplan never knew James M. McNamara or his brother and was only slightly acquainted with Matthew A. Schmidt; that the prisoner did not buy or try to buy dynamite with James B. Fox while living near Tacoma; that statements alleged to have been made by him to Sheriff J. H. Shattuck of Kitsat county, Washington, were never made and that he never confessed or intimated connection with the local crime to Donald Vose Meserve, a Burns detective.

Caplan, according to Attorney Coghlan, is "broke," has no influential friends or the backing of powerful organizations and is wrongfully accused. The lawyer went into the labor situation here in 1910, alleging that enemies of the labor unions, and not officials of these organizations, were responsible for the placing of dynamite at the home of Gen. Otis and F. J. Zeehandelaar.

His reference to the statements of Sheriff J. H. Shattuck were occasioned by the testimony given by that officer yesterday morning. He was followed on the stand by John Sandusky, a Burns detective, and both men gave practically the same testimony regarding assertions of Caplan after his arrest. They alleged that the defendant had said to them that Schmidt, who was arrested in New York, had "squealed" on him and that he would not serve any of his friends in the same manner, particularly not O. A. Tveitmoe, the San Francisco labor boss.

The prosecution closed with these witnesses and did not place Tveitmoe on the stand as was expected. This labor official will be kept here, however, until after the conclusion of the defense, it being barely possible that he will be called on the State's rebuttal.

Only one witness was placed on the stand by Attorney Coghlan. This was Thomas J. Brannon, an employee of the Giant Powder Company, who said neither of the men who had come to the San Francisco office of the corporation for the purpose of buying the 80 per cent. dynamite looked like Caplan. This contradicted evidence introduced by the prosecution through various officials of the powder company.

At 3 o'clock, Attorney Coghlan asked for a continuation of the case until this morning in order to permit him to get together his witnesses. No objection was raised by Dist.-Atty. Woolwine or Deputy Keyes.

AGAINST SUPERVISORS

Mrs. Margaret A. B. Ham Awarded Verdict for $18,330 for Death of Husband in an Accident at Washed-out Bridge Two Years Ago.

Monday night, after deliberating nearly ten hours, the jury in the suit of Mrs. Margaret A. B. Ham against members of the Board of Supervisors and their surety and F. H. Joyner, brought in a verdict awarding Mrs. Ham $18,330 damages. She had sued for $100,000.

The verdict is against Supervisors Pridham, Norton and Hinshaw and former Supervisor Manning. Supervisor Woodley and Road Commissioner Joyner were exonerated.

The accident occurred at the Workman Mill Road bridge, which had been washed out by storm, on the night of April 13, 1914. The defendants were charged with neglect for not warning of the condition of the bridge.

The jury had listened to the harrowing details of this accident, which resulted at the same time in the death of Dudley Harvey-Elder, a prominent Whittier man, for more than a week. The facts seemed to be that Mr. Harvey-Elder drove his automobile, containing, besides himself, Mr. Ham, upon the bridge late at night and the machine went over the bridge, partially washed out in the big storm of that year, to the river below.

Tunnel Project.

and the people of northwest Los Angeles that are now shut off from the retail section by Bunker Hill want this tunnel to be the best and most modern ever constructed," he declared. "They will be content with nothing less. There must be no thought of constructing a tunnel that is not ample enough for both street railway and automobile traffic. It must be a well-lighted, well-ventilated highway. Los Angeles wants no more rat holes under the hill. When the Second-street project is really going no time must be lost in getting other outlets started. This programme and no other will satisfy those who have the city's best interests really at heart."

Councilman Topham and Deputy City Engineer Stewart made a general inspection of the tunnel district yesterday to discuss various points. It was decided that the portals for the twin bore should be at Olive street and that the space between Olive and Hill streets should be used as an approach. Interested property owners assured the Public Works Committee yesterday that required easements at each end of the tunnel can be acquired at most reasonable figures.

UNCERTAIN TREND IN FINANCIAL DEALINGS.

Dealers Accept Hesitation as the Logical Outcome of Recent Events Abroad and on the Southern Border. Talk of Peace Further Weakens the Munitions Group. Railroads Furnish the Strongest Feature.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 9.—The uncertain trend and professional tone of today's market were accepted as the logical outcome of recent events. The shifting phases of conditions south of the Rio Grande were again reflected in the heaviness of Mexican issues.

War stocks followed a more consistent course in that they displayed greater weakness with the spread of peace rumors.

The most hopeful or constructive sign was furnished by the railway list which figured to a greater extent than ordinarily in the day's operations. Union Pacific was foremost among the standard shares, recording a maximum gain of 2¼ points with less gains for St. Paul, Canadian Pacific, Reading and Lehigh Valley.

Low-priced rails, more especially Rock Island and some of the issues which once formed integral parts of the Gould system, were in general demand later. Rock Island rose 4 to 22, its best quotations for a very long time.

Shipping shares again divided honors with the automobile group. Mercantile Marine and United Fruit suggesting further accumulation by substantial interests, with higher quotations for Maxwell, Studebaker and United States Rubber. The motors fell away later, however, on failure of the Maxwell directors to act on the common and second preferred dividends.

United States Steel fluctuated most of the day on reduced offerings, closing with a small net loss.

Bethlehem Steel on a single sale fell 19 points to 445. Weakness of United Railways Investment common and preferred made those issues the feature of the utilities group.

Total sales of stocks amounted to 725,000 shares.

Bonds in general were irregular, but Rock Island issues, notably the debentures, were very strong. Total sales, par value, $3,540,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

DULL MARKET ON LOCAL EXCHANGE.

Big Jim Advances Five Points. Boundary Cone and Tom Reed Also Bring Higher Prices—Union Provident in Demand—Home Telephone Common Active.

Trading was almost at a standstill on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday. Although the local securities market continues very quiet and inactive, holders of stocks do not seem to be anxious to sell, and this is the main reason underlying the extremely stagnant state of the market. Prices were firm to a trifle stronger. Big Jim advanced to 1.18½ and both Boundary Cone and Tom Reed were up a point. Six thousand shares of Gold Range sold for 10 and a limited amount of Fessenden changed hands at 28. Oil issues were more prominent, 130 shares of Union Provident selling off board at $4.00 and Producers Transportation bringing $1.60. Union was a little softer at 75.75 but the quotation for Jade was practically the same as the day before, a total of 3000 shares passing into new hands at 8¼ to 8½. Home Telephone stocks attracted more attention when 10 shares sold at 40.25 and 50 shares were traded in informally at 40.00. Bids for the preferred stock were firm at 71.00. Speculators showed a lack of interest in Los Angeles Investment for the first time in the past week, and as a result but 1533 shares were sold at steady figures. Bonds and bank stocks were neglected.

COMMERCIAL.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Dry beans continue to soar in value and practically every variety was raised yesterday. Pinks are now worth $5.85 a hundred and small and large whites, $7.75. Due to a revived demand for limas the quotation has been boosted to $5.50 and Garvanzas are in steady call at $6.00. Black-eyes and Mexican Reds continue unchanged at $4.00 and $5.50 a hundred respectively. Green beans, on the contrary, are much cheaper and ruling prices yesterday were 3½ to 4½ cents a pound for wax and 5½ to 6½ cents per pound for Kentucky Wonders.

Green vegetables are growing more plentiful every day and as a result prices are declining. Cucumbers are very reasonable now, the outdoor variety selling for 15 to 85 cents a box and the hot-house kind for $1.90 to $1.25. Eggplant is selling for the lower price of 15 to 20 cents a pound and bell peppers are now plentiful enough to sell readily at 20 to 25 cents per pound. Summer squash is dragging and prices yesterday were reduced to 70 and 85 cents a crate. Tomatoes are easier at $1.25 to $1.65 a crate with Imperial Valley stuff gradually replacing the Mexican sorts. New crop onions are now bringing much lower values. Bermudas selling at $1.15 to $1.25 a crate and Crystal Wax for $1.30 to $1.50 a crate.

Several changes have been incorporated in poultry prices. Broilers, which have been steadily rising, are now bringing the producer 25 cents per pound for the heavy chickens and 20 cents per pound for the light ones. Young toms and hen turkeys are worth 24 cents a pound to the producer and young ducks are a trifle easier at 18 cents a pound. Other varieties, with the exception of geese, remain unaltered.

The only activity on the Produce Exchange yesterday morning was the transfer of 5 cubes of butter extras at 25 cents a pound. However, as succeeding bids were 26, the price remains the same as the day before. Eggs were unchanged on call and 18 cents a dozen was bid for San Joaquin Valley eggs. San Francisco quotations were the same as Monday for butter and cheese, but eggs were stronger at 22 cents a dozen. Receipts were limited to 506 cases of eggs, 62,680 pounds of butter and 700 pounds of cheese.

WIDE RANGE IN WHEAT PIT.

DECLINE OF A CENT IS RATHER OVERCOME.

Drought, Heat and Insect Damage Offset Predictions of Good Crop, and the Closing is Firm Fractionally Higher—Corn is Also Strong.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, May 9.—Drought, heat and insects in the Southwest more than offset predictions that at least a partial relief would be given by local showers. The outcome of the day's trading was a steady rise of ½ to ¾ net advance, with July 1.18@1.16¼, and July 1.16@1.16¼. Corn finished ⅛@⅜ to ½ down, and oats ⅛ to ¼ off to a shade up, and provisions at a loss of 2½ to 17. Influence of the forecast of showers and the wheat market down sudden 1 to a bushel, an upturn to a bushel lifted prices 2 above the point of the decline. The upturn in corn came from a good deal of selling especially of the long line already done by Hessians and excessively dry weather in Nebraska and Oklahoma. Early offerings on the advance of some of the gains, but the market showed unusual power of absorption. Corn was depressed by New Yorkers purchasing cash corn in Argentina. Oats were lower as a result of extensive sales which totaled one million bushels. Provisions paralleled the hog market. Sometimes in advance early was followed by general declines, with the decline in pork.

Cotton.

BUYING ORDERS FAST AND THICK.

ALL OPPOSITION SWEPT ASIDE BY UPWARD MOVEMENT.

Values Jump Dollar and a Half a Bale During the Session and Register the Highest Level for the Present Campaign—Spot Men Indifferent—Clearances Increase.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, May 9.—Buying orders from all directions, inspired by persistent peace rumors in the afternoon, swept all opposition aside and carried cotton values to a level of one dollar and a half a bale higher than last night, or the highest prices registered on this upward movement. The indifference of spot holders to the improved level of prices as reflected in the meager southern offerings here, combined with reiterated dispatches to the spot inquiry, augmented the confidence of conservative advocates. This also led to renewed bullish tactics. Clearances for the day totaled 26,215 bales against 20,000 bales the same day last year. Weather conditions throughout the belt as a rule are favorable, although a continuance of long duration is needed in many sections to overcome reported backwardness in growth which is due to the unseasonable temperatures which prevailed earlier in the month. Much concern is also caused by the poor and deficient fertiliser. This is going to be an important factor and its prominence will become more conspicuous when the plant has to face the trying growing periods. It is now realised that the season's carry-over will not be burdensome, and the plant's progress, together with anticipated important political developments, will be watched with eager interest nad will naturally have a far-reaching effect on prices.

Liverpool cables due 1 lower on May, 2½ better on July and October. Good demand for spot cotton; prices unchanged; sales, 10,000 bales, including 2000 bales late Saturday; receipts, 8300 bales; American, 8200 bales; middlings, 8.29; futures opened steady.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE AIMS.

To Heal by Right Thinking and Right Living, Says Lecturer.

Christian Science was the subject of a lecture delivered Monday evening under the auspices of Ninth Church of Christ, Scientist, of Los Angeles, at the church edifice, No. 430 South New Hampshire avenue, by Virgil O. Strickler, C. S., of New York City. Mr. Strickler is a member of the board of lectureship of the mother church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. The introductory remarks were made by the second reader of Ninth Church, Mrs. Ruth Bayley.

Mr. Strickler's lecture in part follows:

Christian Science aims to destroy erroneous religious beliefs by substituting a knowledge of truth in place thereof, and to destroy out of the human mind all evil qualities by planting good qualities in their stead. It wages relentless warfare against all wrong mental qualities. It seeks to substitute love in place of hate, unselfishness in place of selfishness, honesty in place of dishonesty, and truth in place of error. It lays tremendous emphasis upon the necessity for "bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ," (II. Cor. 10:5) as the Bible commands. It shows that the cause of all disease and sin is mental, and not physical, and that both sickness and sin are destroyed by the evangelization of the human mentality with truth and love. It teaches without any reservation whatever that the truth taught and practiced by Jesus, when understood and applied, is sufficient without drugs or any material means to heal the sickness, regenerate the sinner, which testimonies scientists everywhere are engaged daily in demonstrating and proving this to be true.

Every student of religion should begin to give heed to what the Bible teaches concerning the importance of looking to the mental rather than to the physical for deliverance from human discord. We read in Romans viii. 6, 7, "To be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace. Because the carnal mind is enmity against God; for it is not subject to the law of God, neither, indeed, can be." Again in Philippians ii, 5 it is said, "Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus;" and in Romans xii. 2, "Be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind."

These significant statements from the Scriptures leave no room for doubt as to the cause of sin, disease, and death, or their cure. The carnal mind is nothing more nor less than the unregenerated human mind. It is the human mind in its natural state, when filled with hatred, selfishness, deceit, dishonesty, and other evil qualities, and with superstition and false beliefs. These evil and erroneous mental qualities result in sin, disease, and death, and in all human discord.

The command is to get rid of erroneous mental qualities, and to have in us "the mind which was also in Christ Jesus," for in his mind there was not a single sinful quality, nor any superstition or false religious belief. Thus the human mind is renewed by the destruction of erroneous and sinful mental qualities, and the substitution in their place of qualities that inhere in the mind of the Master.

As this renewing process goes on, sickness, suffering, and discordant conditions begin to disappear, and when it is finished, and every mortal thought has been brought into subjection to Christ, then man will be transformed from a sinning, suffering mortal into a state of peace and harmony. The carnal mind with its sin and superstition minded, that is to have the mind that was in Christ Jesus, "is life and peace." Christian Science teaches that this is the precise process by which human beings are saved from sickness and sin.

It will thus be seen that Christian Science healing in every case is spiritual, and results from the operation of Truth or divine Principle in human consciousness, and not from the action of one human mind upon another, nor from human will, nor from hypnotism, nor from mental suggestion.

To summarize the matter in a single sentence, it can be said that Christian Science healing is accomplished through the activity of right thinking and right living, and in no other way can one demonstr

BOY THIEF SPURNS MOTHER'S ADVICE.

THREATENS TO GO FOR "BIG GAME" IN FUTURE.

Handspring Burglar Sullenly Hears Sentence to Four Years in Ione, but Turns Abuse on Parent and Officers When Led from Courtroom to Jail.

Joseph Meehan, the hand-spring burglar, who was arrested by Policeman Sims after he had made a remarkable escape from the rooms of Mrs. L. F. Gardner, in the Regent apartments, which he had ransacked, was not only sullen but vituperative yesterday. He was sullen when Judge Reeve of the Juvenile Court sentenced him to Ione until he reaches his majority, four years hence, and he was vituperative when his mother sought to give him good advice.

He did not pour abuse upon his mother in the hearing of the court, but after sentence had been pronounced and as Bailiff Reeder was preparing to take him to the County Jail, Meehan seemed particularly bitter towards Probation Officer Wesson, in whose charge he was assigned by the court. He said he was going to "fix" him. He further declared that he was going to get a good gun and go after "big game."

This bravado talk was the bitterness of a boy of 17, grown callous. That he would take a chance to escape from the officers has been passed on to the Sheriff's office, and when he starts to Ione extra precautions will be taken.

Meehan was a newsboy. He says he worked alone, but from another source it is said that he fell into the hands of bad companions. When he was surprised at work in Mrs. Gardner's apartments, Meehan turned a handspring so rapidly that it confused the woman for a moment. Her screams brought a Japanese servant. Meehan tumbled quickly about the room, evading the Japanese and finally flung himself out of the second-story window. He secured jewelry and money from the rooms.

HER ADVANTAGE.
ERROR IN COMPLAINT.

A technical omission in the divorce complaint of Guy M. Ball, an automobile race driver, will enable Mrs. Christine M. Ball, a chorus girl at the Century Theater, to file an answer and fight the charge that she misconducted herself with another man. The omission was discovered by Judge Wood, yesterday, when the case was called, Mrs. Ball appearing with her attorney. The case went off calendar.

Mrs. Ball is chic. She has auburn hair and is young and lissome. She denies that she went outside of her wifely duties. But Mr. Ball alleges that she was a member of gay automobile parties which became even gayer at the Mountain Inn, a resort not closed near La Crescenta. Before the omission was discovered, Judge Wood ruled that Mrs. Ball had appeared too late to fight the case. Now the legal battle will be on.

WINS DAMAGES.
WAS PUT OFF CAR.

Mrs. Edith Wagner was awarded $250 damages in a suit against the Los Angeles Railway, tried before a jury in Judge Monroe's court yesterday, for the pain and humiliation she alleges she suffered by being put off a car by the conductor. Her story is that she being a stranger, told the conductor to notify her when she got "down town."

She says she was taken to the end of the line at Bimini Baths, and refused to pay a nickel for the return trip, believing she ought to have a transfer. The conductor refused to carry her unless she paid.

SETTLES ONCE.
NO RIGHT OF ACTION.

When P. Vlastilica was run down and injured by an automobile of the American Agricultural and Chemical Company, on Main street, March 17, 1914, he settled with the company for $600. Then he brought suit against N. M. Hill, the manager of the company, who drove the machine, demanding $10,000 damages.

The case was tried by Judge Price, who gave judgment for Mr. Hill, holding that as Mr. Vlastilica had dismissed the suit as against the Chemical Company, he could not complain as to Mr. Hill.

BUSCH GARDENS.

Claiming to have had the exclusive right to make photographs of scenes in the famous Busch Gardens, Pasadena, William Graham of the Graham Photo Company, alleges that the engravings have been used without his consent by the Van Ornum Colorprint Company, and booklets sold to his customers at 25 per cent. less price than the photo company delivered them.

It is alleged in a suit filed against the colorprint company yesterday, asking $3000 damages, that the engravings were kept in a vault and were to be used only upon the order of the Graham company, the Van Ornim company having been engaged to make prints for the Graham company.

IN AND OUT.
ABOUT THE COURTS.

BOBBIE IS GLAD. Little Bobbie Price, son of Judge L. T. Price of Alpine county, felt very lonesome in this city while his father sat in extra sessions court. But this week smiles creased his ruddy face, for he was told he had a baby sister. So now there are two sunbeams in Judge Price's home, and Bobbie is wondering what name his sister will be given.

SUES FOR ASSAULT. "Come out and fight, you yellow dog," Rudolf A. Nelson, a dealer in motorcycles, alleges that Lloyd Herron taunted him August 27, 1915. He says that Mr. Herron also called him a "yellow cur" and a "conceited highbrow." The fight that ensued appears, according to the suit filed yesterday by Mr. Nelson, to have been one-sided. Mr. Nelson claims he was kicked on the shins and that three teeth were broken by Mr. Herron's fist. He asks $5000 damages.

EXPENSIVE FISH. Fishing within the three-mile shore limit with seine nets proved a very expensive pastime for four Japanese. They were brought before Judge McCormick by State Fish Warden Prichard, who arrested them off Santa Monica, several days ago. The men were E. Sato, S. Kasi, D. Seri and S. Koda. Each one paid a fine of $50.

ASKS NEW TRIAL. When Robert Smith appeared before Judge McCormick yesterday for sentence on the conviction of manslaughter, in connection with the death of Edward Furrer, his attorneys moved for a new trial. The hearing of this motion will come up next Tuesday. Smith, a former nurse in the psychopathic ward of the County Hospital, was convicted of having inflicted injuries resulting in the death of Furrer.

UNWISE TO ASK FOR BOND ISSUE.

FINANCE COMMITTEE CHOPS OFF ONE ITEM.

Decides Present is no Time to Place Two-million-dollar Proposition for Civic Center on the Ballot, and in this is Backed by Promoters of the Project.

The proposed $2,000,000 bond issue for the creation of a civc center in the territory bounded by Main, Broadway, First and Temple, will not appear on the next municipal ballot, although the subject has been seriously discussed.

The matter was decided yesterday by the Finance Committee of the City Council. It declared that the present is no time for putting such a proposition before the voters, and in this decision it was fully sustained by the promoters of the project.

The citizens who have anxiously worked for this improvement have by no means given over the idea. They simply feel that good judgment requires that the bonding proposition be held in abeyance for a more favorable opportunity.

The City Council yesterday authorized the City Attorney to prepare an ordinance providing for placing on the ballot at the June 6 election a proposition to authorize an issue of $1,800,000 for sewage disposal plants at Hyperion, Terminal Island and San Pedro.

LEAGUE'S ADVICE.
NO CROSSINGS AT GRADE.

The Municipal League has sent to the City Council a recommendation that the present form of the franchise petition of the Los Angeles Terminal Railway Company to cross Lyons, Ramirez and Macy streets be denied, but that the application be granted if the company modifies its petition so that no tracks will cross these streets at grade.

The league's action is based on a report made by Samuel Storrow for it. His recommendation is that the company should be allowed to cross the streets named on an overhead structure or subway providing a standard clearance, and that rights should be given for two or more crossings over Ramirez street.

In this report the statement is made:

"The purpose of the Industrial Development and Land Company and the Los Angeles Terminal Railway Company is for the development of a large tract of land extending from Alameda street to the Los Angeles River, and must not be considered one step at a time, but must be judged as a complete enterprise."

MUNICIPALOGRAMS.
IN AND OUT THE HALL.

Resolutions of condolence were adopted yesterday by the City Council on the death of Dr. Elbert Wing, and it then adjourned in respect to his memory.

The Council sent to its Finance Committee yesterday a recommendation of the Fire Commission that quarters be erected at Elysian Heights for housing hand-drawn fire apparatus.

The Health Commissioner has sent to the Council a recommendation that permission be granted to the Los Angeles Sulphur Company to establish a sulphur refining plant within the industrial district. It was referred to the Welfare Committee.

The Council yesterday adopted specifications for Warrenite pavement on Rosewood avenue from Western avenue to Wilton; for the Harbor boulevard paving improvement and for Russell avenue.

Ordinances were adopted yesterday for the improvement of Marengo street from Britannia avenue to Kingston avenue; for the Sacramento and Wilson street improvement district; for Franklin avenue from Vista street to Sierra Bonita street; for Bunker Hill avenue from Sunset boulevard to California street; for sewering of the Mt. Washington drive district No. 1; for Sierra street district, and for Moulton avenue between Kramer avenue and North Main street.

TONOPAH ORE SHIPMENTS.

The total amount of ore shipped t othe mills from the mines of the Tonopah district during the week just passed aggregated 6562 tons with an estimated value of $143,196. This production was distributed as follows: Tonopah Belmont, 2864 tons; Tonopah Extension, 1850 tons; Jim Butler, 500 tons; West End, 485 tons; West-haught-Eula, 193 tons; Halifax, 182 tons; Montana, 79 tons; North Star, 66 tons; Midway, 41 tons. Owing to the fire at Miller's siding plant of the Nevada-California Power Company, which temporarily put the transformers out of business, there was no report of the production of the Tonopah Mining Company. The above information was received over the private wire of L. A. Crisler Company.

COBBLER GOES BACK TO LAST.

Drives Ten Million Pegs and Retires; Loses All.

Swindlers Work Ancient Game of Switched Boxes.

Life Savings Vanish as Old Tacoma Man Watches.

The cobbler of Tacoma has $200 left from his life savings. The other $1600 went yesterday when he fell a prey to the elderly and simple bunco game of switching boxes. The man who became conspicuous around Puget Sound for retiring from his cobbler's bench after he had driven the 10,000,000th peg in his repair work, lost his little fortune in midday in Westlake Park.

He is Frank Burya, No. 217 South Grand avenue, 70 years old and rheumatic. All his life he has been a cobbler, tapping away month in and month out in a little shop and saving the pennies that he might retire to an easy existence in his old age.

After he had been on his bench many years, he began counting the pegs as he drove them into the shoes. Then he determined to retire when he had driven the 10,000,000th one. That ceremony occurred several months ago in Tacoma, and with the driving of the peg, he arose, handed the unfinished shoe to another cobbler, took off his apron, and said he was going to leave the city, to live where he listed on the small competence he had saved.

He came here and, to occupy his time, did some cobbling work, but only during the hours when he cared to work. He had $1800 in the bank, drawing interest.

Monday he met two strangers, one of whom explained he was a man of vast wealth with a philanthropic heart. He said he had to go East soon, but if he could find a responsible person whom he could trust, he would give that man $8000 to distribute among the poor here.

Mr. Burya suggested he might be eligible for such a mission. The stranger asked if he had any money to prove his reliability. Burya said he did and named the amount. The stranger said he would accept his services, and instructed Burya to meet him in Westlake Park at noon yesterday with his $1600.

Burya drew his funds and awaited the meeting. As he waited he fed the ducks in the lake, even buying some food for them, as he felt charitably inclined since he was to be the ambassador of such philanthropy.

Then came the stranger with a friend. The stranger had a box. First he asked Burya to show his wealth. Burya did, and handed it to the stranger as proof of his responsibility.

Then the stranger lifted the cover from the box he carried, and displayed $8000 in greenbacks.

Shortly afterward the trio shook hands and dispersed. Then Mr. Burya took an interested peep at the wealth given him to distribute among the poor of the city. The lid was locked. He broke it open. Within was a hale and shameless brick. Mr. Burya hurried to the police and Detectives Jones and Winn investigated his report. And now he is preparing to return to the cobbler's bench to drive 5,000,000 more pegs, for he must make another competence.

BEING MATHEMATICIAN NOT ANY RECOMMENDATION.

Humane Society Worker, at Annual Meeting, Criticises Civil Service System as Wrong When it will Take Inexperienced Man and Try to Make Officer of Him.

"The civil service system isn't right when it will take a mathematician and try to make a humane officer of him," declared Deputy City Prosecutor Foss in an address before the members of the Los Angeles Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, at its annual convention, yesterday, in Music Hall, Blanchard Building.

"It does not necessarily follow," continued Mr. Foss, "that a man who is apt with figures will be apt with animals. A man who does not love animals, babies, women and flowers needs examination. There is something wrong with him. Only men who love animals should be given the duty of caring for them and seeing they are properly treated."

The convention elected its directors for the ensuing year as follows: Mr. and Mrs. James G. Sprecher, William J. Variel (president for several years,) A. B. Chittenden, Mrs. Del C. Hawksford, and Deputy City Prosecutor Foss. The new directors will meet Friday to elect the officers.

Reports from the various committees were read and the announcement made by Mrs. W. A. Weldon, who presided in the place of William J. Variel, who was absent because of illness, that next week will be "kindness to animals" week, during which buttons will be given away, sermons preached and addresses delivered at city schools to inculcate the proper spirit in children.

JOINS CHAUTAUQUA BOARD.

Seattle Pastor Elected to Advisory Council of Local Institution.

The Rev. M. A. Matthews, D.D., pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Seattle, yesterday became a member of the advisory council of the Chautauqua of the Pacific. In a letter read at a meeting of the executive board, Dr. Matthews expressed a desire to aid in making the institution one of the greatest Chautauquas.

Bishop William M. Bell, who has been on an extended trip East, during which he has accomplished much for the Chautauquas, of which he is chancellor, will return Thursday.

HOTELS DRAGGED INTO "WET" WAR.

Ministers Protest Against Sale of Liquor in Rooms of Guests.

Complicating the "wet" and "dry" fight which is now being waged throughout California and will be settled at the polls next November, a movement was started yesterday by radical clergymen in this city to curtail the liquor business in the hotels when the threat was made to the Liquor Dealers' Association of inducing the City Council to pass an ordinance prohibiting the serving of drinks in hotel rooms.

Sponsors of the movement declared the proposition will be made to the Council upon the grounds that restaurants and other public eating places, excepting hotels, are not permitted to serve intoxicating beverages in curtained or closed rooms. Those advocating the plan say that the Council cannot turn a deaf ear to the proposition.

The matter was taken under consideration yesterday afternoon at an executive session of the Liquor Dealers' Association, the members of whom are opposed to such drastic action. It is expected they will be called upon to assist in fighting the concerted movement and the announcement was made last night that they will lend their support.

PUTS CRIMP IN VENICE GROWTH

Ocean Park Heights Town Plan Hotly Opposed.

Supervisors are Asked not to Agree to It.

Spite Work on Part of Few is Argument Used.

Believing Ocean Park Heights residents would be on hand to request permission to form their own town, a large delegation from Venice appeared before the Board of Supervisors yesterday to protest.

Equipped with a big map of the district, the delegation showed that the present plan of the proposed community embraces all territory to the present limits of Venice, and will make impossible future growth of that town toward Playa del Rey or Los Angeles. The lines of Ocean Park Heights draw a semicircle immediately about the new Venice High School and run all the way from Palms and Culver City to within a few hundred feet of the ocean shore at Playa del Rey.

MIGHT KILL HARBOR WORK.

Several of the Venice delegation spoke on the projected incorporation and all were unanimous in their opposition on the ground that it would kill the present outline of harbor work and the establishment of a naval station, which is before Congress for consideration.

The principal objection, however, is that the new community will be unable to raise sufficient money for the upkeep of county roads that will be taken into its boundaries. About four miles of the Pico boulevard now being completed, a short strip of National boulevard and about two miles of the Inglewood highway will become the property of Ocean Park Heights.

WISH TO KEEP OUT.

One speaker said the plan was nothing more than spite work on the part of a handful of residents on the heights. A number of property owners, who would be included in the boundaries as projected, were present to voice their sentiments with the Venice contingent.

"If Ocean Park Heights is permitted to carry out its plan it will mean the favoring of a few hundred persons over more than 15,000 now residing in the Venice limits," said one. He referred to the attempt of colonizing in the Ocean Park Heights district as one frustrated by the District Attorney on the advice of Venice residents.

Supervisor Hinshaw, in whose district the territory lies, favored the principal contentions of the Venice residents. "If the Ocean Park Heights people want to incorporate they should set the limits of their community in a reasonable distance," he said. "I would certainly oppose the present plans."

The board will hear both sides next Monday morning before deciding. The Ocean Park Heights residents were not on hand, having appeared the previous afternoon.

LONG ESTRANGED.

Contest for Property Settlement and Divorce Reveals How Couple Lived for Years Under Same Roof but as Strangers.

The divorce suit of Annie E. Walling against August E. Walling, which came before Judge Works yesterday and was continued when the question of a property settlement, by which Mrs. Walling was to receive one-third of the property, was broached, revealed the estranged lives the couple lived for years.

The Wallings, it appears, occupied a seven-room house but for three years, it is alleged, they lived practically apart, cooking their own meals, not eating at the same table, and rarely speaking. At such times they did not agree and would relapse into silence.

Mrs. Walling sued on the grounds of desertion and failure to provide. Mr. Walling did not contest the action, except as to the property question. It was stated that an attorney for Mr. Walling induced Mrs. Walling to sign a settlement by which she was to receive one-third of the property. She wants to set this aside, but in order to get the matter before the court, it may be necessary for her to bring an action to rescind the contract.

Mr. Walling has enjoyed the income of an estate he inherited some years ago. He is said to be worth about $40,000, including a large farm in Nebraska.

RETURNED FOR TRIAL.

Joseph Mang, former secretary of the International Brewery Workers' Union, Newark, (N. J.) local No. 2, was taken back to the New Jersey city yesterday to face the charge of embezzling $1500 from the union. He was arrested at Covina, after a search extending over more than a year. Deputy Sheriff Van Vliet made the arrest.

Four men tried to make their own Wills —all were illegal!

Frederick Halsey in the American Magazine tells how four well-to-do married men gathered together one evening and endeavored to draw their own Wills. They submitted them to a will expert, who reported that not one of the Wills would be upheld in any court of the State.

Don't attempt to make your own Will. It pays to employ the most skilled draftsmen obtainable. The Title Insurance and Trust Company will draw your Will in a way that will clearly and legally interpret your wishes—and without cost if the company is named as executor.

Submarine Issue Critical Until Nature of the Punishment is Established.

"Joker" Discovered in Latest Assurances Received from the Kaiser.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, May 10.—Germany officially has admitted that the channel steamer Sussex was sunk without warning by one of her submarines in violation of assurances given to the United States last September following the destruction of the liner Arabic.

As a consequence of this admission formal regret is expressed for the "deplorable incident," an offer to pay "an adequate indemnity" to the American citizens is extended and announcement is made that the conduct of the responsible submarine commander has been disapproved and he has been "appropriately" punished.

Before accepting the reparation proposed by the German Minister for Foreign Affairs, the President
